ENTHRONE NEW ARCHBISHOP IN PAGEANT TODAY

Thousands to Hear Stritch Take Vows.

PICTURE HIGHLIGHTS.

W-G-N and the Mutual chain will broadcast today's ceremonies from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

Amid the ancient splendor of the Roman Catholic liturgy, the Most Rev. Samuel Alphonsus Stritch today will be enthroned as Chicago's fourth archbishop.

The greatest gathering of church dignitaries the city has seen since the Eucharistic congress of 1926 will witness the pageantry of installation in the Holy Name cathedral and will hear the pontifical high mass to follow. And fresh in the memory of Archbishop Stritch today will be the thunderous welcome that met him on his arrival yesterday. He called the reception one of the greatest he had ever seen.

During the morning four special trains of clergy, city officials, bright faced representatives of the city's youth, and hundreds of laymen escorted the archbishop from Milwaukee, where he had served since 1930.

First Message Is to Youth.

More than 12,000 welcomers in the Union station heard the first official utterance of the archbishop in his new see—a plea to American youth to protect this nation from the materialism and inhumanism that beset foreign lands.

After the brief welcoming ceremony, he was escorted thru downtown streets to Holy Name cathedral before crowds estimated by police at 300,000. At the cathedral he took over the administrative authority which has been held since the death of Cardinal George Mundelein by the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago. Then, after a civil ceremony which made legal the archbishop's control of this authority, he went to his official residence at 1555 State parkway, where he spent the night and prepared for the enthronement of today.

Five Acts of Ceremony.

The ceremony to be followed today is that traditionally used in the consecration of a new bishop. It includes five basic acts, as follows:

1. The ecclesiastical reception of the new archbishop.
2. The announcement of his appointment to office.
3. The acceptance of the appointment by the hierarchy and the people.
4. The sealing of the new relationship before Christ the King in the sacrament of the solemn mass.
5. Solemn rejoicing.

Into each of these steps, however, go procedures touched by traditions built up thru more than 10 centuries. From the very beginning of the service each bit of pageantry embodies an act of worship. The first of these is the procession of the clergy into the cathedral.

Start from High School.

It will start at 10 a. m. at Mundelein Cathedral High school, Wabash and Chicago avenues, proceeding south in Wabash to Superior street and west to the State street entrance of Holy Name. In their resplendent vestments will walk the priests, monsignori, provisional suffragan and auxiliary bishops, visiting bishops, and archbishops.

Second to last will come Archbishop Stritch, attended by his chaplains and preceded by a master of ceremonies, a cross bearer, and acolytes. Behind him, similarly attended, will come the Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate from the Vatican to the United States. He will be the officer of the enthronement.

As the archbishop's suite enters the narthex at the west door he will be met by the Rt. Rev. Joseph P. Morrison, rector of the cathedral, who will greet his new superior with incense and holy water.

On reaching the sanctuary Archbishop Stritch will be seated at a faldstool on the epistle or south side of the altar, facing the people. The rector then will receive the papal del-

BIOFF TELLS HIS RISE: SALOON TO FILM UNION BOSS

Admits Past in Fight to Escape Jail.

Willie Bioff, trying to save himself from serving an 18 year old jail sentence of six months for pandering, told the story yesterday of his rise from a job in a saloon to czar of the motion picture unions.

Willie Bioff on stand.

It was, as his attorney termed it, the story of a tough kid who, thru the friendship of Mike Galvin, boss of the teamsters' union, worked his way thru several union jobs until he reached Hollywood after gangland had bumped off his mentor—Galvin.

Argument for Freedom.

State Senator Abe Marovitz [D., 19th], high priced Criminal court attorney who is representing Bioff, used Bioff's tale as an argument for giving the union czar his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus. Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court then adjourned the hearing until today.

"This boy is no more a pander than I am," Senator Marovitz said. "It's true he was not lily white. He was a tough kid at 22, and he was used by certain interests. But it is amazing to my sense of justice that after all these years he should now be made to serve this forgotten sentence."

Bioff, whom the senator called a boy, now says he is 39 years old. When arrested in 1932, Bioff gave his age as 36, which would make him 44 now. When arrested in 1921 he said he was 22 years old, which would make him 41 at present.

Taken Under Galvin's Wing.

Bioff said he was working in a saloon when he was convicted as a pander and sentenced to six months in the Bridewell. Shortly after he was released upon serving six or ten days—he wasn't sure which—he said he was taken under Galvin's wing.

Galvin was the ruler of the so-called outlaw teamsters' union thru which, law enforcement officials charged, Galvin exacted tribute from merchants for himself and the Capone gang.

Bioff said he worked as chauffeur for Galvin and as a truck driver. Using his friendship with Galvin, Bioff said, he began getting a foothold in the unions. He became an organizer for the Packinghouse Teamsters' union and eventually an organizer for the Chicago Theatrical Workers' union, in 1929.

In 1936 he was sent to Hollywood as representative of George E. Browne, president of the International Association of Theatrical Stage Employés.

Represents 27 Unions.

"I got the job from Browne," Bioff explained. "Now I represent the workers of 27 international unions in Hollywood."

"Were you elected by the rank and file?" he was asked by James V. Cunningham, assistant state's attorney.

"In some cases," Bioff replied. "In other cases I was drafted."

Bioff testified that he understood from the lawyer who represented him after his conviction in the pandering case that the Appellate court had reversed the conviction, which it actually affirmed. That attorney, Morris Green, has since been disbarred.

In support of his argument that the state had abandoned the case by allowing him his liberty for 16½ years after the sentence was affirmed, Bioff mentioned the late William Schoemaker, one time chief of detectives, and Detective Arthur Wachholz, who originally arrested him on the pandering charge.

"They were both tickled to death because I won the case," Bioff said.

Cunningham said Wachholz would be called today to deny Bioff's assertion.

Biggest Liner Outwits Subs; Spans Atlantic

New York, March 6 (AP).—The $28,750,000 British liner Queen Elizabeth, the biggest ship afloat, neared the neutral sanctuary of New York harbor tonight after a secret and audaciously successful run from England across the perilous north Atlantic.

The 85,000 ton vessel, still not wholly completed, will arrive off quarantine, within New York's harbor, at 6 a. m., Chicago time, tomorrow, it was learned from agents of the Cunard-White Star, and will dock at about 8:30 a. m. at pier 90, at the foot of West 50th street.

There she will be berthed, safe from German bombs, alongside the next best in the British merchant fleet, the 81,000 ton Queen Mary, and the mightiest of French liners, the 83,000 ton Normandie. Both have lain here in idleness since the outbreak of the war six months ago.

News Confirmed in London.

The Elizabeth began her run for safety on Feb. 26 under conditions of the utmost secrecy. It was not until late this afternoon that word seeped out here that she was on the way, and an hour or so later this was confirmed in London. This confirmation seemed to point to these conclusions:

That the submarine menace in the Atlantic was not so great as had appeared earlier in the war; that the Elizabeth's great speed, assumed to be about 30 knots, had been a vital factor, and that her convoy was impregnable.

The Elizabeth, which had been reported in maritime circles here to have been the repeated target of German bombers in her fitting-out basin on the Clyde river, made the trip without passengers and seemingly unarmed.

Ship 1,030 Feet Long.

The decision to send the liner here, it was said in London, was influenced by the fact that New York has one of the few safe harbors with facilities sufficient to accommodate her.

So vast is her bulk—she is 1,030 feet long—that her launching Sept. 28, 1938, in the Clyde river was one of unusual difficulty, since she is 160 feet longer than the Clyde is wide. After the river had been deepened she was headed upstream and sent down the ways with 2,350 tons of drag chains attached to her hull.

Her library and air plant machinery were damaged last Feb. 21 in a fire about which there was some talk of sabotage, altho it was officially attributed to an electrical defect.

Tonight the Mauretania, smaller British liner, was moved from pier 90 to make room for the Queen Elizabeth.

The enforced leave taken by the Queen Mary and the French liners Normandie and Ile de France has greatly reduced British and French shipping here since the war began, altho the new Mauretania and such other smaller British vessels as the Scythia, Georgic, and Britannic have carried on a camouflaged and semi-secret traffic.

SURPRISE TO BRITISH PUBLIC

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 6.—The announcement today that the new liner Queen Elizabeth had been secretly towed from the fitting-out basin on the Clyde river and now is safely approaching New York harbor came as a complete surprise to the British public.

That the 85,000 ton liner was smuggled to the United States without even a whisper leaking out is regarded as proof of the Britons' ability to respect the public warning to "beware of careless talk, the enemy may be listening." It was revealed tonight that the engineers, mechanics, dock workers, and their wives at the Clydebank yards knew the secret but kept it grimly. So did the families of the crew, who volunteered to sail the ship.

POPE'S BOMB SHELTER NEARLY DONE; VATICAN CITIZENS GIVEN MASKS

ROME, March 6.—The air raid shelter being constructed for Pope Pius XII. is near completion, Vatican City informants said today. The shelter is being built under the courtyard of the holy office. It can be reached by the pope from his private apartments thru an elevator. Authorities have purchased 1,000 gas masks, so that all the residents of Vatican City now are supplied with them. Shelters also are being built for Vatican residents. Plans also have been made to guard the treasures in the Vatican museums. Many rare books, manuscripts, and the like have been stored away.

Grocer Slain, Robber Shot in 2 Holdups

A grocery manager was killed and a bandit, a former inmate of the St. Charles School for Boys, was critically wounded in two holdups last night. The two slayers in the first robbery and the wounded gunman's companion in the second holdup escaped.

Policeman O'Keefe shows how he hid to trap bandit.

The slain man was Stephen Broscoe, 39 years old, 1928 South Spaulding avenue, manager of a grocery at 3654 Wentworth avenue. He was in the store with Vincent Argento, 41, of 214 West 37th street, manager of the meat department, when two colored robbers entered.

One marched Argento to the rear of the store and called to his companion to bring Broscoe back.

Bandits Seize Cash and Run.

There was a moment of delay and then two shots were fired in the front of the store. Broscoe fell with a bullet near his heart. The bandits rifled the cash register and ran.

The second shooting was in the elevated lines station at Ogden avenue and Van Buren street. This office had been robbed twice since the first of the year and Policemen Lawrence O'Keefe and Patrick Deeley have been on guard there for six weeks.

Hides Behind Cage.

O'Keefe was hidden behind the cashier's cage in the office when two men came in, drew guns, and ordered the ticket agent, Miss Catherine O'Brien, 421 South Marshfield avenue, and the candy concessionaire, Mrs. Olga Rose, 1858 Ogden avenue, to the washroom. O'Keefe emerged.

Both bandits opened fire. O'Keefe returned the shots, wounding one. The other fled. The wounded bandit was taken to the Bridewell hospital, where he identified himself as Dennis Brennan, 16, of 2048 Madison street. He said he was released from the St. Charles school a year ago.

Russia Wants All of Isthmus and Naval Base

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 6.—It was learned on the highest authority here tonight that Russia's terms for ending the Finnish war have been submitted to the Finnish government thru the Swedish government and are now being considered.

In some quarters it was suggested that an armistice might come within a few days. Others believed the Finnish army would resist if the Finnish government should be inclined to accept too harsh terms.

Dictator Josef Stalin, it was said, has proposed to annex all of the Karelian isthmus, Lake Ladoga, including Sortavala and Viipuri, the naval base at Hango, and also wants a slice of Finnish territory in the Petsamo region [the Arctic].

Terms Regarded as Stiff.

Some informed circles here considered these terms extremely stiff and as impairing Finnish independence, but others thought that anything less than complete domination of Finland would be a concession on Stalin's part.

The Swedes expressed a belief that Stalin would prefer peace on such terms to a continuation of the war with the risk of intervention by Great Britain and France. This risk was the main argument used to persuade the Russians, it was said. Swedish sources said that the mediation effort was undertaken by Sweden alone, altho other quarters, thru Germany, had a hand in it.

For the last 24 hours it has been believed here that the situation would come to a head within a week or so, first because the empires seemed determined to send land and air forces to Finland, and, second, because the Swedes seemed to be pressing for mediation before such extension of the war took place.

Might Draw Sweden In.

The Swedes were represented as fearing that if the empires forced the issue, Sweden must be drawn into the war, not only as an ally of Finland but as an ally of Britain and France. Germany, it was thought, made it clear she would regard it as a hostile act for Sweden to permit any considerable number of allied troops to cross her territory, whether as volunteers or not.

In any event, it was said, the Swedes believed that such permission might bring an attack by Germany on Sweden. The only way out of this dilemma for Sweden was to put an end to the Finnish war, the Swedes maintained.

If mediation should result in terms which placed Finland under Russian control, it would weaken the position of the whole of Scandinavia, in the opinion of British and French observers here, and would insure Russian and German domination of the entire Baltic region.

Defense Lines Firm.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, March 6 (AP).—The Red army hurled hundreds of tanks and planes into a series of fierce attacks against Viipuri, but Finnish defense lines held firm, the high command declared today, reporting "heaps" of Russian dead were piled before the Finnish lines.

The battle, which appeared to be increasing in intensity, was strung along a front from ice-covered Viipuri bay to the Vuoksi river near the center of the Karelian isthmus.

Some of the bloodiest fighting was reported on the icy bay, where the Russians have made repeated attacks in the last four days attempting to seize coastal positions for an attack from the rear on ruined Viipuri.

For three successive days Finnish communiques have mentioned this fighting in their opening sentences, this time saying the Russians, "supported by aircraft, tanks, and artillery," had been repulsed.

Near Center of Isthmus.

Heavy Russian losses were described on the Pollakkala sector near the isthmus center. "Dozens" of enemy tanks were destroyed, the Finns said.

Across Lake Ladoga from the isthmus front there was artillery activity and Russian thrusts toward Uomas and Kollanjoki were repulsed.

Baron Mannerheim, Finns' Field Marshal, Reported Ill

LONDON, March 6 (AP).—A Reuter's [British] news agency dispatch from Stockholm today said Field Marshal Baron Mannerheim, Finnish commander in chief, was ill. No details of his illness were given.

SENATORS SAVE HATCH MEASURE IN 44-41 VOTE

Bill Aimed at State Party Machines.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 6.—Senate passage of the second Hatch bill, which seeks to curb pernicious political activity by state machine pay rollers, was assured today when the senate defeated an attempt by Democrats to knock the teeth out of the existing Hatch act.

Senator John E. Miller

The test vote came on an amendment by Senator John E. Miller [D., Ark.], which was rejected by a three vote margin—44 to 41. The existing Hatch act, passed in 1939, forbids all federal employés below the rank of assistant cabinet officers to take an active part in politics, and the pending Hatch bill seeks to place the same restrictions on all nonpolicy making state employés engaged in activities financed in whole or in part with federal funds.

2 Per Centers for Amendment.

Senator Miller's amendment was designed to eliminate the political activity section from the pending law, and to repeal the political activity section of the existing law.

Most New Dealers supported the Miller amendment, particularly senators backed by so-called 2 per cent clubs and other forms of state machine support. The administration leadership, however, was divided, with Senator Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], the majority leader, vigorously opposing the amendment, and Senator Sherman Minton [D., Ind.], the majority whip, energetically supporting it. Senator Minton, like Senator Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.], another foe of the Hatch bill, has the backing of a state machine which levies a 2 per cent political assessment on the salaries of state employés.

Slattery Also for It.

The opposition of Minton and Lucas to the Hatch bill, assertedly on the ground that it would violate the constitution, inspired the following comment by Senator Rush D. Holt [D., W. Va.]: "Some of our senators favor 98 per cent of this extension of federal authority over the internal affairs of the states, but they want to leave the 2 per cent alone."

Senator James M. Slattery [D., Ill.], another representative of the Illinois Democratic machine, also voted for the Miller amendment.

With the senate Democrats divided, Republicans saved the day for clean politics. Voting for the Miller amendment were 40 Democrats and 1 Republican, Chan Gurney of South Dakota. Voting against it were 23 Democrats, 18 Republicans, and three others: Phil La Follette [P., Wis.], George W. Norris [Ind., Neb.], and Henrik Shipstead [F. L., Minn.].

Barkley Does About Face.

Altho Majority Leader Barkley led the fight in 1938 against the Hatch amendment to take politics out of relief, his support of the Hatch bill today was entirely consistent. [The 1938 amendment was rejected, and this led to introduction of the first Hatch bill in 1939, which was passed.]

Barkley based his opposition to the Hatch amendment of 1938 frankly on the ground that his opponent, Gov. A. B. Chandler of Kentucky, was backed by a powerful state machine financed in part with federal funds. Chandler now is in the senate by appointment, however, and he and Barkley are good friends, and both fear the opposition of a state machine. Both supported the Hatch bill.

Warns Democrats of Defeat.

Barkley asserted that any weakening of the existing Hatch law on the eve of a presidential election would be interpreted by the entire country as an effort by the Democratic party to keep itself in power by the pernicious political activities outlawed by the act. He said he was not willing for the Democratic party to go before the people in November under such a cloud of suspicion, and intimated his belief that it would be defeated if it resorted to such methods.

Senator Carl A. Hatch [D., N. Mex.], author of the bill, challenged

the supporters of the Miller amendment to be frank enough to say to the people: "We are going back boldly to the spoils system and everything it portends. We are going to undo all that we tried to do last summer."

In speaking on the amendment Senator Lucas addressed himself particularly to section 15 of the pending bill, which authorizes and directs the civil service commission to promulgate rules and regulations defining "active part in political management or in political campaigns." The bill would prohibit such activity on the part of state employés paid in whole or in part with federal funds. The civil service commission has been exercising such authority with respect to civil service employés for more than half a century.

Lucas Explains Stand.

"It may be presumptuous," said Senator Lucas, "for any senator in these days of social trend and economic change to venture an opinion upon the constitutionality of any measure which is before the congress of the United States. However, the question of the delegation of power from the legislative branch of the government to the executive has been fairly well explored by the legal fraternity of this country, and the limitations upon that right have been pretty well fixed and determined by the United States Supreme court during the last few years.

"It is pretty well agreed under those decisions that congress has the right to delegate so-called legislative power if the standards for exercising that power are adequately set forth in the statute. If they are not, then the exercise of such power is unconstitutional and invalid.

"Believing as I do in the basic and fundamental questions which seem to me to go to the very roots of a well established and orderly form of democratic government, I am constrained to say that I find it impossible to support this legislation [the Hatch bill]."

UNION WITHOUT DISPUTE BARRED FROM PICKETING

Columbus, O., March 6 (AP).—Ohio's Supreme court ruled today picketing is illegal in the absence of a legitimate trade dispute.

Union spokesmen said the American Federation of Labor probably will carry the issue to the United States Supreme court.

The decision enjoins the A. F. of L. Hotel and Restaurant union from picketing Crosby's restaurant in Cleveland where the union had no members and sought to organize employés. Two judges dissented.

"There is no right to engage in picketing or boycotting under such circumstances," the court held. "Free speech cannot be used to the exclusion of other constitutional rights. The right to operate business without illegal interference should be maintained."

ASKS STRANGER PICKETING BAN AT BAKERY CONCERN

A petition for an injunction to prohibit stranger picketing at the Royale Bakery, Inc., wholesale concern at 1240 South Kedzie avenue, was filed yesterday in Superior court. The suit is directed at local 237 of the Bakers' and Confectionery Workers' union, an American Federation of Labor affiliate. The petition asserts relations between the company and its employés are harmonious, but the establishment has been picketed since Feb. 17. The union is accused also of conducting a secondary boycott by threatening retail store customers with stoppage of union deliveries if they continue to do business with Royale.

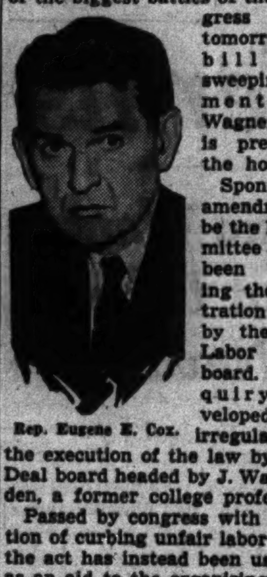
CONGRESS FIGHT ON WAGNER ACT TO START TODAY

Sweeping Changes Will Be Proposed.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 6.—One of the biggest battles of the 76th congress will start tomorrow when a bill proposing sweeping amendments to the Wagner labor act is presented to the house.



Rep. Eugene E. Cox.

Sponsor of the amendments will be the house committee which has been investigating the administration of the act by the National Labor Relations board. The inquiry has developed glaring irregularities in the execution of the law by the New Deal board headed by J. Warren Madden, a former college professor.

Passed by congress with the intention of curbing unfair labor practices, the act has instead been used chiefly as an aid to the organizing activities of John L. Lewis, chief of the C. I. O.

Previous Bills Smothered.

Similar bills have been introduced heretofore but the committee on labor under the domination of the administration has smothered them. No such fate is in store for the measure to be offered by Representative Howard W. Smith [D., Va.], chairman of the investigating committee. Early action is assured over a legislative route which will involve a stinging rebuke to the labor committee and its chairman, Mrs. Mary T. Norton, New Jersey Democrat.

Representative Eugene E. Cox [D., Va.], announced that the rules committee, the most powerful group in the house, of which he is the unofficial chairman [Adolph J. Sabath, Chicago Democrat, is the titular head] will give the Smith bill right of way.

"Ordinarily, the bill would await action by the labor committee," said Cox. "It, of course, would die of sleeping sickness there."

Assails Labor Committee.

Cox said that the rules committtee would avoid this delay by granting a rule bringing the Smith bill to the floor within a few days. He added that this would not be done to any other committee of the house and that the labor committee is held in less esteem than any other committee in history of congress.

Among the amendments to be suggested by Chairman Smith will be the setup of a new board of five members to supplant the present three members. The board would be deprived of its present powers to serve as judge, jury, and prosecutor. An administrator would be appointed to receive complaints and make preliminary investigations. If he found cause to prosecute charges of unfair labor practices against an employer, he would present the evidence and the board would sit as a jury.

Broader provisions for court review of the labor board's decisions will be included in the Smith bill. Requirements that the board abide more closely by judicial rules of evidence also will be proposed. Another provision would guarantee the employer's right to freedom of speech in arguing his side of a labor dispute.

MRS. AUBREY RICHMOND.

Chicago police were requested yesterday to search for Aubrey Giles Richmond, 48 years old, who was formerly a sales representative for the Goodyear Tire company in Johannesburg, South Africa. His wife, Mrs. Maude Sybil Geary Richmond, 33, who came here several days ago, said her husband left her in Johannesburg last August, telling her he was coming to Chicago on business. She left her son, Jeremy, 6 years old, with relatives in Kent, England. Mrs. Richmond, who has been staying at the Stevens hotel, plans to go to La Crosse, Wis., today to confer with her husband's brother, Earl Richmond.

DAY WARNS: VOTE FOR ROOSEVELT IS VOTE FOR WAR

Brooks-Lyons State Setup Completed.

Stephen A. Day, one of the leading G. O. P. candidates for congressman at large, said yesterday, "A vote for Roosevelt is a vote for war."

Day, one of the nominees for congressman at large in 1938, said that "America is being threatened with a repetition of the Great Mistake of 1916 when the country reëlected another President on the slogan that he would keep this nation out of war."

"War," Day continued, "means the New Deal can accomplish the end of business. War means a dictatorship over industry. War means then that the only jobs will be government jobs at subsistence wages. We must break this stranglehold in 1940 once and for all.

"Illinois citizens must have faith that their representatives in congress will oppose sending our boys to fight on foreign soil. It is vital, therefore, that voters nominate candidates in April who can win in November and guarantee to themselves this protection and freedom from foreign entanglement which would bleed this nation as it has already bled others."

James E. Hill, downstate manager for the Brooks-Lyons Republican ticket, announced yesterday the perfection of organizations in the 101 downstate counties. Simultaneously, Mrs. Ernest B. Griffin, chairman of the Brooks-Lyons women's division, said that women chairmen had been chosen in every county.

Hill estimated that 70 per cent of the regularly elected precinct committeemen and county chairmen downstate are supporting Wayland Brooks for senator and Richard J. Lyons for governor.

"These efforts," Hill said, "are being made easier by the fast spreading knowledge that Brooks and Lyons are backed by more than 80 per cent of the Republican ward committeemen in Chicago, and that of the 28 township committeemen in Cook county who have announced themselves 27 are with Brooks and Lyons."

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

'FORGOTTEN MAN' HASN'T CHANGED A BIT!—CHURCH

He's 10 Million Strong and in Same Fix.

Washington, D. C., March 6 [Special].—President Roosevelt's original "forgotten man" has become a legion of 10,000,000 whom the New Deal simply forgot to remember, Representative Ralph E. Church of Illinois asserted tonight in the second radio address of his campaign for the Republican senatorial nomination in Illinois.

Church prophesied that the forgotten man would remain forgotten and unemployed, living a marginal existence on the dole, until a Republican victory restores economic freedom, liberates business from New Deal stagnation, and gives the forgotten man a permanent job at fair wages.

"Economic freedom is the basis of all freedoms," Church said. "When a man cannot work and support himself he loses the basis of all freedom. Political liberty cannot long endure when economic freedom is lost."

"Rendezvous" with Alien Ideas.

His address was broadcast over station WENR in Chicago and a hookup of 16 other Illinois stations.

"Seven years ago much was said about the forgotten man, and much was heard about the more abundant life for all of us," Church said. "We were to have a rendezvous with destiny—where we would find a balanced national budget, elimination of useless bureaus, less centralization of power in Washington, reduction of taxes, parity prices for agriculture, improved business, and general national prosperity.

"Seven years under the New Deal have passed. We now know that our rendezvous has been with experiments foreign to American ideals of self reliance, thrift, and individual initiative. We now know that the more abundant life is a mirage as we travel aimlessly on the desert of New Deal scarcities.

Ten Million Still Jobless.

"The number of unemployed can be reasonably estimated at 10,000,000.

"The immediate necessity has been to provide relief for these unfortunates. But the larger problem will continue to remain unsolved until it is realized that the principal task of statesmanship is to clear the way for free, private enterprise. You cannot have employés without employers.

"For a return of confidence and business recovery, we need first of all a moral leadership to foster a spirit of unity and coöperation between employers and employés."

Representative Church is to speak from the capital via radio each Wednesday night thru April 8.

BURNING CHAIR RUINS FRANK'S FANCY PAJAMAS

William C. Watters, chief of the Oak Park fire department, and his chauffeur were first on the scene yesterday when a fire was reported at 426 South Taylor avenue. Smoke was eddying from under the hall door of Frank D. Curran's second floor apartment. Chief Watters tried to enter the apartment, but was held at bay by a yapping, snapping fox terrier whose name later was found to be Tippy.

Other firemen arrived quickly and tossed a tarpaulin over Tippy, putting him temporarily out of action. In the apartment they found a lounge chair in flames and Mr. Curran standing in the living room, apparently trying to spank himself.

"Yippee!" said Mr. Curran, "Yippee!" The seat was burned out of the pants of his pink striped pajamas. He explained somewhat hazily that he must have fallen asleep in the chair while smoking a cigaret.

The damage, exclusive of that to Mr. Curran's pride and scorched anatomy, was estimated at $75 by Chief Watters.

LYONS ASSAILS BROKEN PLEDGE TO HOMEOWNERS

East St. Louis, Ill., March 6 [Special.]—The promise that elimination of the state property tax and substitution of the sales tax would relieve homeowners has "turned out to be just another broken Democratic pledge," Richard J. Lyons, Republican candidate for the nomination for governor, charged tonight.

With his running mate, Wayland Brooks, candidate for United States senator, he made campaign speeches in Nashville, Sparta, Red Bud, Waterloo and Belleville during the day. Tomorrow he will deliver a radio address over Chicago station WENR at 8 p. m. and discuss in detail the specific points mentioned in the letter he directed to his primary opponent.

Seven long years of New Deal tinkering with American business has failed to invent a substitute for a job and weekly pay envelope in private enterprise, Brooks declared in his address here.

Cheers greeted the chairman today when he introduced the two candidates as the "greatest vote getters in the Republican party in the last decade." The reference was to the 1,682,685 votes piled up by Brooks in 1936, more votes than any Republican has received in Illinois in ten years. Two years later Lyons cut the Democratic majority in Illinois down to 2 per cent of the total vote.

GREEN ASSERTS IT'S UP TO G. O. P. TO SAVE NATION

Calls on Voters of Illinois to Do Their Part.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Peru, Ill., March 6.—Illinois may lead the nation again, as it did in 1860 in a new fight for freedom and self government, Dwight H. Green said today in the course of his downstate campaign for the Republican nomination for governor of Illinois. Green spoke in Legion hall in Granville this afternoon and in Turn hall at Peru this evening. He will speak in Macon county tomorrow.

"Self government in other countries has failed because the people didn't have the nerve and fortitude to work out their problems," he said.

"We are faced with a danger in Illinois and in the nation. That is the danger of maintaining self government. The question in this campaign is whether the American form and system of government is to be preserved.

G. O. P. Saving Agency.

"We do not have to go far in this state before reaching the conclusion that the people know, by the acts of the New Deal in Washington, which sets the example for state policies, by the acts and deeds of the high command of the New Deal, that there is only one agency in the United States thru which the people can make the fight to preserve the American form and system, and that agency is the Republican party.

"The underlying principle of the New Deal is to change our form and system of government. There are two schools of thought, those who believe it is the job of the government to solve the unemployment problem and those who believe that private industry can and will solve the problem, providing the shackles of government are removed. I belong to this second school. We want our economic security without the loss of our liberties."

Points to Manteno.

Green spoke of the Manteno typhoid fever epidemic and the two per cent Democratic slush fund as evidences of the negligence and greed for power of the New Deal in this state.

"The New Deal and its political machines have not stopped at a two per cent slush fund," he declared. "They have turned our country into a huge 25 per cent club. The dues are paid in taxes, not only on March 15 but on every day of the year.

"They only take two per cent from the pay rollers, but they take 25 per cent from you and me. The cost of government must be reduced. It will be reduced when we destroy the machines which fatten on federal, state, and local pay rolls, and thru the huge New Deal contracts. We must halt the rising public debt and drastically reduce governmental expenditures in every branch of our national and local administration."

Steals and Spends $1,015; Tears Up $1,080 in Checks

A package containing $1,015 in cash and $1,080 in checks vanished 10 days ago from the cashier's cage of the Wilson & Co. packing plant's retail store for employés. Yesterday James C. Holmes, 23 years old, colored, of 4935 Indiana avenue, confessed that he reached into the cage and took it. Holmes, an employé, said he tore up the checks and spent the money on liquor and horse races.

FATHER BATTLES STEPFATHER FOR CUSTODY OF BOY

Atlanta, Ga., March 6 (AP).—The father of a motherless boy, 12 years old, pleaded today for custody of a son who thinks his stepfather is his "real daddy."

Huntley Chapin Sr., former Chicagoan and now an investment expert of Hollywood, Cal., brought suit in Fulton county Superior court seeking custody of his son. Willard F. Cummings of Atlanta, former Chicago banker and the boy's stepfather, opposed the action.

Cummings testified he had never told the boy he was his stepfather and asked the court not to do so now, declaring the result might be detrimental to the boy.

The Chapins were divorced in Chicago in 1931 and custody of the child was awarded to the mother. Mrs. Chapin then married Cummings and they moved to Atlanta four years later. Last year they moved to Tampa, Fla., where Mrs. Cummings died. The son has been living with his maternal grandmother and several aunts here since his mother's death.

BOSSES STALKING CENSUS TAKERS, SAYS ADAMOWSKI

Plot to Compel Political Activity Charged.

BY LLOYD WENDT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Harrisburg, Ill., March 6.—The Illinois Democratic machine is attempting to take over the army of census workers in the state and use them as political agents in the primary, Benjamin S. Adamowski, candidate for Democratic nomination for United States senator, declared today. Observers here predicted sensational repercussions from the charge.

"On April 2 an army of new pay rollers will go into the field," Adamowski said. "If the machine in Chicago has its way, these thousands of census takers will be political workers, going into every home. They are going to talk against the so-called insurgents in the Democratic party.

"The Hatch act, forbidding federal employés from engaging in political activity, should provide protection against this flagrant abuse of political decency, but these thousands will be temporary workers, and the people of Illinois will have to be alert to protect themselves from the bosses' scheme."

Lucas' Move Assailed.

Adamowski's charges were made during an attack on the slush fund activities of the Democratic machine, the coercion of state employés into political work, and attempts of Senator Scott W. Lucas to block an amendment to the Hatch act which would bar state employés, paid partly by the federal government, from engaging in political activities.

State Regency Denounced.

Adamowski assailed the state regency, which he described as a clique of men not elected by the people, who control the state government during the illness of Gov. Horner, for slush fund scandals.

"Gov. Horner was against assessment of state workers for political purposes," he said. "But now, under the regency, people on the pay rolls are forced to go into the highways and byways spreading the 'gospel' as outlined by the political dictators."

During the day the candidates passed thru the rich Illinois oil fields and the teeming boom towns that have almost doubled their populations in a few months, and Stelle discussed his oil policies at length.

"I am against strict proration of oil," he said. "I want an oil bill that will protect the small and large producers, and it can be arranged."

HOW THE "NEW" HAPPENS

By CALEB

CHICAGO-izing an idea, might be another way of putting this little merchandising tale, gleaned from our first-floor costume jewelry section. Central to the plot was a fashion flair, new and going livelily as a costume development abroad; but needing adaptation before it could be suited to our own here-and-now.

With "militant overtones" so marked in the current style scheme, a virile vogue had come to life among Parisians. Mounting an array of regimental crests on sparkling pins, lockets, pocket clips and bracelets, as costume accents in gold and silver, was scarcely Paris's talk of the day before our buyers were busy imbibing the idea for Chicago use by Field's. Immediate problem, however, was the locating and authenticating of crests appropriate to local purposes.

To its solution our personnel applied themselves with typical resource. Army supply stores were scouted for information; Fort Sheridan officials were contacted; the military experiences of one of our department heads were capitalized; and after numerous conferrings, selectings, and final okayings, the correct military emblems for use in the Chicago area were listed for our manufacturer—who in turn closely collaborated with the official army crest maker to produce the finished products.

These latter, needless to say, have won swift and deserved popularity. Deserved, because of the very distinctive touch they add to women's trim, bepocketed and tailored creations for Spring. Also for the jaunty gaiety with which such insignia seem to "belong" on lines and fabrics of this particular type. Variegated choices include crests of the 19th Infantry, stationed at Hawaii; the 15th Infantry, whose regiment served in the Boxer Rebellion; the 19th Wing, stationed at the Canal Zone; the air units of March, Langley, Barkdale and Selfridge Fields; the 6th and 109th Cavalry, and various Field Artillery regiments—each with its distinguishing color, emblem or motto. . . .

Routine to our buying experts are many such instances of quick thought, decision, and action—resulting in the "new" features constantly encountered in a progressive store's worldwide display of products. Sensing a sudden opportunity on sight; knowing the market; most vital of all, understanding the tastes and temperaments of a great body of customers—is the ceaseless challenge Fashion flaunts before modern-day merchandisers. To meet it, the only attitude we find adequate is that of being "forever on our toes."

'POLITICULTURE' FAILS FARMERS, DEWEY ASSERTS

Candidate Offers 8 Ways to Aid Agriculture.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lincoln, Neb., March 6.—Seven years of New Deal experiment with the farm problem have been a failure in which "politiculture has triumphed over agriculture," Thomas E. Dewey of New York, candidate for the Republican nomination for President, said in a speech here tonight.

The racket breaking New York prosecutor came here as the guest of honor at the annual Republican Founders' day celebration of the admission of Nebraska to the union 73 years ago. Throngs surged into the Cornhusker hotel to greet Dewey, and the day was a round of conferences and meetings for the candidate.

At the University of Nebraska coliseum tonight Dewey delivered his first address on the farm question before an audience of 8,000. It was described as the largest and most enthusiastic Republican gathering in Nebraska since 1932.

No Quick Panacea, He Says.

In his address the New York gang buster asserted there is no panacea to solve the farm problem overnight. He laid down eight points which he said should be a part of any real agricultural program, but only a part.

Dewey declared that in the last seven years of a Republican administration at Washington, which included a world-wide depression, farm cash income averaged more than 9 billion dollars a year, while during the seven New Deal years, including government payments, it has averaged less than 7¾ billion dollars a year.

"It was a billion and quarter dollars a year more during the Republican years," he said.

Hits New Deal as Failure.

"After seven years of harrowing the country the New Deal has not yet scratched the surface of the farm problem. To spend billions of dollars in achieving such a failure raises incompetence to the level of sheer genius."

Dewey said when farming is in the doldrums, the entire economic structure is affected. To place agricultural prices on a parity with other prices, he said, the problem should be attacked from the industrial as well as the agricultural side. If the defeatist theory of the New Deal were plowed under, Dewey argued, and industry encouraged to expand and 9 million unemployed went back to jobs, the old farm problem would be on its way to solution.

Eight Points in Program.

The policies advocated by Dewey as an essential part of a national agricultural program were:

1. Establish a fair parity between agricultural prices and industrial prices.
2. Provide government crop loans at reasonable levels.
3. Adopt a direct program of soil conservation.
4. Convert submarginal land to more economic uses.
5. Extend the farm coöperative movement.
6. Extend the program for marketing agreements.
7. Preserve the American market for American agriculture.
8. Broaden research in the use of farm products.

"We cannot have a prosperous agriculture amid a prostrate America," said Dewey. "We cannot have a prosperous America with a prostrate agriculture."

Attacking the New Deal philosophy of defeatism and despair, he said "if any theory ever was destroyed by the plainest facts, it is this defeatist theory of the New Deal. It is not America that is static. It is the New Deal that is sterile. It is in default to the American people. It is time to foreclose the New Deal."

At the outset of his address Dewey recalled that two days ago the New Deal became seven years old.

"It may seem like a hundred years to you," he said, "but the calendar insists it is only seven.

"You may have suspected that I am not an ardent supporter of the present national administration. But I must admit one thing. In some respects it has accomplished more in seven years than previous administrations did in a hundred years.

Sets Spending Record.

"For example, it has spent more than twice as much money as all administrations in the hundred years before the world war. It has run up a net total of 18 times as much debt for future generations to pay. It has wasted more money than in any one hundred years in the nation's history.

"At the same time, it has found more ways to suppress enterprise and retard recovery. It has established a new record for continuous unemployment. And it has given the farmers a smaller share of the national income than in any seven year period since the Declaration of Independence.

"But there is cheer ahead. This is the next to last birthday. There is only one more year to go." This remark brought resounding cheers from his audience.

Quotes Roosevelt Speech.

Mr. Dewey quoted from a speech President Roosevelt made in Topeka, Kas., Sept. 14, 1932, and also from the Democratic national platform of 1932, which declared against restricting agricultural products to the demands of domestic markets.

"As a candidate," he said, "the President [at Topeka] bitterly abused the Republican President, whose subordinates, he said, invented the cruel joke of advising farmers to allow 20 per cent of their wheat lands to lie idle, to plow up every other row of cotton and to shoot every tenth dairy cow.

"Today those words are heavy with irony. They suggest the Hindu philosophy and the sacred cow. Apparently it is a 'cruel joke' to kill a cow but statesmanlike to slay a suckling pig.

"On taking office the New Deal tore up the Democratic platform and the President's campaign utterances. It adopted crop restriction as the core of its agricultural program.

"To this end it spent billions of dollars. It put an army of people on the government pay roll. It invented countless regulations and prescriptions. It did practically everything the President denounced in his speech at Topeka. Politiculture triumphed over agriculture."

Hundreds Greet Candidate.

When Dewey, accompanied by his wife, arrived here this morning several hundred were at the station to greet him. The reception committee was headed by Kenneth Wherry, Republican state chairman.

Nebraska is a state in which Dewey and Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan are entered in the presidential preferential primary on April 9. Charles S. Reed of Omaha, Vandenberg's stage campaign manager, was here as an interested observer and sat on the platform as Dewey spoke tonight.

Upon his arrival at the Cornhusker hotel, Dewey held a press conference, talked with the state committee, met a law enforcement group, and conferred with Young Republicans. He also visited the Students' union at the university and the state capitol.

He dropped in at three luncheons, including the one of the Republican Editors' association. In the afternoon he met with groups representing labor, business, and agriculture, and before his speech tonight was guest at a banquet attended by 1,300.

Today's outpouring of Republicans sounded a note of enthusiasm and was heralded as an indication that Nebraska is headed toward the Republican column this year.

G. O. P. HAILS VICTORY IN IOWA AS FURTHER INDICATION OF TREND

Washington, D. C., March 6 (AP).—Republicans in congress today hailed yesterday's victory in the 6th Iowa district as an indication of further party gains, while Democrats interpreted it merely as a manifestation of the district's normal trend.

R. K. Goodwin.

Robert K. Goodwin, Republican, defeated Byron G. Allen, Democrat, by a margin of more than three to two in a special election to fill the unexpired term of Representative Cassius C. Dowell, Republican, who died Feb. 4. Goodwin, in complete unofficial returns from all the district's 218 precincts, polled 29,396 votes against Allen's 18,449.

Goodwin is a partner in a Redfield, Ia., brick and tile business. He is married and has two children, Robert F., 3, and Ann, 5.

Besides his farm platform Goodwin campaigned on a reduction of federal spending thru the elimination of "hundreds of thousands of unnecessary pay rollers," "real jobs at real wages" for the unemployed, and federal policies of encouragement to business.

SEARCY ILLUSTRATES SIZE OF NATIONAL DEBT WITH A LOCAL EXAMPLE

State Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, Republican candidate for nomination for lieutenant governor, spoke yesterday at the weekly meeting of the Oak Park Rotary club. He did not mention the primary campaign, but assailed the trend toward rising costs of government.

"These trends are not entirely of the last eight years' origin," Searcy said. "Federal government has jumped its costs 13 times in 25 years, and Illinois has increased its overhead nine times in 23 years.

"The population of Cook county is conservatively estimated at 4 million men, women, and children. On that basis, with $345 as the per capita obligation, Cook county owes $1,380,000,000 as its share of the national debt of $45 billion dollars. In 1938 the state tax commission reported assessed valuations in Cook county of $2,370,796,972. Thus the county's share of the national debt represents 57 per cent of the assessed valuation of all taxable property in the whole county."

GIRL FALLS AT PLAY; DIES.

Georgina Matejek, 8 years old, died yesterday a short time after she had fallen near her home at 5310 25th place, Cicero.

27TH WARD CIVIC GROUPS FIGHT BALLOT THEFTS

A campaign to eliminate vote frauds in the 27th ward was begun last night at a meeting of church, civic, and educational representatives in the West End Women's club, 37 South Ashland avenue. The drive is under the guidance of the Women's Civic council.

Mrs. Harriet Robertson, president of the council, said the campaign will be extended gradually to other wards which have a high rate of ballot box irregularities.

Among the actions taken at the meeting was the organization of a committee to enlist volunteer watchers for the forthcoming primary and subsequent elections and to carry on a "ballot education" program in the ward.

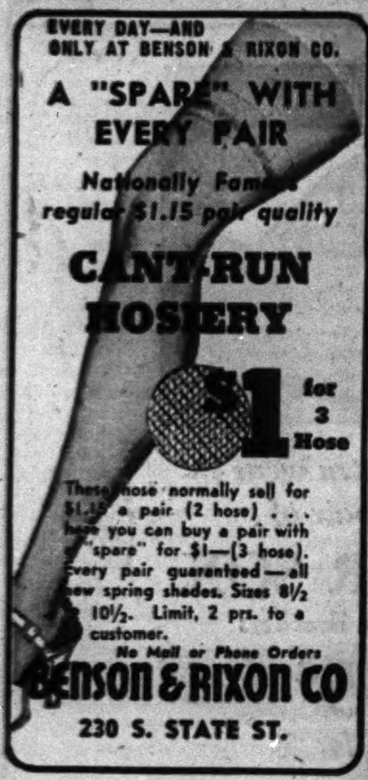
THE NEIGHBORS By George Clark

"Boy friends? Already? Why, I thought those kids were only playmates!"



MAYPOLE QUITS STELLE-BARRETT INSURGENT SLATE

Believe Action Brought to Head by Adamowski.

BY PERCY WOOD.

The union of Senator George M. Maypole of Chicago with the Stelle-Adamowski-Barrett insurgent Democratic state ticket, which was announced in Springfield last Friday, was dissolved yesterday.

George M. Maypole.

Both Maypole and Lieut. Gov. John Stelle, candidate for the gubernatorial nomination on the rebel slate, said Friday that the senator would join the ticket as a candidate for lieutenant governor. Yesterday, in Jacksonville, Maypole said he had no affiliation with the slate as a whole, altho he was with Stelle all the way.

"I'm an independent candidate, with a lot of help," Maypole said, "and I expect to get support from the same people who will be with Stelle on primary day."

Refuses to Answer.

Asked if he was also supporting Representative Benjamin S. Adamowksi for senator and Auditor Edward J. Barrett for a third term, Maypole replied: "No statement."

Inquiry at Stelle-Adamowski-Barrett headquarters in Springfield as to why both Stelle and Maypole had announced the affiliation on Friday, only to have Maypole renounce it yesterday, brought no explanation.

Other sources, however, told a story that Adamowski had counseled his teammates against adding any other candidates to their original trio. His position, these sources said, was that he, Stelle, and Barrett had taken a stand—anti-bossism—with reason behind it in each of their cases. Maypole does not possess that issue, Adamowski's friends asserted.

Maypole has been a straight Nash-Kelly organization Democrat and represents National Committeeman P. A. Nash's home district at Springfield.

He entered the lieutenant governorship against Louie E. Lewis, the harmony candidate without, it is understood, the approval of Nash.

Mrs. Lorden Joins Camp.

Stelle-Adamowski-Barrett forces were pleased yesterday over the announcement from Mrs. Lottie Lorden, head of the Sangamon county Democratic Women's organization, that she is resigning her position in the state department of finance and is supporting the insurgent slate against the harmony group.

"I resent the pressure exerted against me to have my group indorse the boss-picked candidates," Mrs. Lorden said. She charged that pressure is being brought against state employés to support Harry B. Hershey, a candidate for governor, and others on the indorsed ticket.

WPA Digs Up Mammoth Tusks, 20,000 Years Old

Albion, Pa., March 6 (AP). — WPA workmen digging in a roadside near here turned up the tusks of a woolly mammoth that roamed Pennsylvania 20,000 years ago, geologists reported today. The largest section, which WPA workers first thought was a piece of petrified wood, was seven feet long and looped in a double curve. Further excavation disclosed a 30 inch section. The woolly mammoth was a big elephant with hair six to eight inches long.

JARECKI TO PROBE FORGERY CHARGE IN VOTE PETITIONS

83 Candidacies for Committeeman Hit.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki said yesterday that he personally will investigate charges that many of the 199 petitions of candidates for ward committeeman, filed with the county clerk, bear forged signatures of voters. He said the investigation will be conducted with the coöperation of State's Attorney Courtney's office.

"Objections have been filed against 83 of the 199 petitions," Judge Jarecki said. "Many of the petitions charge that signatures are forged."

Assails Two Petitions.

In a preliminary hearing on objections before Judge Jarecki yesterday Attorney John F. Tyrell charged the petitions of John Martin Walsh of the 36th ward and Walter Pociask of the 26th, both Democrats, "haven't a semblance of respectability."

"Both are examples of what can be done in back rooms," he declared. "They are attempts to fool the public because other candidates of the same name are running."

John Walsh seeks the 36th ward Democratic post against Ald. Richard M. Walsh, George Robinson, a former alderman, and two other candidates. Robinson is the regular Democratic organization candidate. Richard Walsh campaigning as a Courtney man, defeated Robinson last year in the aldermanic campaign.

Public Hearings Unlikely.

Election officials said the practice of holding public hearings on the objections may be dispensed with because of lack of time before the election April 9. Mrs. Mable G. Reinecke, board member, said attorneys may be asked instead to file briefs with the board. The board is to review the objections Saturday and Sunday.

Plans to have voluntary watchers representing civic groups at all polling places for the primary were discussed yesterday by Judge Jarecki, Henry S. Blum, a member of the Chicago Bar association's election committee, and Brig. Gen. John V. Clinnin, representing a war veterans' committee.

7 WITHDRAW IN INQUIRY

Seven candidates in the April 9 primary have asked that their names be omitted from the ballots because of an investigation being made by the Better Government association, Frederick W. Blaisdell, executive secretary, announced yesterday.

All seven have admitted, Blaisdell said, that they permitted members of the 28th ward Republican organization to enter their names in the primary. The head of the organization is Joseph A. Porcaro, who is seeking reëlection as 28th ward G. O. P. committeeman.

One of the seven is Leonard E. Schroeder, a candidate for committeeman against Porcaro. The others are Sherwin H. Johnson and Arthur H. Johnson, candidates for Circuit court clerk, and four 7th district candidates for congressman—Joseph Vitacca, Charles Joseph Keating, Joseph A. Smith, and James C. Morley. All were listed as Republicans.

Blaisdell said the seven entries apparently were intended to divide the opposition vote against candidates favored by the Porcaro group. Porcaro denied complicity in the deal.

Altho the deadline for withdrawals is past, Blaisdell said he was convinced the secretary of state and the county clerk would respect the new withdrawal requests on the ground that no man should be forced to remain a candidate against his will.

Next Monday Is Last Day to Register in Neighborhood

Election board officials reminded voters yesterday that Monday is the last day of city-wide registration before the April 9 primary election. Registration offices are open in fire stations thruout the city and in the board offices in the city hall. They will be closed Sunday.

3 VOTE OFFICIALS SURRENDER ON FRAUD CHARGES

Three officials of the 3d precinct, 27th ward, in the April 4, 1939, election, surrendered before County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday on vote fraud contempt charges. They are Mrs. Josephine Perry, 3022 Madison street, Democratic judge; Mrs. Frances Dickerson, 3027 Warren boulevard, Republican judge, and Mrs. Anna R. Blessing of the same address, Democratic clerk. They were released on bond.

IF EVERYTHING SEEMS TO GO WRONG

Answer this question . . .

Are you sure that you may not be a victim of too much acid in your bladder!—a condition which can be brought on if your kidneys fail to eliminate at least two quarts a day. Here's what can happen if that occurs—

The acids and by-products of metabolism (which are expelled thru the bladder) are insufficiently diluted. They reach the bladder in such a highly concentrated acid condition that they irritate the sphincter muscle and the sensitive bladder linings. Such irritations can cause those "overwhelming" urges that wake you up; pains in back, lower abdomen and the legs; burning passages, itching. Under such conditions, you can't be blamed if you feel blue. But you can be blamed if you take no steps to relieve such a situation.

Take FOLEY PILLS. They act on your kidneys and bladder in three ways. They stir those sluggish kidneys, and dilute and neutralize the over-acid contents of your bladder. Furthermore, FOLEY PILLS transform those over-acid contents into a bland solution which actually helps soothe those tortured tissues and quiet those irritations which may be responsible for those "overwhelming" urges, backaches, getting up nights, burning, itching, etc.

Don't let too much acid in your bladder make you feel worse. Start taking Foley Pills today. Quick results, quick relief, quick satisfaction or your money back. At all druggists.

WHIPPED BRITISH IN FIRST CLASH, GERMANS BOAST

Capture of 16 Prisoners Reported by Nazis.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 6.—The first major engagement in this "strange and undramatic war" between German and British troops was reported in today's German war communique, six months after the outbreak of hostilities.

It took place east of the Moselle river and, according to the Germans, 16 Britons of the duke of Cornwall's light infantry regiment were taken prisoners. The Germans assert 20 Englishmen and one German were killed.

[A British army communique stated on Tuesday that two Britons and a German were killed in the attack, that Britons were taken prisoner, and that an outpost seized by the Germans was recaptured. A war office statement yesterday, however, said one Briton, a sergeant major, was killed and several were missing.]

Nazis Deride Britons.

Germans commented on the fight with a flood of sarcasm, such as, "The Tommies are marching on Berlin now, but they are heading for a prison camp." Other comments alleged that the British troops have shown more interest in French women and wines than in front line fighting, which they "leave to their French comrades."

"One rubs his eyes—It's a fact; Englishmen are fighting on the west front," stated Adolf Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter.

According to the Germans the attack was made at dawn on two British dugouts. German batteries opened a surprise fire on the entrenchments. After the fire ceased the German raiding party, which had already cut its way thru wire entanglements, rushed to the dugouts, hurling hand grenades and firing with rifles and pistols.

Cowardly Ruse Charged.

After a fierce fight, the Germans said, a Briton "hesitatingly held out an unsoiled handkerchief. This was a cowardly ruse, since he continued to fire his automatic with the other hand. Now the British come into the open one by one without being specially called upon to do so. Two of them hurl hand grenades, the others lie down on the ground, all in a row. Only after repeated requests do they get up and stick up their hands."

This ended 15 minutes of action.

The raiders and their 16 prisoners, including a sergeant, gained the German lines despite machine gun and artillery fire by the enemy, the Germans said.

British troops hold only a narrow sector of this part of the western front, being flanked on both sides by French troops, the Germans declared.

Day Quiet, Paris Reports.

PARIS, March 6 (AP).—Tonight's British-French communique said: "Nothing important to report."

Prisoner List Put at 750.

GENEVA, Switzerland, March 6 (AP).—The International Red Cross prisoners bureau said today that its lists showed fewer than 300 Germans, 300 French, and 150 British are held prisoners after more than six months of war.

Weds Accordionist

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

George M. Cohan's daughter, Mary, and her husband, George Ranken, in New York after return from Doylestown, Pa.

Doylestown, Pa., March 6 (AP).—George M. Cohan's daughter, Mary, and George Ranken, New York night club accordionist, were married here by a justice of the peace today—five days after an elopement that went awry because of Pennsylvania marriage laws. The actor's songstress daughter and the 32 year old musician who became her second husband today motored here early last Thursday and applied for a marriage license. They returned to New York when told about the three day waiting requirement, and Mary said then she was uncertain if or when they would try again.

FRANCE FLOATS SECOND OF 35,000 TON BATTLESHIPS

PARIS, March 6 (AP).—The Jean Bart, second of France's four 35,000 ton battleships under construction, has just been floated, the senate navy committee announced tonight.

A committee communique stated that Navy Minister Cesare Campinchi also had outlined "measures taken to assure the availability of the Jean Bart and the Richelieu," the latter being the first of the new series of giant warships and already launched.

The two others, the Clemenceau and the Gascogne, are in earlier stages of construction.

GERMAN PLANES BOMB TWO SHIPS OFF BRITISH ISLES

One of Largest Tankers Reported Sunk.

LONDON, March 7, Thursday (AP).—German air attacks on British coastal shipping apparently entered a new "round of the clock" phase with the first night bombings off English and Scottish coasts.

Two German planes bombed and machine gunned the 695 ton British tanker Shelbrit II, off the northeast coast of Scotland last night. Two of the crew were injured.

Earlier radio listeners heard a British lightship off the Norfolk coast broadcast an S O S saying she was being bombed and sprayed with machine gun fire. At the time of the broadcast three bombs had been dropped but none hit the ship.

One of Largest Tankers.

A delayed report of another large British tanker sunk by submarine action was relayed from Amsterdam, where the newspaper Shipping was quoted as saying the San Florentino, 12,842 tons, had been torpedoed off Lands End [southwestern England] on Tuesday.

The San Florentino, one of the largest oil tankers in the world, was last reported leaving Galveston, Tex., on Jan. 25 for Havre, France. Before the war she traded between South America and England. If she were destroyed she would be the sixth largest merchant ship loss of the war. She was almost as large as the sunken British liner Athenia.

Meanwhile the 10,516 ton British tanker Charles E. Meyer, which sent out an S O S on Monday night saying it was sinking after an attack by a submarine in the English channel, made a south coast port, it was disclosed yesterday.

The vessel, only the second known to have been attacked in the channel, made port assisted by three tugs and escorted by two warships. She was torpedoed 50 miles southeast of Hastings, according to her S O S.

Lumber Ship Intercepted.

ARUBA, Netherlands West Indies, March 6 (AP).—The 7,369 ton German motorship passenger liner Seattle, which sailed Monday night with a lumber cargo, was reported today to have been intercepted at sea, presumably by British and French warships guarding the western Atlantic against German attempts to run their blockade. Reports received here said the master of the Seattle had sent a message reporting his plight.

The Seattle was operated in the brisk Pacific coast trade with Germany by the Hamburg America line before the war. It made regular visits to San Francisco, Los Angeles, Tacoma, Seattle and Vancouver.

GERMANS TO IMITATE FAMOUS BRITISH BELL IN TELLING OF SINKINGS

LONDON, March 6.—The Lutine bell, rung at Lloyd's for special shipping news, will be imitated over the German radio to tell listeners here of the sinking of British ships.

The announcer substituting for Lord Haw Haw, who recently was disclosed to be William Joyce, a British Fascist, first recounted the history of the famous Lloyd's bell. Then he said:

"Beginning tomorrow you will hear the sound of a ship's bell before each broadcast, each double stroke announcing the loss of a vessel sunk by Germany as a countermeasure against Britain's violation of international law by her blockade."

BRITISH CABINET WINS IN TEST ON JEWISH LAND BAN

Censure Motion Defeated in Commons, 292-129.

LONDON, March 6 (AP).—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's government tonight smashed the first motion of censure it has faced in the house of commons since the war with Germany began a little more than six months ago.

By a vote of 292 to 129 the house upheld the government in its contention that new Palestine land laws impeding Jewish land purchases constitute a wartime necessity to keep disorder from spreading thru most of the strategically placed Arab world.

The majority of 163 against the opposition censure motion was much larger than the 88 vote margin the government obtained on its white paper last May. The white paper declared it was not British policy that "Palestine should become a Jewish state."

Outbreaks in Holy Land.

The land laws were announced suddenly by Colonial Secretary Malcolm MacDonald Feb. 28. Jews thruout Palestine have staged protests against them, and there have been disturbances in several Holy Land cities in which more than 100 Jews have been reported injured, two fatally, and scores of British policemen hurt.

The new regulations prohibit land sales by Arabs to Jews altogether in some areas and strictly regulate them in others. When first announcing them MacDonald said they were necessary to guarantee the rights and position of the Arab population and to provide against an increase in the already large number of landless Arabs.

During his 80 minute reply to the opposition's attacks today, MacDonald said that if the land laws favoring the Arabs should be delayed, Palestine might be "set ablaze again."

"If there were trouble in Palestine," he said, "there would be repercussions in Trans-Jordan, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Egypt, and India. One has got to be frank about these things."

Arabs Growing Suspicious.

The opposition attacked the "shameful act" of announcing the land laws on the moral ground that it betrayed the Jews and abused the trust of the league of nations, which assigned control of Palestine to Britain after the last war but was not invited in this case to approve or disapprove.

The government hit back with the argument that the Arabs were growing restless beneath the surface and becoming suspicious of British promises to protect their interests.

The importance of Palestine in the eastern military picture was emphasized last month by the concentration of Australians there, and the mood of the Arabs would be a vital factor if the European war should spread in that direction.

MacDonald told the house that Palestine had been comparatively peaceful internally in recent months because the Arabs were confident Britain would carry out the land regulations.

"If we now destroy that confidence," he said, "the whole mood of the Arab population in Palestine might well change."

CAROL WILL ASK SACRIFICES FOR A SAFE RUMANIA

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 7, Thursday (AP).—King Carol of Rumania will open a session of parliament today with an appeal to his people to prepare for great sacrifices to defend their frontiers, it was learned on high authority.

The council met after a high authority said Britain had demanded that Rumania give her equal treatment with Germany in Rumanian exports, including oil. Diplomats believed Rumania was closer than ever to the necessity of casting her lot either with the empires or Germany. Rumania has contracted with Germany for 1,600,000 tons of oil in 1940 and economic experts said it would be impossible for her to supply an equal amount to Britain.

NEGROES PUSH 'ANTI-LYNCHING BILL PETITIONS

Petitions addressed to President Roosevelt, asking that he support the antilynching bill now before the senate, were being circulated among thousands of Negroes in Chicago and some suburbs yesterday. The petitions also request the President to make a public statement approving the principles of the bill.

The Chicago Council of Negro organizations, composed of 78 organizations representing 150,000 colored persons, is supervising circulation of the petitions.

Mrs. Irene McCoy Gaines, president of the council, said letters were sent on Feb. 16 to President and Mrs. Roosevelt and to Senators Lucas and Slattery asking that they use their influence in pushing the bill. Senator Lucas replied that he had voted for the bill while a congressman, and would vote for it again. Senator Slattery answered, but took no stand, Mrs. Gaines said. Nothing was heard from the Roosevelts.

FRANCE TO SHOOT 2 RADIO TRAITORS IF IT FINDS THEM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 6.—France's two "radio traitors of Stuttgart" today were condemned to death by a military court, but they will have to be caught before the sentence can be carried out. Tonight the two men, Paul Ferdonnet and Andree Obrecht, were to make their regular propaganda broadcast from the German city.

Three weeks ago the two were summoned "to the sound of trumpet and drum," according to an ancient legal formula, to give themselves up at the Paris military prison, Cherche Midi. The delay expired at noon today.

In view of their failure to appear, no defense was permitted.

BRITISH SEIZE 14 SHIPS CARRYING COAL TO ITALY

100,000 Tons Detained at Contraband Point.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 6.—Great Britain today detained 14 Italian ships laden with 100,000 tons of coal mined in Germany.

Eight of the vessels which were compelled to enter the Downs, contraband control point on the southeast coast, already have been ordered unloaded. Six others arrived too late this evening to permit disposal of their cases.

A 15th Italian ship, out of Dutch harbors like the others, was exempted after it was discovered it had left Holland before the March 1 deadline decreed by the British.

Part of the haste in having the ships unloaded was attributed to Britain's desire to release them as soon as possible and thus avoid any additional strain on British-Italian relations, which have suffered since the coal blockade was ordered.

Germany Helps Italy.

Germany is attempting to relieve the hardship which the coal blockade may impose on Italian industry, it was reported in London. Numerous trainloads are passing daily over the Simplon and St. Gotthard routes in Switzerland.

Britain is drafting a reply to the Italian protest against the blockade. The reply, it was said, will attempt to justify the blockade under international law. Mention may be made of the special treatment so far accorded Italy, compromising Britain's relations with other neutrals.

Britain allowed the passage of Italian ships carrying coal while it was conducting negotiations for a new trade treaty with Premier Mussolini's government. The blockade was imposed when these negotiations collapsed.

Examine Nine American Ships.

LONDON, March 6 (AP).—The ministry of economic warfare announced today that its export exemption committee had been approached by the United States and 17 other nations for permission to import German goods. Each was allowed some goods, the ministry said, but each was refused others.

Nine American ships, the committee disclosed, were examined in British contraband control ports between Feb. 24 and March 2.

R. A. Butler, foreign affairs undersecretary, defended the forced examination of American trans-Atlantic air mail at Bermuda. Speaking in the house of commons, Butler said the examination "was correct and justified by what was discovered in the mails." Bermuda soon will be eliminated as a stop by Clipper planes.

This picture, cabled from London last night soon after its release by the censor, shows the Queen Elizabeth as she left her berth in the Clyde river on Feb. 26 for New York. The $28,750,000 liner, largest ship afloat, made a secret crossing of the Atlantic.

GERMANS SEEK HELP BY PLEDGE TO 'FREE SEAS'

Fight England's Rule 'for All Nations.'

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 6.—Germans are trying to rally new sympathy to her side with a "freedom of the seas" slogan. Nazi spokesmen today asserted Germany is not trying to break England's naval supremacy for her own sake, but "for the sake of the freedom of the seas for all nations which now are suffering under British tyranny."

That any one should think Germany wants to replace England as ruler of the waves meets with Nazi indignation. Germany does not, should she win the war, plan to introduce her own naval rule at sea, according to semiofficial sources.

Talk of Naval Disarmament.

The Germans declared that the question of disarmament must "be extended to naval armament." A semiofficial news service said "the pillars of British naval rule which are not on British territory must be destroyed." These include Gibraltar, Cyprus, Malta, and the Suez canal, "which are becoming more and more unbearable for the nations in the Mediterranean.

"German political circles also pointed to the Bermudas—the rôle of which in England's illegal control of American mails is known to the Americans. In this connection, political circles said England owes a reparations duty toward all nations."

Small neutral powers who continue relations with England and sail where Germans hold they should not were upbraided by the Germans.

Uphold Bombing of Neutrals.

The Germans maintained they have the right to bomb neutral merchant ships when seen in the neighborhood of enemy vessels—whether sailing with them or not. They denied their bombers have machine gunned crews in lifeboats, but admitted that if a neutral merchant vessel fails to obey their signals, they "will make use of weapons."

In connection with the British-Italian quarrel over the interception of Italian colliers, the German press drew attention to the reinforcement of Italian fortifications along the French-Italian border. The Germans said these fortifications were started a few years ago but have been "greatly strengthened during the past months." This fortification system, they added, is of an especially complicated nature because it is laid out at an average height of 6,000 feet.

In regard to the coal problem, many Germans in private conversations said, "If Italy has any spunk she will seize an English ship for every Italian ship seized by the English."

DECLARES SOVIET LIVING STANDARD IS DOWN 33 PCT.

LONDON, March 6 (AP).—The Russian standard of living has fallen about 33 per cent in the last six months and the food supply in Moscow is "worse than at any time since the famine of 1933," Spencer Williams, formerly Moscow representative of the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce, said last night in an interview broadcast to the United States.

[Officials of the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce, in New York, said Williams recently had been recalled and the Moscow office closed. They said Williams was not an officer of the firm and was not authorized to speak for the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce, which is a New York corporation interested in increasing Russian-American trade.]

Back in London after 10 years in the soviet union, Williams said "a general rise of 35 per cent in all food prices was decreed about the middle of January," but that newspaper correspondents were not permitted to send the story abroad.

Halt Campaign Against Us in China, British Ask Japs

LONDON, March 6 (AP).—R. A. Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs, said in the house of commons today that representations had been made to the Japanese authorities for the cessation of what Sir Nairne Stewart Sandeman called an organized campaign of anti-British propaganda in parts of North China.

WELLES WARNS PARIS HE'LL KEEP HITLER SECRETS

Asserts He Shuns Role of Go-Between.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD SIMPLON EXPRESS, EN ROUTE TO PARIS, March 7, Thursday.—As he prepared to shift his quest for a basis of peace from Italy and Germany to the empire nations, Sumner Welles, American undersecretary of state, last night warned France and Britain that he will give them no report of his conversations with the German Fuehrer, Adolf Hitler; the Italian premier, Benito Mussolini, and lesser totalitarian leaders.

"Any views given me in Berlin and Rome," he told a press conference, "were received entirely in confidence and solely for the information of the President of the United States."

Go-Between Rôle Shunned.

Welles thus made it clear to the British and French foreign offices that he does not intend to act as a go-between for the belligerent powers nor even between any of the belligerents and Italy, which is being wooed by both the empires and Germany.

Welles disclosed that he "hopes to have the privilege" of seeing Mussolini again after he has spent three days in Paris and a similar period in London. He probably will sail for America from Genoa, Italy, on March 18.

In his press conference a few hours before he boarded his train for Paris Welles refused to discuss anything but the itinerary of his mission and recalled that he has been charged to report to no one but the President and Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Laughs at Third Term Motive.

He laughed off reports that the true purpose of his expedition is to determine whether the European situation is such as would warrant a third term attempt by Roosevelt. He denied that he plans to call American ministers from the Baltic states into a London conference to consider problems arising out of the Russo-Finnish war.

He would not reveal details of his visits to Paris and London, saying these would be given out by the various embassies. His aids squelched reports that he would accept banquet invitations in either France or England, having refused them in Italy and Germany, and that he would be a guest of King George VI. of England the week-end of March 15 at Windsor castle.

Carries Roosevelt Letter.

In Paris Welles will present a letter of introduction from President Roosevelt to Edouard Daladier, France's premier, foreign minister, and minister of war.

In England he will meet Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and other leaders, including Lord Halifax, the foreign minister.

Welles came aboard his special car, provided for him by the French government, at 11 last night, closing his two days of rest at Lausanne, Switzerland, and the train left shortly after 1 a. m. Joseph P. Kennedy, United States ambassador, who is on his way from Rome to London, is aboard. Also on the train are Welles' two aids, J. Pierpont Moffat and Hartwell Johnson of the state department, and his butler, Riggs.

MEETS FRENCH TODAY

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 6.—Sumner Welles, President Roosevelt's fact finding envoy, will reach Paris at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow.

Officials from the French foreign office and the American embassy will meet Welles when he arrives by train from Lausanne, Switzerland, and police are preparing to cope with a large crowd of curious persons at the station.

The fact that Joseph P. Kennedy, United States ambassador to Britain, is coming to Paris with Welles is perplexing diplomats. Kennedy left America a week after Welles, conferred with William Phillips, the American ambassador in Rome, and then decided to travel to Paris from Lausanne with Welles. The diplomats wonder what this may mean, for it had been generally believed here that Kennedy, if anything, was peevish about Welles' mission.

Daladier Keeps Schedule Open.

The French are prepared to give Welles a warm welcome and Premier Daladier has arranged his schedule so as to be free for contacts during the three days the American is here.

Welles will go first to the Crillon hotel and will begin his three days of talks here at a press conference at 11:45 a. m. at the American embassy.

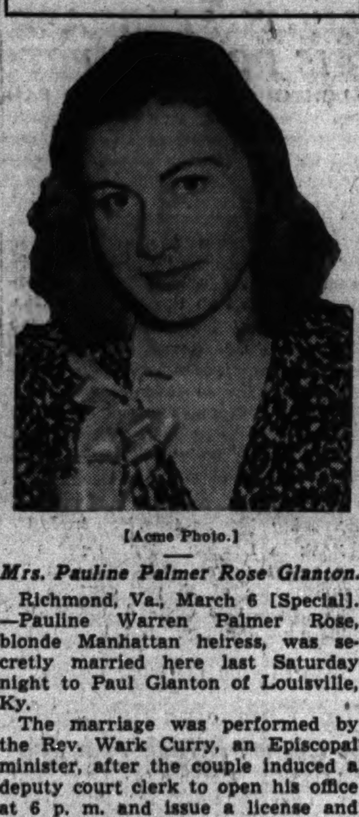
During the afternoon he will be received by President Albert Lebrun and will have talks with Daladier and Champetier de Ribes, undersecretary for foreign affairs. Daladier will give a dinner for Welles tomorrow evening. On Friday and Saturday the American will meet leaders of parliament.

Likely to See Poles.

Welles probably will have a talk on Saturday with Gen. Vladislaw Sikorski, premier of the provisional Polish government established at Angers, and also with August Zaleski, minister of foreign affairs.

The press and political circles have been stressing that Welles' visit has nothing to do with any peace mediation, as they understand it, and indicating that he will not fail to get the impression that neither the French nor the British will be interested in any Rooseveltian effort to stop the war. Inner circles seem to be convinced that Welles' mission is largely for American domestic and political reasons.

Weds 3d Husband



[Acme Photo.]

Mrs. Pauline Palmer Rose Glanton.

Richmond, Va., March 6 [Special].—Pauline Warren Palmer Rose, blonde Manhattan heiress, was secretly married here last Saturday night to Paul Glanton of Louisville, Ky.

The marriage was performed by the Rev. Wark Curry, an Episcopal minister, after the couple induced a deputy court clerk to open his office at 6 p. m. and issue a license and also obtain a minister for them. The bride's parents, Arthur C. Warren and his wife, were the only witnesses.

Polly Warren's first husband was the late Potter d'Orsay Palmer, heir to a Chicago fortune. She divorced him on Dec. 1, 1938, and married William Watts Rose Jr., an author, on March 15, 1939. She divorced him the following December.

LEAVES 60 DESCENDANTS.

Logansport, Ind., March 6 [Special].—Mrs. Emma L. Layman, 77 years old, died today leaving 60 living descendants, including 5 daughters, 5 sons, 27 grandchildren, and 23 great-grandchildren. Mrs. Layman and her husband, William, who also survives, observed the 61st anniversary of their marriage Sept. 15, 1939.

Congress Urged to See Test of New, Powerful Air Bomb

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 6.—Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] and Representative Ralph Church [R., Ill.] introduced in the senate and house today identical resolutions calling for the creation of a joint commission to investigate an aerial bomb, which is said to have unusual destructive power.

The bomb, containing a new liquid oxygen-carbon explosive called glmite, which is said to be many times as powerful as T. N. T., was developed at the Glenn L. Martin company plant in Baltimore by Lester P. Barlow and George B. Holderer.

Barlow proposed, in a statement released by Senator Nye, that the government commission be named to see a demonstration.

Plans Test with Animals.

"If the congress will coöperate in determining the actual facts about this new explosive," Barlow said, "I plan to detonate 1,000 pounds of glmite in a field of living animals staked out from within 200 to 1,000 feet from the point of detonation. I expect to see most of them dead after the test."

Senator Nye said he understood that Barlow intended to use goats for his test. He said he did not know what the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals would do.

Barlow said the new explosive could not be exploded by fire, shock or impact and would be completely safe to handle. It can be exploded only by a high powered detonator, he said. The product, he added, is the cheapest of all explosives, less than one-fifth the cost of T. N. T., and will not deteriorate.

High Command Angry.

Barlow contends that the high commands of the army and navy are prejudiced against him and will not consider his inventions. Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] suggested at a meeting of the military affairs committee in February, 1939, that this prejudice may have been due to the fact that Barlow won a $700,000 judgment against the government in the Court of Claims for the use of his inventions.

Senator Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.], a member of the naval affairs committee, joined Nye in offering the resolution for a joint commission. It would comprise 10 members.

FLUSH KIDNEYS OF POISONS AND STOP GETTING UP NIGHTS

Live a Healthier, Happier, Longer Life

Thousands of men and women wonder why backache bothers them—why they have to visit the bathroom often at night — why flow is scanty and sometimes smarts and burns.

Any one of these symptoms may mean that your kidneys and bladder need attention now before these minor symptoms may develop into serious trouble.

To flush out excess waste poisons and acid from kidneys, soothe your irritated bladder and put more healthy activity into them, get a 35-cent package of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules and take as directed.

This harmless, tried and true medicine gives results—you should feel better in a few days, as this effective diuretic and kidney stimulant drives excess uric acid from the body, which is often the aggravation of joint agony, sciatica and neuritis.

Don't be an EASY MARK and accept a substitute — Ask for Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules — right from Haarlem in Holland. GET GOLD MEDAL—the original —the genuine. Look for the Gold Medal on the box—35 cents.

STUDEBAKER CHAMPION

Beautiful interior and exterior styling by internationally famous Raymond Loewy

The safest, most comfortable, most sure-footed ride of any car of lowest price

Self-stabilizing planar suspension at no extra cost—the strongest, most efficient front-end suspension used in any car

Finest hydraulic shock absorbers... and foot-regulated hydraulic brakes that operate at feather-touch pressure

The same top-quality materials and the same long-lasting workmanship as the Commander and President

• • •

Brilliant performance and flashing acceleration

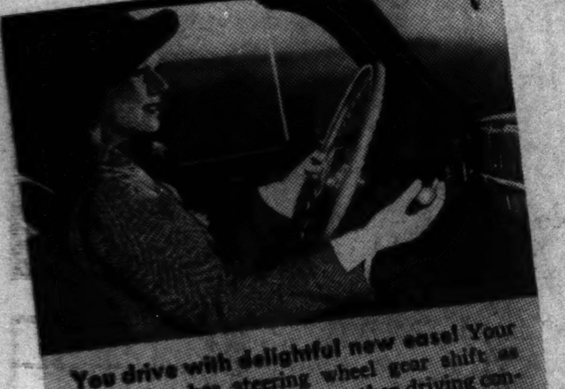
The car that set a record of 29.19 miles per gallon in Gilmore-Yosemite Sweepstakes and 27¼ miles per gallon in coast-to-coast round trip

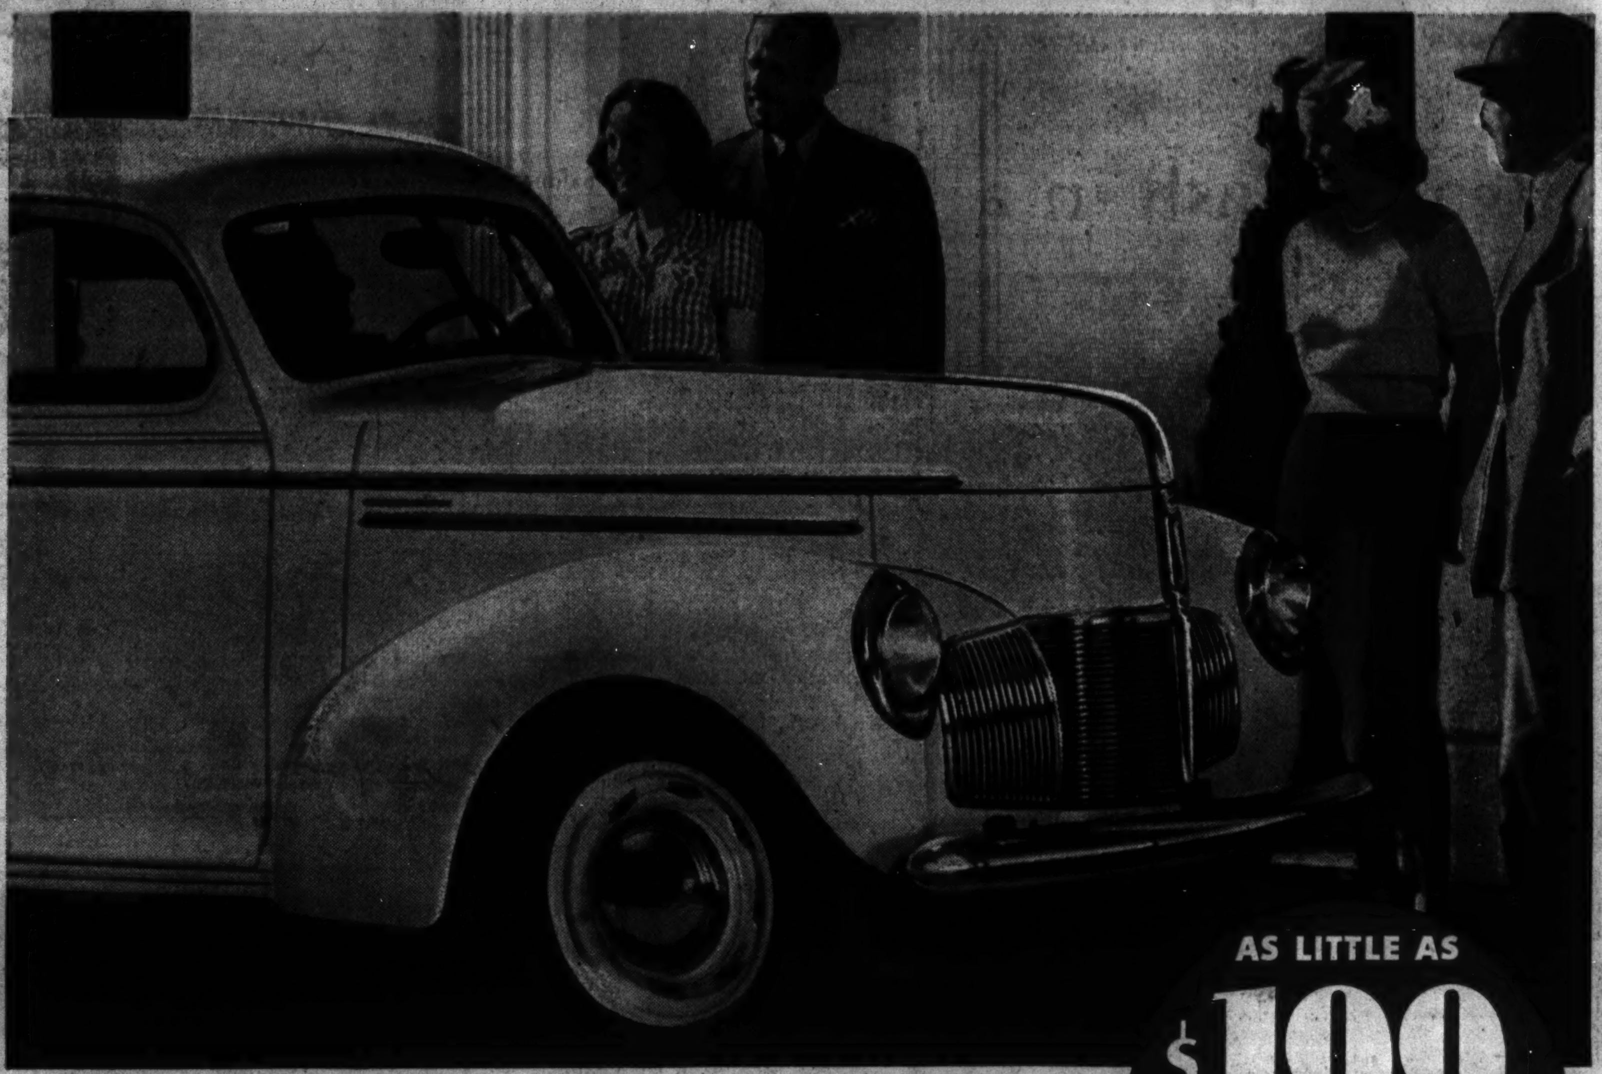
Most restful riding lowest price car! You're comfortable and relaxed on any road or at any speed in a Studebaker Champion. That's because of its exclusive planar independent suspension and finest hydraulic shock absorbers.

You're warmer and safer in a Champion! Its fresh-air Climatizer, available at slight added cost, heats the whole car evenly and keeps frost and vapor off the windshield and windows. Out of the way under the front seat.



You drive with delightful new ease! Your Champion has steering wheel gear shift as standard equipment. All its other driving controls are sound, solid, smoothly responsive. Sealed-beam headlamps increase safety at night.

Built by expert permanent craftsmen! No transients work on your Champion. It's the proud product of 7,700 able Studebaker craftsmen who average 42 years of age and have been with Studebaker an average of 11 years.



AS LITTLE AS
$199 DOWN PLUS TAX
18 MONTHS TO PAY

THAT remarkable money-saving experience of Mr. Floyd Egan, quoted above, is only one of many, equally convincing, that delighted Studebaker Champion owners in Chicago and suburbs are enjoying.

You ought to see just a few of the many thousands of other signed statements, testifying to Studebaker Champion economy in all sections of the country, that Studebaker has on file.

Millions of miles of proof!

Counting only the owners who have taken the trouble to tell us about the Studebaker Champion's standout achievements in thrift, there's already a total of millions of miles of proof of this Champion's astonishing money-saving and structural soundness.

Studebaker Champion owners who are "just average" drivers are enjoying exceptionally high mileage per gallon of gasoline—in many cases, far beyond anything which they expected.

And they are increasing their savings still further, thanks to the remarkable economies in oil consumption and general upkeep which their Studebaker Champions provide, week after week, and month after month.

Why accept anything less?

Remember, it's your money that pays your car expenses. So why accept anything less than the unqualified proof of superior money-saving that this roomy, sure-footed, restful-riding Studebaker Champion gives you?

This time, why not make sure that you get this one and only lowest price car which dares to challenge the world to match its savings on gas, oil, repairs, tires and necessary original equipment?

Even if you only save $2 a month, you put yourself plenty of money ahead by buying this true-blood, guaranteed team mate of Studebaker's Commander and President.

Come in now and drive a beautiful Studebaker Champion. For as little as $199 down, plus tax, it's far and away the best buy in a lowest price car that Chicago ever saw.

Studebaker cars win first three places in Gilmore-Yosemite Sweepstakes

Nothing like this ever happened before. Studebaker's 3 great cars swept the boards in America's greatest economy test under American Automobile Association supervision. With expert drivers and low-extra-cost overdrive, the Champion beat all other largest selling lowest price cars, averaging 29.19 miles per gallon; Commander 24.72 miles per gallon; President 23.4 miles per gallon.

CHICAGO ROARS GREAT OVATION TO ARCHBISHOP

Stritch Takes Civil Power of Diocese.

Yesterday was described by Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch as one of the most important days in the eventful 52 years he has lived. It was the day he was to end a successful 10 years as spiritual leader of the Milwaukee archdiocese and to become the shepherd of the Chicago archdiocese and the nation's largest Catholic flock.

Yet the day began like any other in the great brown mansion that sits high upon its snowy terrace in West Milwaukee. The archbishop slept well, as he usually does, members of his household said.

He arose early and said mass in the stone and glass chapel that is connected with the mansion by a short cloister. Members of his staff and the clergy and religious orders who make their homes there attended.

Says Farewell to Household.

After breakfasting, he completed the last of the Milwaukee archdiocese business. Then he bade farewell to his household and conferred upon them his blessing.

Shortly after noon the sputter of motorcycles in the curving drive announced the arrival of the official delegation from Chicago. A group of bishops and monsignori, headed by Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, was the first to enter and be ushered into the west parlor. Then came Mayor Kelly, accompanied by the archbishop's official bodyguard, headed by Capt. John Howe of Commissioner Allman's office.

Representatives of lay organizations also were present. When all had gathered in the old fashioned room, the archbishop appeared on the stairs. His cossack of reddish purple swept the floor. On his head was a skull cap, also of deep red. The flat crowned episcopal hat he carried in his hands. On his right hand was the episcopal ring.

Laymen Kiss His Ring.

With quick steps he entered the parlor, approaching the semicircle of welcomers. The bishops he embraced. The monsignori dropped to one knee and kissed the ring, as did the laymen, including Mayor Kelly.

The ecclesiastical greetings over, the archbishop stood between Bishop Sheil and Mayor Kelly to hear their first words of welcome. Gathered in the hall outside the parlor were a score of Milwaukee clergymen who accompanied the party to Chicago and will remain for the enthronement today.

At a whispered word from Bishop Sheil, Archbishop Stritch led the party into the hall and was turning toward the front door when a priest whispered to him. He turned back to face a group of nuns who had not been present at his earlier farewell. As the archbishop said goodby two burst into sobs. They continued to weep as the group knelt for the blessing.

Crowd At Railroad Station.

Milwaukee's downtown streets were lined with crowds but the greatest crush was in the little park that fronts the railroad station. Taut ropes formed a passageway to the door. Uniformed R. O. T. C. boys with rifles attempted to keep order, but the crowd broke their ranks. A band filled the station with a dull booming.

Dwarfed by his bulky, six foot bodyguards, the little archbishop passed down the narrow lane. He waved his hand and smiled, right and left. Many in the crowd reached out and touched his robe as he passed.

On the rear platform of his private car the archbishop posed for photographers, then came down and was greeted by the remaining members of the aldermanic committee. Milwaukeeans surged about the car to call out good-bys, ignoring the frantic shouts of the police who were trying to clear an adjacent crossing.

At many towns along the route there were crowds gathered to wave their hats as the long yellow trains of the Milwaukee road swept past at 85 miles an hour. At Techny the black robed priests and novitiates of the Society of the Blessed Word, a Catholic missionary order, stood in solemn ranks, their heads bare.

When the trains stopped in the Union station at 2:35 p. m. the clamor of a great throng could be heard. Packed so closely together there was no room to move, the 12,000 welcomers filled every inch of the great central chamber and overflowed into the train sheds.

A square in the center had been reserved for the clergy. They soon filled it, forming an island of black near the center of the sea of people. There were other islands. The khaki of R. O. T. C. and military school students. The purple and blue of bandsmen. Colorful robes of choral groups. One island was of white—the headdresses of an order of nuns. And all about these islands was the sea of faces.

On a platform high above the east entrance of the station Mayor Kelly, Bishop Sheil, and the committee waited. When the vanguard of police entered from the train shed blue clad trumpeters of the Catholic Youth organization sounded a fanfare. A band struck up, but only the opening notes were heard.

Applause Turns Into Roar.

The archbishop had entered. A ripple of applause that began among those nearest the door spread thruout the vaulted room until it was a roar. During the minute and a half Archbishop Stritch was climbing the long stairs it continued.

Mayor Kelly then welcomed the new archbishop to Chicago and presented to him a scroll—the city council's official welcome.

"We know no religion on such an occasion as this," said the mayor. "We know only Americanism. This is Chicago where all races, creeds, and colors are welcome. I speak not as a Catholic but as one who is thrilled to welcome such a man as Archbishop Stritch. I am glad we live in a land where we can all worship as we wish and live as we wish. We all wish Archbishop Stritch godspeed, good health, and success."

On behalf of the city's youth, John Felton, president of the Chicago Interstudent Catholic Action [CISCA], greeted the new spiritual leader of the archdiocese, recalling his work among and for youth in Milwaukee and in Toledo. One of the features of the program was the singing of "Ave Maria" by a choral group of colored boys and girls from St. Elizabeth's High school.

Bishop Extends Welcome.

Bishop Sheil, speaking for the city's youth and its Catholics, then extended his welcome and presented the archbishop, who twice had to hold up his hands for silence before the applause died away. As he began to speak it was observed that the microphone was almost a foot too high for him. Mayor Kelly adjusted it.

"This greeting of such proportions and such exquisite courtesy always will remain with me," said Archbishop Stritch. "Chicago is a great center of the modern world. It has charm and individuality. To be a citizen of Chicago is to me a great honor. To have opportunity to contribute to its future is a rare privilege.

"My purposes here will be three: Religion, morality, and education. Arraigned against these three principles here embodied are persons who would have us rebuild our democracy upon the shifting sands of materialism and inhumanism.

"We must labor together to fix religion, morality and education as an inseparable trinity in the souls of this great metropolis. Today you have shown me the souls of the flock that has been committed to my care and beautiful is the sight to behold. May I have the vigor and wisdom to shepherd this flock.

"I take this entire diocese to my heart, but I give youth a special place. American youth is the Christian answer to many of the things that are being done by youth and in the name of youth in foreign lands. Let American youth give an answer to those forces that are trying in this country to build institutions that can never stand."

When the archbishop had finished speaking the official party moved out thru the east entrance, entering 25 automobiles for the parade thru downtown streets to the cathedral. Mayor Kelly and the Rt. Rev. Patrick J. Hayes, of Mundelein, rode in the car with Archbishop Stritch.

The crowds nearest the station were made up mainly of Catholic school children—45,000 of them. Police estimated that 300,000 other persons lined the route. The cars moved swiftly thru the streets, escorted by city and state motorcycle police and at 3:35 p. m. reached Holy Name. There the archbishop was welcomed by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph P. Morrison, rector, and his assistants.

Sheil Surrenders Power.

Inside Bishop Sheil pronounced the ecclesiastical welcome to the archbishop, who responded in much the same words as he had used at the station. Then Bishop Sheil surrendered the administrative power he has held since the cardinal's death.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, the archbishop passed from the cathedral into the rectory where he was awaited by Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court, who swore him in as trustee of the corporation sole which is known as the Catholic Bishop of Chicago.

This placed into the hands of Archbishop Stritch the administration of the property of the Catholic church in Chicago so long as he may remain in office. With the civil ceremony completed, he was escorted to the archiepiscopal residence at 1555 North State parkway to remain until the start of today's enthronement rites.

W-G-N TO BROADCAST 2 HOURS OF STRITCH INDUCTION CEREMONY

A two hour broadcast of the ceremonies in connection with the installation of Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch as successor to the late Cardinal Mundelein in the Roman Catholic archbishopric of Chicago will be aired thru W-G-N and the coast to coast network of the Mutual Broadcasting system today. The broadcast, from Holy Name cathedral, will run from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Rev. E. V. Dailey.

The broadcast will be conducted by the Rev. Edward V. Dailey, assistant at Holy Name cathedral and an editorial writer for the New World, a Catholic journal. Quin Ryan will be the announcer.

The first part of the broadcast will be devoted to reading of three papal bulls. Then will follow sermons by the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, bishop-administrator of the Chicago archdiocese, and the Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States. The solemn pontifical high mass, with the Most Rev. James A. Griffin, bishop of Springfield, as celebrant, will be broadcast starting at approximately 11:45 a. m. The mass will be accompanied by the Holy Name cathedral symphony orchestra and the cathedral choristers under the direction of Dr. Edwin V. Hoover, archdiocese director of music.

Father Dailey gave the commentary on the funeral mass for Cardinal Mundelein last Oct. 6.

TWELVE RELATIVES OF NEW ARCHBISHOP AT WELCOME FETE

Twelve members of the family of Archbishop Stritch and the physician who attended the archbishop at his birth 52 years ago were among a delegation of more than 50 Tennesseeans who attended the welcoming ceremonies yesterday for Chicago's new archbishop.

The physician, Dr. R. O. Tucker, 76 years old, of Nashville, was here by personal invitation of the archbishop.

The members of the archbishop's family were Thomas J. Stritch, a brother; his wife, and their daughter, Rita, of Nashville; Miss Mayme Stritch, Nashville, a sister; Eugene L. Stritch, a brother, and his wife, of Nashville; R. E. Stritch, a brother; his wife, and their daughter, Rita, of Memphis; Thomas J. Stritch, a nephew, associate professor of English at Notre Dame university, South Bend, Ind.; R. E. Stritch Jr., Memphis, a student at Notre Dame, nephew of the archbishop, and Morris Stritch, a student for the priesthood at St. Thomas seminary, Denver, Colo., also a nephew.

Archduke Otto of Austria to Be White House Guest

New York, March 6 (AP).—Archduke Otto von Hapsburg, pretender to the nonexistent throne of Austria, said today he had been invited by President Roosevelt to a tea at the White House Friday. He and his brother, Archduke Felix, who has been lecturing in this country, plan to leave tomorrow for Washington. Otto, 27 years old, who came to this country two days ago, said he would be happy if he had the moral support of the United States in favor of his proposed postwar federation of Danubian states.

FAMOUS DIRECTIONS TO RELIEVE PAINFUL SYMPTOMS OF COLDS FAST

Note Easy Steps in Pictures ...Be Sure to get quick-acting BAYER Aspirin

1. To relieve headache, body discomfort and aches, take 2 Bayer Aspirin Tablets and drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

2. For sore throat from cold, dissolve 3 Bayer Aspirin Tablets in 1/3 glass of water and gargle. Pain, rawness are eased in a short time.

3. Check temperature. If you have a fever and temperature does not go down — if throat pain is not quickly relieved, call your doctor.

Sore throat from colds also eased in a hurry! No strong medicines to upset system.

Don't wait if you even suspect you are catching a cold. At the first sign, faithfully follow the directions in the pictures above—the simplest and among the most effective methods known to modern science.

See Your Doctor. Even though he may wholeheartedly approve using Bayer Aspirin to relieve painful symptoms, you should not fail to see your family physician, because many colds may lead to serious consequences. Largely with medical approval, this simple scientific method of relief has taken the place of old-fashioned "shot-gun" medicine for colds, which may upset the system, or have little or no effect. Literally millions have adopted it.

Try this way. You will say it is unequalled, we are sure. When you buy, however, be sure you are not given a substitute for the fast-acting Bayer product you want. Ask for Bayer Aspirin by the full name, not for just "aspirin". And see that you get it.

Why Bayer Aspirin Starts to Work So Fast
Drop a genuine Bayer Aspirin Tablet in water. Almost instantly it starts to disintegrate—is ready to go to work. Make this test, and see for yourself why Bayer Aspirin acts so quickly!

CHURCH TO SEAT NEW ARCHBISHOP ON THRONE TODAY

Thousand Year Old Rites Will Be Used.

egate, escorting him to the new archbishop's throne of green and gold on the gospel or north side of the altar.

Read Three Papal Bulls.

At this point the service will be taken over by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. George J. Casey, chancellor of the archdiocese, reading the three apostolic letters—known as papal bulls—from Rome. One of them is to the priests and people of the diocese, another to the suffragan bishops in the Chicago province, and a third to Archbishop Stritch. The reading will be first in Latin, then in English.

[Papal bull is a term derived from a Latin word meaning seal. As affixed to papal edicts the seal bears on one side the faces of St. Peter and St. Paul and on the other the name of the pope using it. Our word bulletin is a diminutive of the Latin word bull, coming down thru the French and meaning a condensed statement.]

After the reading Archbishop Cicognani will escort Archbishop Stritch, invested in his robes of office, to the green and gold throne. The papal delegate will occupy the white throne on the south side of the altar. The clergy then will pass before the new spiritual leader, making obeisance by kneeling to kiss his official ring.

When this part of the service is ended today Bishop Sheil will welcome his superior. Archbishop Cicognani will convey apostolic felicitations and Archbishop Stritch will respond.

Pontifical High Mass.

Sealing the enthronement there then will be performed the church's holiest act—the solemn pontifical high mass, with its blazing lights and candles, its fragrant incense, and stirring music. The mass will be offered by the Most Rev. James Griffin, bishop of Springfield, who was a classmate of Archbishop Stritch at the North American college in Rome.

It will be past 1 p. m. when the mass is concluded. At 1:30 p. m. the new archbishop and the high clergy who are here to honor him will sit down to a banquet in the Drake hotel.

Attending the enthronement and mass will be Mayor Kelly and a city council committee. Special police details have been assigned to handle the crowds about the cathedral.

Urge Drivers to Avoid Avenue.

Capt. David Flynn, chief of the traffic detail, warned motorists yesterday that between 1 and 4:30 p. m. there will be much pedestrian traffic across Michigan avenue between the cathedral and the Drake. He urged that drivers avoid the avenue from Ohio to Oak street, and use the Outer drive to avoid delays.

A civic reception for the new archbishop will be held Sunday evening in the Auditorium theater, Congress street and Wabash avenue. In this historic theater all of Chicago's archbishops have been welcomed, beginning with the Most Rev. Patrick A. Feehan, who was appointed by Pope Leo XIII. in 1880.

Unpaid Taxes in County Slightly Below Year Ago

County Treasurer John Toman reported yesterday that of $206,245,973 extended in taxes in 1938, a total of $39,553,258 or 19.17 per cent was delinquent on Feb. 29. The delinquencies included $18,888,711, or 12.83 per cent of the real estate extensions, and $20,176,935, or 40.34 per cent, of the personal property extensions. A year ago 22.48 per cent of the 1937 taxes remained uncollected.

Pope Will Bestow Pallium on New Archbishops Today

VATICAN CITY, March 6 (AP).—Pope Pius will hold a secret consistory tomorrow for bestowal of the pallium, woolen band worn by archbishops, on those created since the last consistory in December. Among those to receive the vestment are Samuel A. Stritch, archbishop of Chicago, and Moses Kiley, archbishop of Milwaukee. Representatives will receive the pallium on behalf of these two.

LOST AIR LINER FOUND IN JUNGLE; 2 HURT; 10 SAFE

MEXICO CITY, March 6 (AP).—A pilot telephoned tonight from the jungles of Vera Cruz state that all 12 persons on a trimotored Mexican airliner escaped death when it crashed 30 miles northwest of Minatitlan. Two were injured. The passengers and the crew, all Mexicans, were trying to get horses to take them over the jungle trails to Minatitlan, the pilot reported. Because the two injured persons were able to travel it was believed their injuries were not serious. The plane disappeared yesterday and was located today by aerial searchers.

NEIGHBORS FLOCK TO AID TWO WHO FOUGHT MILK TAX

Seven thousand signatures had been obtained yesterday on petitions of Du Page county neighbors that clemency be given John Player and his brother, Robert. The Players, Warrenville dairymen, refused to pay the state sales tax, which they contend is unconstitutional as applied to milk. The state department of finance obtained convictions. John was sent to jail at Springfield for 90 days and fined $1,000. Robert was fined $500.

The clemency petitions are addressed to Gov. Horner and Judge L. E. Stone of the Sangamon county Circuit court at Springfield. Judge Stone set the punishment after a jury had found the Players guilty. The trial was held at Springfield because that is where tax collections are made.

John Player is a graduate of the University of Illinois, and a trustee of the Wheaton Community High school and Warrenville school boards.

Does Your Breath Shout 'FALSE TEETH'?
Stera-Kleen Prevents False Teeth Odor—Cleans Without Brushing
"False teeth odor" is the curse of denture wearers. Ordinary brushing or antiseptics often will not remove scum and food particles that collect on your plate or bridge. This uncleanliness gives off the most offensive of breath odors—you do not know if you have it—but others do.
Prevent this odor by using STERA-KLEEN and make sure of absolute cleanliness. STERA-KLEEN dissolves scum and food particles from the tiny crevices of your plate that brushing does not reach. It is safe—economical—easy to use.
Stir a little STERA-KLEEN in water, put in your plate or bridge for a few minutes. Rinse, and it is ready for use without brushing. Daily use prevents "false teeth odor." Get STERA-KLEEN today. Only 30¢ a package at any drug store.

FREEDOM TO ADVERTISE.

In his recent address before the Union League club here, Congressman Bruce Barton called attention to another of the efforts of the administration to deprive the American people of the freedom of the press.

A bill to appropriate $88,000 for an inquiry by the Federal Trade commission into the methods and costs of distribution has already passed the house. The commission asked for the money on the promise that the inquiry would lead to "the elimination of certain expensive methods and benefit both producers and consumers."

This, as Mr. Barton said, sounds well-intentioned and harmless, but he called attention to a subsequent paragraph in which the commission says:

"The place of advertising in distribution, especially national advertising, is a matter of great importance and general interest. Is it costing the consumer too much for the service it renders? Does it sometimes render the consumer a disservice? The proposed inquiry will seek to answer these and similar questions."

This, too, sounds harmless but Mr. Barton has no doubt about the real purpose of the inquiry.

"There are men in the Federal Trade commission and the department of agriculture," he told his audience, "who want to destroy national advertising. They want to destroy it because national advertising supports the free American press and the free American radio. And these New Dealers will not be satisfied until they clamp down their burocratic controls over the press and the radio. If they can destroy national advertising they know they will end the independence of the press and radio."

The record of the New Deal from the start supports this interpretation, and reinforces the warning. Under NRA the administration sought to license the press as the radio is already licensed. In the automobile finance case, the department of justice wrote into a consent decree a regulation of advertising which, the assistant attorney general himself admitted, prohibited the companies from doing something which was entirely lawful. In numerous bills, the New Dealers have attempted to gain authority to censor various kinds of advertising. Only the other day a number of government departments coöperated in the preparation of an exhibit housed in the National Museum in Washington, an exhibit which sought to present advertising as an evil.

The purpose of these maneuvers has been stated by Mr. Barton. The regulation of advertising desired by the New Deal is contrary to the letter and the spirit of the constitution. The right to employ the press, free of all censorship, is not a right of newspaper publishers alone. It is a right possessed by every citizen. An advertiser may be punished for fraud if he commits it but, if the first amendment means anything, the government may not tell him in advance what he may print and what he may not.

Those who wish to censor advertising point to occasional evils which result from freedom of expression in this field. They do not point to the benefits. As Mr. Barton well said, if it were not for the mass consumption created by advertising, a can of soup would cost 25 cents and an electric light bulb twice as much. Automobiles would cost two or three times their present price.

No one in his senses supposes that every published thought on a political question results invariably in promoting the public good. Nevertheless, we let our Huey Longs and our Dr. Townsends say what they want to say tho the damage they can work, if they gain a great following, is beyond calculation. We let them write and speak, free of censorship, because we know from history that the harm they are likely to do is negligible compared with the harm which will come of suppressing utterances.

Precisely the same point of view should govern in the matter of advertising. Its benefits are manifold; its dangers are relatively minor. More especially, if the people of this country permit censorship of advertising, they will have opened the door wide to other forms of censorship and we shall find ourselves just another totalitarian country.

THE MUNICIPAL COURT, AGAIN.

Another bail bond scandal in the Municipal court has brought an admission from John J. Sonsteby, chief justice of the court, that its judges are again playing fast and loose with the law.

The public thought the straw bond racket had been cleaned up in this state and, if the laws enacted to clean it up had been observed, it probably would have been. No individual or corporation, under the law, can write bail bonds for profit without obtaining a license from the state insurance department. Before such a license can issue, the prospective bondsman must go into court and get a certificate of good character.

An application for such a certificate was made by the Victory Bonding company. One of the partners in the concern is Julius Benvenuti, who might get Al Capone as a character witness. He has been notorious for years as a gambler and proprietor of bootleg dives. Judge Michael L. McKinley properly denied a certificate to Benvenuti's company last July.

Recently the state's attorney's office made known that other partners in the Victory company, altho unlicensed, have written 1,600 bonds in the Municipal court since last Aug. 1. Chief Justice Sonsteby then disclosed that judges in his court have made a practice, not of requiring a bondsman to get a license before he could operate in the court, but of letting him operate until the state insurance department gave notice that the bondsman was unlicensed. Such procedure obviously defeats the purpose for which the license law was enacted.

The public's patience has long been exhausted by the corruption and maladministration in the Municipal court. The voters have a chance to do something about it in the fall elections, when eleven of the twelve sitting judges whose terms expire will probably be candidates for reëlection.

Some of these judges are plainly unfit. Others have records of individual performance ranging from good to fair. These latter, however, should be called to account not only for their own performance on the bench but for their failure to restrain their unfit associates and their chief justice from disgracing the court in administrative matters.

WHAT'S SILLY?

Mr. Roosevelt says that the resolution to authorize and request him to begin negotiations for the transfer of the British islands in American waters is silly, altho earlier he said that the defense of the Canal Zone in American communications must have longer range. He didn't think it was silly that Great Britain demanded a share of the tiny Pacific islands of Canton and Enderbury when America decided to occupy them. He consented to joint possession and expressed his delight to go in partnership with his majesty's government.

The alertness with which that government cast its eye upon these specks in a mighty ocean when it perceived that Uncle Sam was about to move in was full of meaning and suggestion. The empire never misses a bet. It never overlooks the main chance; it never passes up anything it can get. Centuries are back of this and if Mr. Roosevelt thinks it is silly, he is just the sort of American President the British would love to meet. The king and queen did not visit America in vain.

If Mr. Roosevelt or another President were to see the British and French American possessions slipping from hands which had become too weak to hold them, he would, it may be assumed, send a naval force to seize them, regardless of what the new owner would say or do about it. The real silliness would be to manage in such a fashion a matter which might have been accomplished peaceably—to do by force what might have been done without it. Mr. Roosevelt, not for the first time, is taking a sensitively English view of an American problem.

If it is silly to acquire land by purchase the Louisiana purchase was silly and that sort of silliness continued for various acquisitions up to the purchase of the Virgin Islands.

THE NEW MARITIME FOLLY.

An examination of the plans and specifications of the Maritime commission's third series of standardized cargo vessels discovers some odd fish. These vessels have an over-all length of about 413 feet and a gross tonnage of about 5,000. They are divided by seven water-tight bulkheads, so that any one compartment can be opened to the sea without the probability of the loss of the vessel. Their normal fuel tanks are of sufficient capacity to give them a 10,000 mile cruising radius at 14 knots. The double bottom and deep tanks which normally would be used for water ballast are piped for fuel oil, which, if used, will increase the cruising radius to around 20,000 nautical miles.

These specifications clearly indicate that the vessels are to be used primarily as naval auxiliaries. As successful commercial cargo carriers they will be flat failures because they cannot compete with vessels constructed with large holds which are made possible if the idea of numerous water-tight compartments as a protection against torpedoes and mines is eliminated. The profit to be made in the operation of a cargo vessel depends in a large measure on the efficiency and speed with which it may be loaded and unloaded. Narrow hatches and small holds make profitable operation impossible. The management will be in luck if it clears operating expenses.

The attempt to combine a naval design for wartime service with that of a peacetime merchantman is an economic folly and a sheer waste of money.

SUGGESTING SNAILS.

[Baltimore Evening Sun.]

The Irish have long been a thorn in England's flesh, and now it appears that an Irishman would afflict the English with a diet of snails, sea gulls, and seaweed. The man is Prof. L. Renouf. His name sounds more Gallic than Gaelic; however, a London dispatch describes him as a "visiting Irish pundit from Cork university," and he probably is following in the footsteps of another Irish product, Oliver St. John Gogarty. True, he proposes those snails, etc., as "a wartime necessity for the British appetite"—but the fact that he proposes snails at all will give a wide section of the British public an unpleasant sensation.

Thus far the British have turned their culinary attention toward finding substitutes for their wonted diet, rather than to go a-wandering off after strange fare. One of their major projects was "macon," a product, obtained from mutton to replace bacon; but this has not turned out well. The British newspapers have been full of recipes for homemade substitutes for normal Christian diet—how to make sausages out of oatmeal, and so on—but we haven't yet seen a suggestion from a Briton that the snail [ugh!] be utilized in any fashion.

They order things differently in France. There the snail is a delicacy, and when served in Burgundy style, hissing hot on the silver plate, they're wonderfully appetizing. Certainly a half dozen snails look far more tempting than a half dozen raw living oysters, and the man who first ate an oyster must have been a much braver man than he who first ate a roasted snail. The French appreciate the snail. In Normandy, Burgundy, and other regions, snails are raised in herds. We say herds advisedly because, a few years ago, when a number of snails wandered off a Norman snail ranch to graze on a nearby pasture, and the owner of that pasture penned them up and began cooking them, the late owner took the case to court, at which time a ruling was handed down that snails are "horned cattle."

We fear, however, that the old nursery rhyme about "rails and snails and puppy-dog tails" very faithfully reflects the English attitude toward these succulent creatures. To the English they're "slugs"—and only an Irishman would think of asking the English to eat them.

AMONG THE CLIFF DWELLERS.

The late Hamlin Garland, who ended his distinguished literary career in Hollywood, ripe in years, was not "the organizer" of the Cliff Dwellers' club of Chicago, as stated in press dispatches. Clubs usually have a group of founders, and so it was with the Cliff Dwellers. Mr. Garland was prominent in that group; the club was one of his major social interests; and he was its first president, holding office for a number of years.

This club, founded for "the promotion of literature and art" [a Garland touch, there, in the precedence of literature] bore the name of the Attic club when its articles of incorporation were filed on Aug. 13, 1907. Its incorporators were: Hamlin Garland, Hobart C. Chatfield-Taylor, Ralph Clarkson, Clarence Dickinson, Alfred H. Granger, Charles L. Hutchinson, Allen B. Pond, Irving K. Pond, Howard Shaw, Lorado Taft, and Frederick C. Bartlett. These men also formed the first board of directors.

The club's name was changed from the Attic to the Cliff Dwellers on April 17, 1909. The latter title, altho its implications are obvious, has caused more visiting New Yorkers and Englishmen to ask "Why?" than any other feature of the Chicago landscape.—So you don't know, either? Well, then:

Skyscrapers—they look like cliffs—Chicagoans dwell in them, for a part of each working day. And they may remind you of the ancient Indians of the southwest, who built communal dwellings in canyons and on mesas, and were called cliff dwellers.

Incidentally, in 1893, Henry B. Fuller, a Chicago writer, had published a book called "The Cliff Dwellers." He was a queer, shy soul, and because he was often asked if the club hadn't borrowed its name from his book, he refused to become a member, altho many of his best friends were in the circle.

FIRST SIGNS OF SPRING.

The sun is bright, the air is soft and clear;
The gushing sluice sounds like a waterfall;
The first returning robins now appear
The crocuses against the warm south wall
And tulip spears are fully one inch tall;
All signs give proof that Spring is drawing near.
Long was the Winter, gloomy, sad and cold;
Small joy was to be found in outdoor scene;
The fireside's glow did rather draw and hold
Those who like not the blasts severe and keen.
How gladly shall we now see blooms unfold,

The Supermen of Dot and Dash Land.

Leonard Ormerod's discussion in your column [Feb. 26] of the use of Phillips' code along with the Morse code by telegraphers falls short of doing justice to the profession. In addition to these two codes an operator also has to translate "boxcar code," or the code that an operator who isn't thoroly familiar with Phillips' code invents as he goes along. In this classification is the use of the letter "e." When used alone on a southern wire it is translated as "a posse was hastily formed and it is expected the criminal soon will be apprehended, but due to the angry mood of the citizens, it is feared they will take the law into their own hands."

An operator in the New Orleans bureau of the Associated Press was said to have "swallowed the code book" and no one could "stump" him. About the closest call he ever had was the night he received ". . . The vkm ws bvd to hvb robaf." He translated, "The victim was believed to have been . . ." which is proper Phillips code, but that still left him with the "robaf." He scratched his head an instant and finished out the sentence with "run over by a flivver."

Also, while receiving the three codes the telegrapher is usually expected to carry on a conversation with the copy boy and the editor. M. Julep.

An Unprinted First Page Story.

To supplement your bridge lifting story [Feb. 28]:

A few weeks ago a little white and woolly mongrel dog was lifted on the Michigan avenue bridge. His plight was not observed until it was too late to lower the bridge and save him. So he saved himself! He clung, somehow or other, to a pitted patch of pavement at the very top of the north half of the bridge.

When the bridge was lowered to a safe angle, he turned and trotted down. A policeman stood at the gap to help him across, but he leaped over it briskly and headed north on a run. The 40 or 50 people who had watched him gave a cheer. The dog turned and wagged his tail in recognition of their sympathy. Eleanor Howard.

SONNET TO A DICTATOR.

(Napoleon Bonaparte, 1769-1821.)

In every chaos there are solid stones
Which form invisibly a rugged stair,
Safe footing when fair Fortune chaperones
Her favorite foundling and conducts him there.
But Fortune in the hurly-burly world
Makes not her choice in unconsidered haste;
She picks a will of iron with edges knurled,
A ready brain, a conscience not too chaste.
And at such epochs fame comes not by stealth,
Despite its seeming disregard of rules—
In tranquil eras virtues win their wealth,
But tumult needs a rod to govern fools.
His greatness shows not that he rose so high,
But that the French had sunken desperately.

Tree Murderers at Large Again.

The tree murderers are at it again; beautiful, stalwart trees are being murdered again on the north side in large numbers. Their branches, which shaded hot sidewalks of last summer, are down on the ground now, hewed off by the torturers, and soon the trunks will be sawed off to the ground. Only to the ground, tho; none of these tree murderers dig up the roots to see if the alleged damage has been done to sewers or water pipes in the earth beneath.

INFLAMMATION OF THE LIVER.

THE story is told of the old-time country schoolhouse debate on the question: "Which is more essential—air or water?" Each team upheld its side of the controversy with great vigor. When the audience was asked to decide the matter, the vote was unanimous that both were indispensable.

Likewise, inquiry as to which organ is more important would bring us to about the same conclusion. None is superfluous. Even the tonsils are supposed to set up barriers against infection, altho they often fail to do so. Perhaps one day we will learn that the appendix has some task to perform.

As with many other vital parts, the liver is subject to inflammation. The condition may appear as the result of a general acute infection accompanied by a high temperature, or the gall bladder may communicate its troubles to this—the largest gland in the body. Next comes absorption from the intestines. The hepatic organ may be looked upon as a huge straining device. Into its hopper there is poured everything that comes from the digestive tract—all that the absorbing processes consider worth keeping. That which is accepted as suitable for nutriment is dispatched via a large vein into the main conduit that conveys it to the heart. Despite these precautions, however, poisons, toxins, and deleterious chemicals of all sorts may find their way to the body's sieve. For example, cinchophen, arsenic containing drugs, chloroform, and many other compounds may prove destructive to its selective ability.

Fortunately, however, this organ can and will recover from an onslaught or two without much permanent impairment. But should insult be piled upon insult we need not wonder when rebellion occurs—with true signs of degeneration.

What does the structure do besides officiating as a food conditioner? It has a prominent rôle in the metabolism of sugar. Serving as a reservoir, it equalizes the quantity of glucose in the blood. If this power is not exercised we can understand why weakness may follow because insufficient nourishment is available to the tissues. Every now and then we will find an excess of glucose in the circulation. This situation may arise because the supervisory action of the liver is disturbed. If allowed to persist prostration—preceded by marked fatigue—will ensue. The effect is just as tho one had been given too large a dose of insulin or had been starved.

Again, should the cells be damaged because of the presence of arsenic, the level of chlorides in the circulating fluid may be affected seriously. In addition, there are many other duties—which explains why we should protect its functions with care—certainly not subject them to abuse.

One of the first symptoms of derangement is jaundice, but sometimes this will not be manifest in the skin, but will be detected only when the blood is checked to determine the proportion of the brownish material known as bilirubin. If we find a high percentage we may know—even tho the epidermis is not discolored—that the liver is in difficulty.

Strangely enough, sugar is a powerful antidote against poisoning in this depot, and it is frequently necessary to oblige these patients [in the absence of diabetes] to ingest large quantities. Administering a solution of glucose directly into a vein is helpful in many types of acute inflammation. Another useful substance is vitamin B [B complex] and occasionally a liver extract—injected into the muscles—will restore balance to an otherwise disordered organ.

Emphasis must be placed upon early treatment; otherwise repair may not be possible. The least we can do is to guard against abnormal putrefaction within the alimentary tube and avoid those toxic drugs and chemicals which are likely to cause injury.

DISLIKES VEGETABLES.

K. B. writes: I dislike most vegetables intensely. Would it be all right to substitute fruits?

REPLY.

Every one needs a certain amount of cellulose [fiber]. Fruits will help. Perhaps you can employ vegetable soups.

OVERDOSAGE.

J. M. M. writes: In what way may viosterol be harmful?

REPLY.

Probably not dangerous at all, altho too much D may lead to the deposit of lime where it is not needed.

BILIOUS BRUNETTES.

I. H. writes: Are brunettes prone to billiousness, making it necessary for them to dose with liver pills regularly?

REPLY.

No—thank goodness. Even "dizzy" blondes are not victims of vertigo.

A BLOCKED CONDUIT.

Mrs. A. M. writes: What is a kink in the kidney? Is it serious?

REPLY.

You refer to a ureter. There are two—one from each kidney leading to the bladder. Via these conduits urine passes into the bladder. A twist or a kink may occur—interfering with function. The usual cause is some abnormal position in the secreting organ itself. Great pain may ensue and—unless relieved—the structure will be injured.

NOT DISHONORABLE.

In a recent article on psoriasis the disease was referred to as "ancient and dishonorable." This paraphrase of "ancient and honorable" was misunderstood by some readers, one of whom suggested that the adjective "accursed" would have been preferable. I am in full agreement. To correct an erroneous inference it may be stated categorically that no dishonor accrues to the victim.

TODAY IN HISTORY

March 7, 1802.

Sir Edwin Henry Landseer, one of the world's greatest painters of animals, born. As a small child he drew pictures of dogs and cats, and a little later continued his studies of anatomy thru dissection. TRAINING THE BRIDE.

Chicago, March 5.—Three years ago I was employed as an office girl in one of Chicago's leading concerns. Six months before I was to be married I was laid off. After two months of hunting and searching I was forced to take a job doing housework. I'll never forget how much I regretted it.

I knew nothing about housework and did just about everything wrong, and was scolded accordingly. However, in two months I knew how to do everything fairly well, including cooking and child raising. I quit at the end of three months to make arrangements for my wedding, etc.

Now I'm so grateful that I spent those three months doing housework, for as a result my own home is now up to par and I am happy, for I know what to expect. When my child was born I knew how to bathe and care for it. I know definitely that if I had not learned to cook as I did my husband and I would have had many quarrels and probably separations.

So I advise all girls planning on marriage to do something similar. They will never regret it. The result—happy marriages! FRAN.

CENSORING THE MAILS.

Chicago, March 4.—I address this letter to Mr. C. M. Wickens, a recent contributor to this column, whose correspondence contained some remarks which I believe are open to discussion.

This gentleman urged the censoring, by American officials, of mail destined to the residents of Germany. He gave as his reasons for this action the presence of large sums of currency in the letters, which he feared would go into the war chest of the Nazi party, thus strengthening Germany and weakening the allies; and also his desire to keep the money in the United States.

Censorship does not and cannot confine itself to letters only; once it is adopted it will extend itself, of its own accord, to include the press as well. Therefore it can be seen that censorship of the mails would invariably lead to a violation of the bill of rights and it would also be a discourteous and unfriendly gesture to a nation with whom we have no quarrel.

But if we should adopt censorship, why apply it only to Germany and not to England and France? There are letters that have gone to England and France from this country, whose monetary value equals or exceeds that of the letters sent to Germany. If we censor mails destined for one belligerent power, we should censor the mails destined to all of them, regardless of where our sympathies stand.

This gentleman concludes his argument by urging prosecution of the authors of these letters and states his belief that "any one who would smuggle a $1,000 bill thru the mails to some one in a belligerent nation is a traitor to the Stars and Stripes."

Why should the authors of these letters be treated as criminals? To all appearances their letters will certainly never do any material harm to our country now or any time in the future. To the best of my knowledge the United States has not recently passed any law or laws prohibiting persons from sending currency thru the mails to persons in a foreign country. Therefore, there is no reason for "smuggling" money out of our country thru the mails, nor is there any necessity for accusing any one of treason on this point.

BRENDAN BARTON.

REFLECTIONS ON THE LOMBARD INCIDENT.

Chicago, March 4.—It is interesting to note that the movies seen by the two Lombard boys shortly before their death last Saturday night were "City in Darkness" and "South of the Border."

But it is also interesting to note in the Lord's Prayer, which Mr. Thomas had engraved on the head of a pin, "Forgive those who trespass against us." E. H. R.

FAMILY MATTERS.

Chicago, Ill., March 4.—When anybody's little Sonny-Boy is rewarded with a nickel for drinking his glass of milk, that's modern. Or when little Sister-Dear is excessively lolly-popped after school and comes to supper with a cloyed appetite, that's modern, too.

My somewhat recently acquired son-in-law is a typical product of this age of pampered darlings. He won't work. He won't even look for work. He arises along about 11 a. m. and he returns "home" about midnight. He knows, to the day and minute, when he can get on relief. The baby that is on the way he has already verbally consigned to a foundling home.

If the reader thinks that the poor boy can't find work in these so-called hard times, here is something else. My own son graduated from high school a month ago. He spent three days looking for work, found a job, and started working within a week and likes it better every day. Since he started he has had five offers, by mail or phone, from the many other places he applied during those three days of search. Thanks to his good mother, he escaped the influences that have contributed to our WPA "they gotta feed me" era.

I suppose every generation has its interesting aspects. A VOICE.

A VOTE FOR ECONOMY.

Peoria, March 2.—Recently Peoria had a referendum on a $1,250,000 bond issue for a new courthouse.

The old courthouse was built perhaps 60 years ago and Peoria's population has grown many times since then.

But the voters turned the proposal down, 18 to 1. The result should remind legislators and all public money spenders that people are tired of spending—and certainly won't consider more taxes of any kind for anything. Wise public servants will turn from squandering to saving—providing they want to stay in office. E. J. CONNOR.

AN OLD STORY TO OUR READERS.

Decatur, Ill., March 2.—Now that a part of the workings of the Long administration in Louisiana is coming to light, is it not a fit time to stop and realize the parallel of its aims and methods to that of the form of national government that has been dropped over us? HAROLD C. WILBUR.

MAKING A WILL.

Chicago, March 1 [Legal Friend of the People].—I would like to know, [1] would a will made out by myself, witnessed by two persons, be legal, and [2] should such a will be notarized?

3. I have several brothers and sisters but wish to leave it to only one.

In case of such a will [4] could a joint tenancy bank account be contested by the rest?

5. How long after one passes away before a bank vault box is closed?

6. Is it necessary for such a will to be recorded to be legal? A. K.

1. Yes, as far as the facts stated are concerned.
2. Not necessary.
3. There is no legal objection to this.
4. The joint tenancy property would not be controled by the will. The only basis for attacking the joint tenancy would be proof that the original owner was subjected to undue influence or lack of mental capacity when he created the joint tenancy.
5. It would be closed at once, assuming that the bank knew of the deaths, in the sense that the bank would not permit access until there had been an inheritance tax examination. The closing should last only a few days, if that is what you mean to ask.
6. No.

While the statute does not require the employment of an attorney, we consider such employment advisable. If you try to economize by dispensing with expert help, you are likely to make mistakes which will cost much more than an attorney would have charged to see that the job was done right in the first place. In addition, an attorney might make valuable suggestions as to the wisdom of your testamentary plan.

If, despite the above, you wish to try to handle the matter for yourself, you should obtain a printed form from a stationer and see that it is executed in strict accordance with the attestation clause which precedes the space for signature of witnesses. The services of a notary are not necessary, and it is not safe to assume that a notary will be a competent adviser.

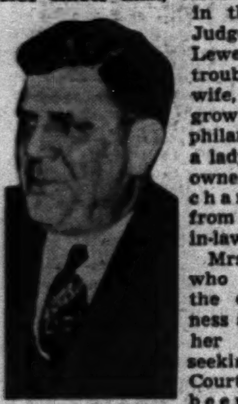
MR. B. DESCRIBES MARRIAGE UNDER IN-LAWS' BANNER

A Cough Become a Signal for Privacy, He Says.

James Bransfield, a battling south side cinder man, testified yesterday in the court of Judge John C. Lewe that his troubles with his wife, Clara, didn't grow out of any philandering with a lady restaurant owner [as she charged], but from too much in-laws.



James Bransfield.

Mrs. Bransfield, who went into the cinder business as a rival to her husband, is seeking a divorce. Court action has been dragging since 1935 and yesterday's session was the 51st on the matter.

Testimony of several witnesses, who said they had seen Bransfield in compromising situations with the mysterious "Annie" of the restaurant was denied outright by Bransfield, who is 45 years old. He related how he and his wife had never had any privacy with so many of his in-laws in the house.

Tells of Signals.

"I was like a goldfish," he said. "My mother-in-law, father-in-law, brother-in-law, and sister-in-law lived with us. Mrs. Bransfield and I had to arrange signals before we could have any privacy. She used to give a series of staccato coughs.

"One night I was lying on a davenport in the living room, waiting for the signal. It was dark and when Clara coughed I ran into a table and almost broke both knees."

Another complication grew out of the use of his large automobile, Bransfield said.

"Clara would drive her relatives, who were on relief, to the relief station in it," he testified. "I told her she was putting me square in the middle and if the relief authorities caught up with us—well, I drove thru alleys to keep the relief inspectors from recognizing the car."

A Shout with Each Kiss, He Says.

Whenever he kissed his wife, he said, her mother would shout: "When are you coming up for air?" He testified that he had lent the mother-in-law $12,800 and had never received any of it back. His wife, he said, explained that "poor mother lost so much in the stock market."

Recently, he said, he and his wife conferred about a reconciliation. He added that she told him then that she really loved him, altho she had to appear in public to hate him. The reconciliation failed, he added, when she demanded title to their home and that he "go on probation for two years."

COURT TO RULE ON ROOSEVELT DIVORCE TODAY

Kin of Jimmy's Wife Gives Evidence.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 6 (AP).—Mrs. Betsey Cushing Roosevelt goes to court tomorrow to learn whether Superior Judge Thomas C. Gould will grant her a divorce from James Roosevelt, the President's son. Evidence in the case was completed today.

Henry K. Cushing.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who charged cruelty and desertion, testified last Friday her husband had asked her in May, 1938, to obtain a divorce. She refused, she said, and followed him to Hollywood the following November, when he again told her he wanted his freedom. She asserted he asked her to leave California.

Brother Makes Deposition.

Henry K. Cushing, Mrs. Roosevelt's brother and her corroborating witness, was too ill to testify, and the hearing was twice postponed. He completed a deposition today in which he said of his sister:

Property Settlement Made.

A property settlement reached out of court gives Mrs. Roosevelt $65,000, with the choice of an additional $50,000 in five years, or $5,000 annually until she remarries. Roosevelt agreed to provide $167.50 a month for each of their children, Sara Delano, 7 years old, and Kate, 4, until they are 12, then $250 a month until they are 21.

The President's son filed the first suit on Feb. 15. He charged desertion, but Mrs. Roosevelt countered with her cross-complaint five days later.

DAYS GROW LONG AS TIME GROWS SHORT FOR NANCY

Expects Her First, a 200 Pounder, in July.

Yesterday was a day full of significance at the Brookfield zoo. It was the same day of the month, just 15 months ago, that it became known Nancy, the Indian elephant, was expecting a blessed event.

Nancy.

Robert Bean, assistant director, thought Nancy's friends would like to know she's doing well. And it looks now as if she would have her 200 pound baby in July.

Of course, Mr. Bean said, it's difficult to make an accurate prediction when elephant maternity is concerned. Nancy may wait as long as 22 months, instead of the usual 19.

Nancy Has Changed.

But Nancy certainly has changed. She used to be a skittish, flapper type of elephant [she's just the age—20 years]. In late weeks she has become sedate and matronly. She has put on 800 pounds in the 15 months, bringing her weight close to 6,000 pounds.

Keepers insist that Nancy get her exercise. She lives in a big 30 by 42 foot stall in the elephant house with her friend and handmaiden, Minnie, also an Indian elephant, about one-third Nancy's size. The keepers take Nancy for walks, morning and evening, up and down a 150 foot passageway behind the stalls.

Her diet? Well, Nancy balked at taking cod liver oil, so she is fed a pulverized vitamin D preparation. So that her teeth will be preserved, she is given ample quantities of powdered skim milk. Then she gets bran, the best alfalfa, spinach, oranges, sugar beets, Irish and sweet potatoes, bread, apples—and onions. Nancy has a craving for onions and Minnie says go ahead, eat 'em, she doesn't care.

Too Big a Job for One.

Doctors and veterinarians call regularly. There are several of them—Mr. Bean says you couldn't find any one doctor who would undertake so big a job alone.

Nancy's husband is Ziggie, a 11,000 pounder who once was bought by the late Florenz Ziegfeld as a present for his daughter. Ziggie doesn't seem excited about his approaching fatherhood.

Nancy's baby—her first—will be the first elephant calf ever born in a zoo. Three have been born in captivity—in circuses—but they all died. The Brookfield staff is determined that Nancy's shall live.

MAXINE ELLIOTT, FAMED ACTRESS, DIES IN FRANCE

Stage's Beauty of 1900s Often Feted Royalty.

CANNES, France, March 6 (AP).—The career of Maxine Elliott, stage star of two continents who became a leader of international society, ended last night in death at her Riviera château. She was 67 years old.

Maxine Elliott.

Messages of condolence came tonight to the Juan les Pins château from royalty, statesmen, and commoners who had been her guests. Her sister, Lady Forbes-Robertson, was en route from England to make funeral arrangements.

Miss Elliott retired from the stage in 1920 to become one of European society's outstanding hostesses, entertaining such guests as the duke of Windsor, who echoed the admiration of his grandfather, Edward VII.; Winston Churchill, and David Lloyd George.

Refused to Return to Stage.

All attempts to induce the famous beauty to return to the stage were futile, Miss Elliott asserting she wished to "grow middle-aged gracefully." She never re-married after divorcing Nat Goodwin, noted actor, in 1908.

Miss Elliott was one of the first American women to volunteer for Red Cross work at the outbreak of the world war, but a heart ailment from which she had suffered since last June kept her from active war work in the present conflict.

TOAST OF ROYALTY.

Maxine Elliott was starred in many triumphant rôles, ranging from Shakespeare to modern drama. She was acclaimed for her beauty, charm, and talent. A Broadway theater was named for her. She was the toast of European royalty. At the height of her career she quit the stage to become an outstanding international hostess on the French Riviera.

Miss Elliott was born in Rockland, Me., on Feb. 5, 1873, the daughter of Thomas and Adelaide Dermott. Her father was a sea captain, and as a girl she sailed with him to South America and Spain.

Acting Praised by King.

She toured Australia and the United States in such plays as "A Gilded Fool," "Nathan Hale," and Clyde Fitch's "The Cowboy and the Lady."

Miss Elliott played many Shakespearean rôles and in 1901 Broadway saw her as Portia in "The Merchant of Venice." One of her most famous hits was her first starring vehicle, "Her Own Way," and when she took the play to London in 1905, King Edward VII. praised her acting and asked to meet her.

When the world war broke out, Miss Elliott enlisted as a Red Cross nurse and did relief work which won her decorations from Britain and France. She bought her own ambulance to take to the front and organized a fleet of barges to carry relief to war sufferers in Belgium.

Miss Elliott appeared in a few motion pictures in 1916-'17, including "The Eternal Magdalene" and "Fighting Odds," but did not like playing in films.

STUDY HANDLING OF INCOME QUERY IN CITY CENSUS

The 16 district census supervisors for the Chicago area met yesterday to discuss the most vexing of the prospective census problems — the query regarding individual incomes.

The meeting, held in the rooms of the Chicago Association of Commerce, was called by the Chicago census advisory committee. This group is made up of representatives of business, industry, and labor who will serve in an advisory capacity in taking the 1940 census.

Ralph Lee Goodman, chairman of the committee and director of the census in 1930, told the supervisors there was no legitimate reason for any one to refuse to answer any of the census questions.

"There is no valid excuse for refusing to answer the question on income," he said. "All answers to questions in the census become purely impersonal figures and are used for statistical purposes only. Questions on income are limited, furthermore, to incomes under $5,000. Incomes over $5,000 are merely reported as $5,000 plus."

Enumerators, numbering 2,500, will begin the count in the Chicago area on April 2.

PEDESTRIAN HIT BY TRUCK DIES OF HIS INJURIES

Carlyle J. Lawrence, 76 years old, 1502 East 70th street, died yesterday in Illinois Masonic hospital of injuries incurred Feb. 5 when he was struck by a truck in front of 1707 Wellington avenue. The driver was Marshall Skinner, 1850 Roscoe street. Lawrence was a salesman.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 174 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 131 were killed in Chicago, where 3,746 were injured in the same period.

DRIVER GETS JAIL SENTENCE AFTER AUTO COLLISION

John Reiter, 1512 North Hoyne avenue, was sentenced to five days in the county jail for reckless driving by Judge Frank M. Padden in Safety court yesterday. On Jan. 20, driving over the center line of the street, he struck an approaching car in front of 2412 North avenue.

Alexander Osowski, 8210 Saginaw avenue, was fined $100 and his driver's license was revoked for 30 days for driving while intoxicated. On Tuesday he struck a parked car in front of 8655 Commercial avenue.

The Safety court report for February showed that 33 persons were jailed and 148 fined a total of $1,087. This represented convictions in 38 per cent of the 476 cases heard. In January 22 were jailed and 56 fined a total of $402. This amounted to convictions in 14 per cent of 569 cases.

Railway Ordered to Help Pay for Joliet Underpass

The Illinois Commerce commission yesterday ordered the Rock Island railroad to pay $65,000 of the estimated $110,000 cost of a subway under its tracks at Bluff street in Joliet. The balance is to be paid by the city of Joliet or another public agency, the city being given a year to accept the plan.

BABY FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Marcella Murray, 6 months old, was found dead, apparently of suffocation, yesterday in bed in her home at 649 West 43d place. She was one of the six children of Lawrence and Louise Murray.

Dr. Ginsburg died Tuesday night in his home at 5637 Kenmore avenue. He was 52 years old. He leaves his widow, Rose; a daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Moss, and two sons, Byron and Harold Ginsburg.

MacGregor Jenkins.

Williamstown, Mass., March 6 (AP).—MacGregor Jenkins, 70 years old, nationally known biographer and author who retired several years ago as treasurer and publisher of the Atlantic Monthly, died today. He was the author of many works, including "Emily Dickinson, Friend and Neighbor," a biography of the American poet.

COURT DEMANDS $170,262 FROM HARDING ESTATE

Probate Judge John F. O'Connell yesterday directed the estate of the late George F. Harding, Republican leader, to turn over $170,262, representing assets of 139 estates which Harding held for Gregory T. Van Meter, who was public administrator from 1921 to 1925. It was estimated that $45,000 of this amount will go to beneficiaries of the unclosed estates and the remainder—more than $125,000—will revert to the county because no claimants have appeared for these funds.

Gregory T. Van Meter.

It was disclosed recently that in 1924, toward the end of Van Meter's term as public administrator, Harding posted $1,000,000 in securities for Van Meter to safeguard the money in unclosed estates. In return for furnishing the bond the assets of the unclosed estates were turned over to Harding. In 1927 Harding repossessed the securities put up for the bond, but retained the estate assets.

Observe 90th Birthday of Masaryk on Saturday

The 90th anniversary of the birth of T. G. Masaryk, first president of the Czecho-Slovak republic, will be observed Saturday at a gathering in the auditorium of the J. Sterling Morton High school in Cicero. The program, to begin at 8 p. m., is being arranged by the United Czecho-Slovak legion and the district committee of the Czecho-Slovak National council of Chicago. Chief speakers will be Prof. Charles E. Merriam of the University of Chicago and Dr. J. Kozak, former professor at Charles university in Prague and now at Oberlin college in Ohio.

HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

BRAUN—Louis E. Braun Jr. In memory of a dear husband and father, who passed on one year ago today.
He bid no one a last farewell,
He said good-by to none;
His loving heart had ceased to beat
Before we knew it, he was gone.

He did not fail to do his best,
His heart was true and tender.
He worked hard for those he left
And ever will be remembered.
WIFE AND DAUGHTERS.

CARLSON—Verner Carlson. In memory of our secretary-treasurer, who passed away one year ago today.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days;

FREE COBBLER, CENSUS CHIEF ORDERS AGENT

Acts After Kenosha Shoe Man Is Arrested.

Washington, D. C., March 6 [Special]. — Federal census authorities, under congressional fire for snooping into personal affairs, today ordered the immediate release of James Rosselli, a cobbler of Kenosha, Wis., who was arrested for refusing to answer questions in a business survey.

Census Director William L. Austin not only ordered Wisconsin census officials to withdraw the charges immediately, but also reprimanded them for taking legal action against Rosselli.

In a telegram to Donald M. Ferris, census area manager at Racine, Wis., Austin said:

"Withdraw Rosselli charges immediately. You have disregarded instructions that before taking legal action such cases must be submitted to Washington office for disposition. You will be held strictly responsible for this procedure. Instruct all district supervisors and enumerators accordingly. Acknowledge receipt of this telegram and confirm withdrawal of charges."

Surrenders in Milwaukee.

Rosselli was arrested on a federal warrant charging that he refused to give complete answers to John W. Girman, business census taker of Kenosha. Rosselli contended that the census taker had been discourteous, had refused properly to identify himself, and had tussled with him.

Rosselli surrendered to federal authorities in Milwaukee, Wis., today and was released on $200 bond after United States Commissioner Floyd E. Jenkins adjourned the arraignment until March 14. His attorney had said he was prepared to fight the case to a finish.

Girman Gets Warrant.

The warrant for Rosselli's arrest was obtained by Census Taker Girman. Rosselli owns two shoe repair shops in Kenosha and one in Harvard, Ill.

"I'm willing to answer all census questions so long as they are put to me politely," Rosselli explained. "Girman didn't ask me any questions. He didn't even say he was taking a census. He said he was a government man and wanted to look at my books.

"When I told him he couldn't, that I didn't want people looking at my private books, he became angry and said he would report me to Washington. He didn't tell me what he wanted or give me a chance to answer."

Girman Writes to Attorney.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 6 [Special].—E. J. Koelzer, assistant federal district attorney, said tonight that Census Taker John W. Girman telephoned him that he had put in the mail a letter on the case against James Rosselli. Koelzer said the decision to withdraw the charge was one for the department of justice and the attorney general's office, not the census department.

Cermak's Memory Honored

READ MESSAGE FROM ROOSEVELT AT CERMAK RITE

Miami, Fla., March 6 [Special].—President Roosevelt today joined in honoring the memory of the late Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago who was shot fatally here seven years ago by an assassin who fired at Mr. Roosevelt. A telegram from the President was read at memorial services held in Bay Front park.

More than 150 members of the Cermak Memorial Association of Chicago, Cleveland, and other cities attended the services before a little bronze plaque which marks the spot where Cermak was wounded by Giuseppe Zangara on Feb. 15, 1933. John Sokol, chairman of the association, presided.

Ald. Henry Sonnenschein of Chicago's 22d ward, Cermak's secretary for years, read the words which Cermak spoke to Mr. Roosevelt: "I'm glad it was me instead of you." Members of Cermak's family who attended the ceremonies were two daughters, Mrs. Frank J. Jirka of Chicago and Mrs. Richey V. Graham of River Forest, Ill., and a granddaughter, Mrs. Thomas G. Hope of Kansas City, Mo.

VISIT CERMAK MAUSOLEUM.

Judge George B. Weiss of the Municipal court yesterday led a group of friends of former Mayor Anton J. Cermak to Cermak's mausoleum in the Bohemiam National cemetery, Pulaski road and Foster avenue. A wreath was placed at the door of the mausoleum.

Above is the BUICK SPECIAL 4-door touring sedan $996*

*delivered at Flint, Mich. Transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories — extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

THERE are a lot of things about this stunning 1940 Buick to claim your attention—that is, if you really want to know what's what in motorcars.

For instance, you've got to admit, from looking at the current street scene, that it has done a lot to brighten up and beautify the boulevards.

And you have to agree, from the way folks are swinging over to Buick, that it must have something value-wise that's important for you to measure.

What you hear about its quick-off-the-mark engine and the silkiness it gets from balancing after assembly certainly calls for inquiry.

And the rave notices BuiCoil Springing gets, the talk you hear about five-foot front seat room in the SUPER—finger-flick transmission and Foamtex cushions soft as a down puff—all these suggest there's something here you ought to know about too.

But even skipping this—even skipping the fact that Buick's prices are lower than on some sixes, and including a raft of things that are extra elsewhere—there's one thing that alone is enough to send you hot-footing to your Buick dealer to see what all the shooting's for.

That's the fact, obvious from the very looks of other cars, that as Buick goes these days so goes the industry.

It set this year's pace last year — and right now, style-wise, comfort-wise and feature-wise, it is the car others will be like "some day."

So do the obvious thing. Go try out this superb traveler. Sit in it—handle its controls—drive it.

We think we know what the result will be. Even if you don't discover that Buick is an immediate "must," you'll decide you'll never be really happy till you have one.

Story from the Maginot Line.

An amusing story has reached Paris from the front and was written to an American lawyer, Will Shafroth of Washington, D. C., by Pendleton Beckley, avocat Americain in Paris.

A prominent younger member of the French bar, in a soldier's uniform with a sergeant's stripes, was acting as telephonist at an outpost of the Maginot line. His reports to the general were so clear and satisfactory that the latter, upon passing his post, inquired:

"You were connected with the telephone company before the war?"

"Oui, mon general," answered the soldier.

Shrimps and Mr. Huxley.

Miss Angna Enters, mime, author (First Person Plural, Love Possessed Juana), and painter, was eating shrimps that were a part of the cold hors d'œuvres at luncheon at the Arts club yesterday.

"I always think of Aldous Huxley when I eat shrimps," she said reflectively. "I told him so once, too, and he asked why. And I reminded him of one of his early stories about a man whose most pleasant childhood memory was of the summer vacations he spent with his uncle at Bruges. The uncle used to meet him and they would go together on the train to Bruges. The uncle always had a bag of prawns. He told the little boy to eat them because they contained phosphorus and were good for the brain. So when I eat shrimps I always remember Huxley and the man on the train going to Bruges," finished Miss Enters.

Naughtiness of Year Old Baby Is Exploration

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS
[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Here's our one year old on the scene:

"I have a darling one year old baby. He is so cute that we can't help but spoil him a little. But I certainly don't want him to grow up into a whining, cranky boy.

"He does certain things that are annoying. It may seem mean of me to want a one year old baby to obey, so please correct me if I am wrong. It seems that when I tell him not to do something he just laughs in that impish way and does it anyway. I've tried talking to him and spanking just a little, but to no avail. I don't want him to think me a tyrant. He is starting to push some of his food away and he will not drink milk from a cup. He drinks any juices, and so forth, from a glass or cup, but not the milk. I tried keeping the milk and bottle away from him. It does not work. That is what started the whining.

"He is very good otherwise."

First, there's the hobgoblin named "spoiling" to consider. I'm afraid he's responsible for a great deal of unnecessary bearing down upon the one and one-and-a-half and two-year-olds. The very fact that a mother has this fear is pretty sure to mean that she won't be overindulgent. She's the very one I would advise to relax.

Next, I'd advise her not to think of her baby's new small ways as annoying. He's just beginning to "get around" and it's a lot of fun, but also it's going to take him a little while to find himself and to understand grownup ways. Try to see why he does the things he does instead of thinking how they bother you.

As to his impish way, most of it is the play spirit and an attempt to stir up a little interesting excitement. Just be casual and tactful.

As to one detail, I would not try depriving him of his milk and bottle. Every few days I'd offer him a little milk in a cup, and the rest in his bottle, without any forcing or crossness associated with the performance. Of course, he'll learn to take the milk from his cup in time. Why worry about such a small matter.

Work for Others

Several hundred friends and representatives of leading women's organizations gathered last night at a dinner given for Mrs. John T. Mason of Aurora by the Chicago Woman's club. Five associates in her civic activities described what Mrs. Mason's efforts during the last half century have meant to Illinois. They were Rodney H. Brandon, member of the state public welfare board; Mrs. William T. Bruckner, president of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs; Miss Helen Hazard, superintendent of the Illinois women's reformatory at Dwight, which Mrs. Mason was instrumental in obtaining; Mrs. Laura Hughes Lunde, club leader, and Mrs. Richard Curry of Aurora. Miss Marion Mason, a niece, told what Mrs. Mason has meant to her family.

Love Seldom Remodels the Wayward Mate

BY DORIS BLAKE.
[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The woman is 36, her husband 34. They have been married 10 years, she reports, and he is running around with men, and drinking. He lives with his sister and mother.

"I left him three years ago because he was running around with a girl at that time. After a while she married, so he was forced to give her up. Now, he cannot give me a home. He asks me to come and live with his mother and sister, which I refuse to do. I tell him that if it is only a furnished room for us, that will do for me, but we've got to be on our own. He says he is not earning enough to establish a regular home and he will not live in a single room.

"The truth is that he owes everybody. He is terribly in debt and has no money for me. I went to see his mother and she said she would urge him to give me something toward my support weekly. But he will hand me a single dollar and that only occasionally. I have to keep on living with my parents, who are poor, with five others beside me to feed and house and clothe. I have begged my husband to pay my expenses at my mother's, at least, but he won't. The tragic part of it all is that I love the man and have no interest in other men whatsoever. I am heartsick over it all. What can I do?

HEARTBROKEN."

You're an adult person, 36. You ought to face facts more realistically than you are now doing. Obviously, you've given your heart to an irresponsible person, one who probably will always be a wear and tear on your heartstrings. But you love him and you want him, don't you? Then, you'll have to take over the management reins. You will have to step out and become an earner, the earner probably. You'll probably have to arrange to get that home thru your own financial efforts.

We can't understand your continuing to live on your parents' bounty when their case is one of impoverishment. You must be a foolish, foolish dreamer, thinking you can get blood out of a stone; thinking your love for the man is going to create a miracle in character building. Love doesn't do that in a case such as yours, so you'll have to compromise with true facts and face your life with you as the central figure in home maintenance. We see no other "out" for you.

The Housewife

One of the most attractive treatments we've ever seen for the window or windows in a small room consists of a shaped, stiff valance that extends part way down the side of the window frame as well as across the top, and a pair of crisp, transparent white curtains. This treatment prevents a window from seeming to take up too much space, yet does not sacrifice style. The valance may be a pretty, flowered, quilted chintz, and the curtains of dotted Swiss, or embroidered organdy.

EDITH WEIGLE.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

The enthusiasm of millions of players toward finesses blinds them to a great many superior lines of play. As spectator at hundreds of average bridge games, I have seen declarers attempt fantastically deep finesses rather than tackle a coup which they felt was "over their heads," but which, in fact, would have been the essence of simplicity.

South, dealer.

	NORTH ♠ 9 6 ♥ 8 7 ♦ A J 7 3 2 ♣ 10 9 5 4
WEST ♠ Q J 10 5 ♥ K J 9 5 4 ♦ K 10 ♣ J 6		EAST ♠ 8 7 3 2 ♥ A Q 6 3 2 ♦ Q 9 5 ♣ 8
	SOUTH ♠ A K 4 ♥ 10 ♦ 8 6 4 ♣ A K Q 7 3 2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	1 heart	2 clubs	2 hearts
5 clubs	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the queen of spades. Declarer won, drew the adverse trumps and led the eight of diamonds. This attempt to set up dummy's diamond suit with the loss of one trick [since the heart loser was unavoidable] was foolish, inasmuch as it hinged on both of the high diamond honors being in West's hand. [If they were in East's hand, unguarded, it would require a remarkable guess.] No such great fortune was waiting for the declarer. He lost two diamond tricks and a heart, for the contract's defeat.

Careful planning would have insured success. After winning the spade lead, declarer should rid his own hand of hearts by leading the singleton. Defender would probably return a spade [any other return would make no difference], and declarer would of course win. He should then draw the adverse trumps and ruff his third spade in the dummy, completing the spade and heart stripping process by ruffing dummy's remaining heart in his own hand. Then the lead to the ace of diamonds and a diamond return would throw West in with his doubleton king and force him to lead a card which could be ruffed in the dummy while declarer was discarding his remaining losing diamond.

It should be noted that this plan would work in that vast majority of cases in which the high diamond honors were split between East and West, the only exception being that if West held a doubleton honor without the 10 spot, he could get out of the way by playing second-hand-high on the lead up to the ace, and thus avoid the throw-in.

New Umbrellas Do Double Duty as Flashlights

BY REA SEEGER.

An urge to combine decoration with duty has moved the umbrella makers. Spring models with bright colored silk covers boast slender long handles with transparent ends. In the clear ends are small electric light bulbs and down even-deeper in the black handles are the batteries. The idea is a slick one to aid key hole seekers on a dark night. It should end all fumbling, groping, and noise.

The umbrellas themselves are swanky looking finds. The colors are violet, pearl gray, aqua, navy, red, and beige. The ribs are a silvery metal and the handles shiny black and clear crystal. Extra bulbs and batteries are easy to procure, the mechanical tricks easy to master, and these umbrellas will pack in all suitcases because the handles are detachable. A price mark around $6 seems small for all the clever design and brilliant colors.

Also "out" for the first spell of rainy weather are the oiled silk capes, with hoods . . . enveloping models that will slide with ease and smartness over coats, suits, and even fur coats. They button securely half way down the front, there are slits near the waistline instead of sleeves, and some clever dressmaker fullness over the shoulders to achieve a dolman effect.

Flattering shades of jade green, rosy peach, aqua, and yellow are available . . . semitransparent colors that do a grand job of cheerful contrast for a dark day. These new capes are of a tricky new crackproof, nonsticky rubber stuff. They have price marks around $6 and can be matched with umbrellas. Smart coats of the same colors and material also have attached hoods.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Listen, Kids.

Hollywood, Cal., March 6.—Yesterday a crowd of us from Hollywood motored out to Anaheim, a pretty little town about 30 miles outside Hollywood, to see Connie Mack, because Mr. Mack [whose real name is Cornelius McGillicuddy] is a famous personage in sport and well beloved by all professionals, whether they are in the show business or in sport.

Mr. McGillicuddy is a tall, spare man, and we found him seated on a camp chair near the bench of his Philadelphia Athletics. . . . I think that you kids should know about him because in a disordered world here is a gentleman of the old school who tells you that the homely virtues are the only substantial ones.

He is starting his 57th season as a professional showman, is Mr. Mack. . . . In more than half a century of active life he has handled thousands of men from every section of the country. . . . His teams have played before millions of fans. . . . He has known every shading of success and failure. . . . He has met men of every faith, and every color, and every temperament.

He has had in his employ men who were champions, men who were sulkers, men who alibied, men who were honest, men who were dishonest, men who were loyal and men who were disloyal. . . . He has seen every facet of the ring of emotions which makes up everyday life.

At 77 Connie Mack's message to the kids of the country is that the best things in life are free and, additionally, that the solid virtues are the only permanent things. . . . He means honesty, decency, self-respect, integrity, kindness. . . . He tells you kids that some of the greatest players he's ever had failed because they had no sense of discipline and refused to obey orders. . . . In other words, he says that talent without discipline and training is worth nothing.

Sitting with him and listening to him, the thing that strikes you most forcibly is the veteran's fine face. . . . The lines crisscrossing it form the highway of a great life. . . . At 77 Connie Mack can look every man straight in the face because he's always played the game that way.

You are certain, the minute he speaks, that he's the type of man who could become very violent if you suggested anything dishonest or shady to him. . . . You feel sure that he has never lied, and would abhor a liar perhaps above all else.

Hollywood celebs, enormously successful, are apt to become a trifle bored and blasé. . . . They've seen everything, or pretty nearly everything. . . . They've got everything, or nearly everything, and under those circumstances life is apt to lose some of its flavor. . . . And people so situated are apt to lose a sense of appreciation. . . . At 77 Connie Mack, enormously successful, finds life a lively affair, and his enthusiasm and his sense of appreciation and gratitude are things to arouse you.

"Watch that boy playing third base," he said. "I think he's going to be a great ball player." . . . He said it just as enthusiastically as he said it in his first season in baseball, back in 1883. . . . He was enthusiastic about the baseball park layout at Anaheim. . . . He was enthusiastic about one of his pitchers. . . . He was enthusiastic about the bright sunny day and the crowd of townspeople who had turned out for the afternoon.

It's so easy to lose your enthusiasm. . . . You can so easily become sour and cynical and half-smart. . . . Mack, at 77, gets as much kick out of commonplace things as tho they had been created for his particular benefit.

On the way back from the ball park one of the Hollywood crowd mused: "I learned a tremendous lesson watching that man today. I'll never again be bored with my work or with everyday things. I'm going to try to look at life as he looks at it. He has the right viewpoint: We have the wrong viewpoint."

There are a lot of things that are wrong in the world, but when you meet a Connie Mack, and are inspired by meeting him, you become convinced of the truth of something that Massey said in "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" and something that we should not lose sight of. . . . Massey, as Lincoln, recalled that once a great ruler asked his wise men to coin one sentence which would apply equally to everything. . . . The wise men returned in some weeks with the sentence: "This, too, shall pass."

When you are confounded by things that are evil and vicious remember that line, "This, too, shall pass," because time and years cure pretty nearly everything and restore all things to focus. . . . At 77 Connie Mack agrees with this, I imagine, but amends it to read that the permanent values never alter. . . . They may be bruised, or postponed or deflected, but eventually everything adjusts itself to the yardstick of centuries.

I'm glad that we went out to see Connie Mack, because Mr. McGillicuddy, at 77, is proof that this is a pretty nice sort of world if we are nice people like Mr. McGillicuddy.

And Still More Chicagoans Go to Sun Spots

BY JUDITH CASS.

KEEPING one's address book up-to-date at this time of the year is a problem. Chicagoans are scattered here, there, and everywhere, with forwarding addresses left behind.

The Warren A. Lamsons will be receiving their mail in Chandler, Ariz., during March. Mr. and Mrs. John Nash Ott are at the Arizona Biltmore hotel in Phoenix until April 1. The Frank E. Paynes may be reached at the Camelback inn, near Phoenix, for the same length of time.

The itinerary Mrs. Richard T. Crane and her brother, Harlow Higinbotham, left behind when they departed by motor for the south was a vague one, for their route depended on the weather and whatever points of interest struck their fancy. They will go to Coconut Grove, Fla., to see Mrs. Crane's daughter and son-in-law, the William A. Robinsons, before returning at Easter time, however.

Many Chicagoans at Florida Resorts.

The Allan Jacksons, Mrs. Charles Kittle, and the John Jay Abbotts are at the Boca Raton club in Florida. Mrs. Clive Runnells, Mrs. George R. Nichols, and the Seymour Wheelers are at Hobe Sound.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Flannery are at the Biltmore hotel in Palm Beach. Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Pearce are at the Towers in Miami Beach.

Mrs. Chauncey McCormick is in her own home at Coconut Grove, where Mr. McCormick and their sons, Deering, Brooks and Roger, will join her later.

The DeForest Hulburds and Miss Marie Louise Hulburd are in Del Ray, Fla., where Mrs. Hulburd's sister, Mrs. Taylor Strawn, is visiting them. Mrs. Strawn was in Naples, Fla., with Mr. and Mrs. John Evans. She will return to Chicago in two weeks.

The Donald R. McLennans have their daughters, Mrs. Keith Brown and Mrs. John Morse and Mr. Brown, with them in Palm Beach. Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, who was in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., will have time to catch up on her mail at home before setting out for Castle Hot Springs, Ariz., where she may go later this spring.

Lucius B. Mannings Will Go to California.

The Lucius B. Mannings, who are spending the late winter in Florida, will go to their home in Montecito, Cal., late this month. They will go west with the John J. Mitchells, who will remain at El Mirador and the Santa Ynez Valley ranch thru the summer.

Following the Robert A. Carrs by letter will require a good working knowledge of mail schedules to South America. Mr. Carr and his wife, the former Peggy Wiley, left by Clipper ship a week ago to spend a month in Buenos Aires. They will return to Chicago along the southern continent's west coast and Mexico City, a journey that will require another month.

The Robert J. Thorne's widely scattered family will have a single mailing address briefly. Mr. and Mrs. Thorne, one of their daughters who

You'd hardly believe that a housekeeper's hands could look like this, would you? But they can. A program of protection, good care, and the use of softeners is all that's necessary.

Good Care Secret of Young Hands.

In a good, rousing mystery story we were reading lately the detective, superlatively clever like all those who exist in the minds of fiction writers, deduced by a quick look at her hands, that the guilty gal was 27 years old. She said she was 18! And therein, of course, was a clew to her general untrustworthiness.

Sam was a smart sleuth, but we'd give him an argument on this bit of detecting. It's perfectly possible these days to keep your hands as young as your face.

But not if you neglect them. If you do that they'll look old long before they have a right to.

Housewives have the biggest problem where hands are concerned—or think they have. As a matter of fact they can arrange their hand care program so that there is no problem at all.

First of all, there is the matter of protection. Rubber gloves and work gloves were meant to be worn.

Then there is common sense. Don't invite disaster by using too strong soaps, or failing to dry your hands thoroughly. And don't, above all, dash out on the cold porch with your hands wet.

And last, but not least, there is the habit of using a good cream. It needn't be an expensive one. One of the best, as a matter of fact, is anything but costly.

This is a thoroly satisfactory light, white cream that seems to us to have special healing properties. It works wonders with red, chapped hand skin that suffers from the countless little housekeeping gashes and slashes. It dries very quickly and leaves no evidence of its presence other than a faint lilac fragrance.

We've found this a satisfactory cream on every count. And perhaps its biggest feature for the housewife, who must cream her hands dozens of times a day, is that it's so inexpensive. You can slather it on, and often, without a qualm about your budget.

Good Morning!

S-s-MART of Paramount! Hanging on to this 2 year old British made movie until "Gone With the Wind" was released, and then cashing in on it!

Because people—for a time at least—will throng to see any film featuring Vivien [Scarlett O'Hara] Leigh. And, of course, the Laughton reputation is no drawback to "Sidewalks of London."

As to story the movie hasn't much to brag about in the way of originality. It's just an ordinary enough tale of a London street gamin who becomes a stage star, first thru the discernment and kindness of a busker—street actor—and later thru the interest and perspicacity of a famous song writer.

But the acting—Ah, THERE you have something! Something which wings the effort with brilliance and bears it triumphantly into the rarefied atmosphere of excellence.

Miss Leigh has always had what it takes. Her little Libby possesses definitely the subtle something which won her portrayer moviedom's most coveted rôle.

Mr. Laughton plays the busker—a sort of Pagliacci part—with feeling and finesse. Rex Harrison of "The Citadel" and "Storm in a Teacup"—also featuring Miss Leigh—is silken as the song writer. . . . Bit parts are brightly handled and I liked the direction.

Skin Drab from Wintertime? Renew Sparkle for Spring

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Spring showers, early flowers, a new spic and span tailleur and . . . a drab, winter-grayed face. This happens too often every spring."

The above is quoted from a broadcast from a beauty house which offers a panacea for the spring "grays," may we call them. We appropriate it for the time being as a general approach to women who crowd right up to the closing date before they see that clouded winter skin as others see it.

We speak often, and well in advance, of the dress buying orgy to get women to remodeling their winter-laden silhouettes for the big spring parade. But this thing of the cloudy complexion perhaps is not called to attention enough.

Women who take up the cudgels of attack on the superimposed flesh won't have the complexion worries of other women. Their diets and their exercise programs will reclaim their old skin glory for them. But there are any number of women whose silhouettes remain normal thruout the cold months but who, just the same, have not the complexions to rival the early flower season.

We suggest that as a first measure of restoring youth and vitality to said skins that water as a drink be viewed without distaste. And drink it! It's surprising what a nice flavor it takes on when you see what it is doing for your skin and eyes. Start with your four glasses and hurry on to six a day. Take it at first as medicine, if you must. It still remains the superb beauty housecleaner. You'll find that if you take first thing in the morning two glasses of water and get in the rest of your quota during the day, that you won't be or look one of those wilted daisies with which our spring pavements are dotted. You won't have the poisons in the blood stream to make you wilt.

Then, we ask that you give five minutes at the very least every morning to exercises. Make them simple—just enough exercise to get the circulation stirring. Then try to get the shower habit, if you haven't it already, for it's circulation building. Then put yourself on a diet containing loads of fruit and green salads.

Gun Bought Grant

By Luke Short

SYNOPSIS.

Framed by his enemy, Santee Bales, Sam Teacher, outlaw cowboy, shoots the bank robber accused to resemble him. The United States commander offers him the governor's full pardon for all crimes accredited to him if he will persuade obstinate Matt Drury to sell the railroad the right of way thru one of his canyons. Sam accepts—on his own high priced terms of $25,000 in addition to full pardon. He knows the governor needs the votes of the northern county and the money of Matt Drury for campaign expenses. The governor agrees to Sam's terms.

INSTALMENT IV.

SAM LANDS A JOB.

"You want to talk to Matt Drury?" asked the hotel clerk. "I'll wait."

Sam Teacher went back into the lobby, which was almost deserted now, and settled back in one of the deep chairs. In repose, his face lost some of its arrogance, and the way his unruly hair was slicked down with water gave him a boyish appearance. He knew it, too, for this was part of the plan. Sitting there, he felt very satisfied. Six one thousand dollar bills composed the inner sole of each boot. He was literally walking in money, he reflected.

He stifled the frivolous reflections, however, and considered his plan. It had its disadvantages, of course, the main one being that the rôle of repentant sinner did not appeal to him. Still, the stakes were high enough to be a temptation. Added to that was one fact that he was shrewd enough to consider. It did not come to every man outside the law that he had one chance to square himself, legally, with the rest of the world. Any outlaw who passed that chance up was a fool.

He squirmed in his seat and spat on the floor, and suddenly pulled himself up. He'd have to cut out little things like that, even if they had become part of his nature. He decided to sit there and look like a nice, decent young puncher who respected authority, his pay check, and his boss.

But in five minutes he had both legs over the arm of the chair and was taking practice sights with his six gun at the knots in the pine board paneling of the lobby. The clerk, scowling darkly, came over to him.

"You can't do that here."

"I'm doin' it, ain't I?" Sam asked softly.

"Then you'll have to get out."

Sam swung his feet to the floor and stood up, a thin smile on his face. Something to his expression made the clerk back away. Suddenly Sam thought of his resolve, and looked down at his gun. He sighed deeply and holstered it and said, "Okay, I'll quit."

He managed to sit still, to look like a man waiting for some one, for a full minute until Matthew Drury and his daughter stepped thru the dining room door. With the light of the dining room behind him, Matthew Drury had the look of a middle aged, tall and solid rancher, by whom the world has done the best it knows how. His shock of white hair, his thick and bristling eyebrows were just the touch of fierceness that his benevolent mien required. But once face to face with him, you saw that something had happened. Buried between high cheekbones and the thick eyebrows were eyes, brown to blackness, that carried the distillation of arrogance. There was nothing kind, good humored, tolerant or loving in them. Blindfolded, he would look like a nice old man. Without a blindfold he was walking, swaggering power incarnate.

Sam, however, was too far away to see that. Besides, he was looking at the girl, who hardly came to Drury's shoulder. There was a kind of sullen, sultry and dark loveliness about her that reminded Sam of a black, roman-nosed colt, one with dainty white stockings.

He swallowed, stood up, yanked off his hat, and walked over to them and said, "Mr. Drury."

Matthew Drury paused and turned and looked down at Sam. He didn't say anything for a moment and then he said, "I know you, don't I?" in a deep, impatient voice.

"Sam Teacher," Sam said.

Drury's eyes narrowed a little. "O, yes. They haven't hanged you yet?"

"I'd like to talk with you."

"Well, go ahead."

"Alone, I mean—in private."

"Young man," Drury said dryly, "I have no money in my wallet, my daughter has no jewels with her, there is nothing of value in my room, and I am unarmed. I can't think of anything you'd want with me."

Sam's face flushed a little, and he felt his temper edging him. He also remembered the resolve. He contrived a mirthless smile and said, "I don't want money, I can't use jewels, I don't want a gun fight. All I want is to talk with you."

Celia Drury was watching him with cool, measuring eyes. She looked up at her father and said, "Is this Sam Teacher—the outlaw?"

Drury nodded.

"But I thought he was a man," Celia said.

Sam looked at her coldly, his blue eyes flickering with venom. She turned amused hazel eyes on him, raked him from head to toe with her glance, and said:

Drury smiled faintly and said, "Come upstairs, Teacher."

By the time they were up the long stairway, Sam had control of his temper. The rooms they entered were the finest that a frontier hotel could provide. The lamps were lighted and a Spanish maid rose from a chair at their entrance and vanished. Celia sank down in one of the chairs and regarded Sam with frank curiosity. Drury, however, stood in the middle of the room.

"He said in private, Celia."

"I heard him. Still, I want to hear an outlaw talk."

"Leave the room, please," Drury said a little sternly.

"I don't think I will," Celia drawled. "I want to hear it."

"And I don't want you to!"

They glared at each other a long moment, and then Drury turned to Sam. "You'd better wait until tomorrow when a certain spoiled young lady isn't intruding."

"That's okay," Sam said quietly. "It's about a job."

"A job. With me?"

"That's right."

"But—but I don't rustle cattle or steal horses or employ gunmen. What could you do?"

Sam had an even grip on his temper. He said, "Did you hear about the governor giving me amnesty?"

Sam flushed, but went on doggedly. "I'm all square with the law, Drury. I'd like to start out with a clean slate. Still, there ain't a rancher in the country that'd give me a job. They're afraid of me."

"With good reason."

"All right. Only, I got to live. I'll stay out of trouble just as long as I can feed myself, but what if I can't do that?"

"What charming blackmail," Celia Drury observed.

Drury glanced angrily at her and then looked back at Sam. "So you want me to take you on and give you work—keep you out of circulation, so to speak?"

"I never meant it that way."

"Can you punch cattle?"

"No."

"Can you break horses?"

"Anything you got."

"What else can you do? Do you understand breeding, range conditions, moving stock, marketing it, grading it? Dou you know anything about ranching?"

"No."

"Then how could I use you?"

"I dunno," Sam said. He was about to add, "You can't," and walk out, when he looked over at Celia and saw the contemptuous smile on her face. He remembered what she had said down in the lobby and he added one more point to his resolve. He would get even with her if it took him a lifetime.

"Maybe you could teach him to milk," Celia said. "Somebody's got to."

Drury paid no attention to her. He stood up and walked over to the window and looked out onto the plaza. "All right," he said, without turning around. "I suppose success imposes obligations on people. And it's true what you remarked, Teacher. If you can't feed yourself, you'll start preying on us again. I reckon I can afford that protection." He turned to face Sam. "Report as soon as you can to Gates, my foreman. I'll send word up to him tonight."

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Think of shrimp or crabmeat and 90 times out of 91 you think of either salad or the combination the cook puts under a very nippy red cocktail sauce.

It's an injustice—both of them make very excellent supper and even dinner dishes. They are friendly with other foodstuffs, particularly the hot tongued ingredients of a spicy sauce. Since both varieties of shell fish are available, ready to use, in cans, it's not much of a trick to turn them into quick main dishes.

Crabmeat and Olive Souffle.

[Serves four.]
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups milk
1 cup flaked crabmeat
4 tablespoons chopped ripe olives
3 eggs, separated

Make a white sauce of the butter, flour, salt, and milk. Cool and add the crabmeat, olives, and well beaten egg yolks. Fold in stiffly beaten whites. Turn into a buttered baking dish, set in pan of hot water, and bake in a moderate [350 degrees] oven until firm, about 40 to 45 minutes.

Shrimp Chow Mein.

[Serves six.]
2 cups canned shrimp, cut in pieces
⅓ cup finely sliced onion
1 green pepper, sliced
1 tablespoon olive oil
2 cups thinly sliced celery
1 cup soup stock
¾ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons soy sauce
1½ cups bean sprouts, canned
1 tablespoon flour
1 No. 2½ can Chinese noodles

Combine onions, shrimp, and green pepper, and sauté in olive oil until slightly browned. Add celery, stock, seasoning, and sauce, and simmer 15 minutes, or until vegetables are tender. Add bean sprouts; heat thru. Make a paste of flour in a little cold water and add to cooked mixture, beating well, to avoid lumping. Cook until thickened and serve very hot over crisp Chinese noodles.

Crabmeat in Avocado Shells.

[Serves four.]
¾ cup canned corn, cream style
1 cup flaked crabmeat
1 finely cut pimiento
2 tablespoons cream
¼ teaspoon paprika
2 large avocados
Buttered bread crumbs

Combine corn, crabmeat, pimiento, cream, paprika, and salt to taste. Heat slowly to boiling. Meanwhile, cut avocados in half lengthwise, remove seeds, and pare thinly. Sprinkle shells with salt and place in shallow pan containing enough hot water to cover bottom. Pile cavities with crabmeat mixture. Heat in moderate [350 degrees] oven for about five minutes. Sprinkle with buttered, toasted crumbs and serve immediately.

And Still More Chicagoans Go to Sun Spots

lives in Lake Forest, Mrs. G. Corson Ellis; another daughter who lives in Minneapolis, Mrs. Charles Peet; and two other daughters with Arizona addresses, are all in Sun Valley.

Baroness Wolfgang Beck von Peccoz also is to be found in Sun Valley. She will return to Lake Forest next Sunday.

Mrs. John H. Hamlin of Lake Forest is at the Court Inn in Camden, S. C. Edwin S. Mills also is in Camden.

Charles C. Renshaws Leave for Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Renshaw left Tuesday evening for Florida. They plan to spend two or three weeks in Naples, where they will be joined by their son, Charles Jr., who is a student at Trinity college.

Miss Adele Taylor just has returned from a three weeks' visit in Jacksonville, Fla., with a former classmate at the University School for Girls, Miss Beverley Millikin. Miss Taylor's mother, Mrs. Ezra S. Taylor, who is visiting Mrs. Marshall E. Schoenthaler in Winter Haven, Fla., will return to Winnetka next week.

Countess Gloria Potocka will speak before the Cercle des Jeunes of the Alliance Française at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Her talk on Poland will be illustrated by moving pictures. Miss Anne Stuart, secretary, will preside, and will be in charge of the tea following the program.

Gives Luncheon Today for Nursing Committee.

Mrs. Alva Knight is giving a luncheon today at the Tavern club for the School of Nursing committee of the woman's board of the Presbyterian hospital. Mrs. Herbert F. McLaughlin, Mrs. Clarence M. Wright, Mrs. Lester J. Michael, Mrs. John L. Clarkson, Mrs. George Harvey, and Miss Helen McNair are among the women who will discuss plans for the group's bridge tea which will be held on May 6 at the nurses' home.

The executive committee of the Chicago Flower show is giving its annual luncheon next Tuesday at the Palmer House. The show will be held March 30-April 7 on Navy Pier. Professional florists coöperate with the members of the Garden Club of Illinois in staging the show.

Mrs. Underwood, Widow of Typewriter Maker, Married

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 6.—Mrs. Grace Brainerd Underwood, widow of John T. Underwood, the typewriter millionaire, was married today to Cornelius Vanderbilt Barton, grandnephew of the original Commodore Vanderbilt. Barton, a retired broker, has spent the last 17 years in Paris.

Two New Juvenile Patterns

CHILDREN'S SPRING MODES.

The youngest set is remembered in the patterns today. One creates a comfortable and smart princess slip with panties to match. These garments may be trimmed with lace or left plain, as you choose. The outfit sketched at the right is a three-piece one consisting of a suit and companion blouse. The little jacket is single breasted and has two pockets. There's no collar, for the one on the simple blouse does duty in that regard. The skirt, to match the jacket or contrast, is widely flared.

Style No. 2605 is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8, 10, and 12. Size 8 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material for slip; ⅞ yard for panties included in pattern.

Style No. 3247 is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8, and 10. Size 8 requires 1⅛ yards of 35 inch material for short sleeved blouse; 1⅛ yards for jacket; 1⅜ yards for skirt.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

'Arch Ward to Speak.

Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE, will speak on "Covering the Papal Election" under the auspices of the Loyola University Service guild at 8:15 o'clock this evening in the Lyon & Healy concert hall. Proceeds of the lecture series, of which this program is the fifth, are used to aid underprivileged children.

Foreign Relations Council to Hear Smith Professor

Dr. Hans Kohn, professor of history at Smith college, will speak on "Turkey: The New Near Eastern Front" before the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow in the Grand ballroom of the Palmer House. Dr. Kohn has lived in Turkey and Palestine and is the author of several books on near eastern affairs.

"FRENCH WITHOUT TEARS"

WILSON'S Weekly MEMO by GEORGE RECTOR

Of all the endearing, succulent little edibles I have ever enjoyed, a perfectly seasoned and perfectly cooked pork sausage link about fills the bill. I do not know the formula for Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links but this old palate of mine reports that they are tops for taste. They come in three styles: small, dainty links, large he-man links, and large links, smoked, for those who prefer that smoky flavor, but it's all the same delicious sausage meat.

George Rector
Food Consultant Wilson & Co.

SAUSAGE ON THE HALF SHELL

"Twins in a cradle" would be an equally good name for this dinner dish. Scrub 4 medium-sized baking potatoes, dry, and wipe with a piece of Wilson's Certified Lard, the All-Purpose Shortening. Bake in a moderate oven. Then split in half, scoop out the potato and whip with a generous piece of Clear Brook Butter, ½ cup or more hot milk and 1 beaten Clear Brook Egg. Then add 1 or 2 teaspoons of finely chopped chives. Pile back into the shells.

Be Sure It's Certified

Lay lengthwise on each half, 2 Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links, fried. Place under flame until the top is a delicate golden brown. Allow 2 halves to a serving. If potatoes are extra large, make the sausage triplets or quadruplets instead of twins, and allow half a potato to a serving.

• • •

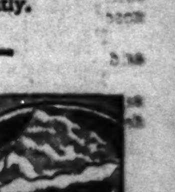
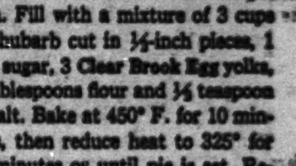
2-MINUTE PIE CRUST



It takes just two minutes to make the crust for the Rhubarb Meringue Pie when there is a jar of your own pastry mix in the refrigerator. To make enough for several pies, measure out 7 cups of all-purpose flour, re-sift with 4 teaspoons of salt. Cut in 1 pound of Wilson's Certified Lard, the All-Purpose Shortening until mixture has consistency of cornmeal. Store, covered, in refrigerator.

Rhubarb Meringue Pie

Measure out 1½ cups of this pastry mix. Blend with 2 to 3 tablespoons of cold water. Roll out and line pie dish. Fill with a mixture of 3 cups of rhubarb cut in ½-inch pieces, 1 cup sugar, 3 Clear Brook Egg yolks, 2 tablespoons flour and ½ teaspoon of salt. Bake at 450° F. for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 325° for 30 minutes or until pie is set. Remove from fire and cool slightly. Beat three egg whites stiff, then beat in 4 tablespoons confectioners' sugar and pile on top of the pie. Return to oven at 325° for 8-10 minutes or until meringue is set and browned. Serve immediately.



BACON-BEAN ENTREE

For a satisfying luncheon entree, cook 1 pound of green beans, trimmed but whole. Fry 8 whole slices of Wilson's Certified Bacon until crisp. Measure off ¼ cup of bacon fat, blend with ¼ cup flour and add 1½ cups milk. Cook until thickened. Add fried bacon, crumbled. Pour over beans, arranged lengthwise, and top with 12 additional slices of crisp bacon. Serves 4-5.

REMINGTON ARMS INDICTED UNDER NEUTRALITY ACT

Smuggling Plot to Aid Mexicans Charged.

Houston, Tex., March 6 (AP).—The federal government charged today the Remington Arms company, conspiring with two Mexican army officers, violated the neutrality act thru unlicensed export of arms.

The allegation was contained in a federal indictment which charged 27,500 rounds of ammunition had been exported without a permit from the secretary of state.

The Mexicans, in jail at Laredo, Tex., on the border, are:

Lieut. Col. Francisco de Valle Arispe, 40, who said he was a candidate, on the National Revolutionary party ticket, for representative in congress from the state of Coahuila. Arispe also said he was chief of staff for Gen. Rodrigo Quevedo.

Gregorio Prieto, 44 year old retired major who said he was in the employ of the National Revolutionary party.

They were indicted jointly with the company.

Company Official Mystified.

In Bridgeport, Conn., James H. Chasmar, Remington general works manager, commented:

"I can't imagine what this is all about. We've been careful to play ball with the state department both before and since the passage of the neutrality act."

George John, assistant United States attorney, said however: "They knew where the arms were going and knew they had to have a permit."

Federal Judge James V. Allred fixed bond for the company at $10,000. Prieto and Arispe have been in the Laredo jail since their arrest Jan. 19 in lieu of $1,500 bond.

Ordered at Mexico City.

Prosecutor John said the government would charge that Arispe ordered the ammunition from Remington thru the company's Mexico City agent. The arms were stored in Laredo, he said, where warehousemen notified customs agents of the shipment.

Arispe and Prieto were arrested on the international bridge at Laredo immediately after they had paid tolls on the ammunition.

There have been frequent armed clashes in the Mexican campaign. Several followers of Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan, principal candidate opposing the government's favorite, have been killed, including his personal aide. Attempts on Almazan's life also have been reported.

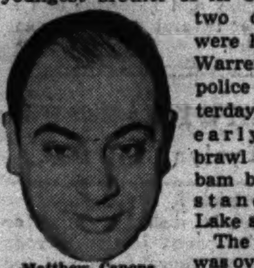
FIX RING CASE EXPECTED TO GO TO JURY TODAY

The case of Daniel D. Glasser and Norton I. Wretske, former assistant United States attorneys charged with conspiracy to fix bootlegging cases, is expected to go to the jury in the court of Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone about noon today.

Glasser, Kretske, and three codefendants have been on trial since Feb. 6. The others are Alfred Roth, an attorney; Anthony Horton, colored, a professional bondsman, and Louis Kaplan, an alcohol peddler.

Defense attorneys attacked the character and motives of government witnesses in closing arguments yesterday. William Scott Stewart and George E. Callaghan argued for Glasser and Kretske, Edward J. Hess for Kaplan, and Cassius Poust for Roth. Assistant United States Attorney Martin Ward will conclude government arguments this morning.

CAPONE'S YOUNGEST BROTHER IS SEIZED IN DINNER CHECK BRAWL



Matthew Capone.

Matthew Capone, 31 years old, youngest brother of Al Capone, and two companions were held at the Warren avenue police station yesterday after an early morning brawl in the Alabam barbecue stand at 1709 Lake street.

The dispute was over payment of a dinner check. Those arrested with Capone are Emmett Robinson, 4905 West 28th place, Cicero, and Walter Kolan, 2810 South 48th court, Cicero, an automobile dealer. Policeman Cassidy said all three appeared to have been drinking.

Capone said he was an automobile salesman and gave his address as 7244 Prairie avenue. Pending an investigation, Capt. George Homer held the three without charges.

TERROR BANDITS INVADE HOME; SLUG, ROB OWNER

E. F. Hurt, a tile roofing contractor, was knocked unconscious last night by two bandits who invaded his home, locked his wife and son in a closet and looted the house of platinum and diamond jewelry valued at $4,000 and a $1,400 mink coat.

The Hurts live at 639 South Elmwood avenue, Oak Park. Hurt, his wife, and son Richard, 8 years old, were at dinner when the front door bell rang. When Hurt opened the door one of the robbers grappled with him while the other slugged him with a revolver butt. As Hurt lay unconscious the bandits terrorized his family and leisurely ransacked the rooms. On their way out they removed $17 from Hurt's pockets.

Oak Park police began a search for two maids, recently dismissed after brief trials by Mrs. Hurt, as possible leads to the robbers. Hurt's business is at 326 South Aberdeen street in Chicago.

BOY, 13, ADMITS SETTING FIRE TO NEIGHBOR'S HOME

A small boy asked a neighbor of Bernard Naurer to call the fire department to the Naurer home at 223 North Wilmette street in Westmont yesterday. The neighbor saw no flames, but upon investigation found the interior burning. Damage of $600 had been done before the firemen could extinguish the fire.

Richard Badovinak, 13 years old, a playmate of the two Naurer children, was found in the neighborhood and questioned. The neighbor said he was the boy who asked that the firemen be called. Frank Doherty, first deputy state fire marshal, was summoned. Richard confessed starting the fire, but could give no reason. He was locked up in the Du Page county jail at Wheaton. His home is at 113 North Warwick street, Westmont.

Falls Under 50 Ton Crane and Is Crushed to Death

Dominick Farella, 53 years old, 722 Blackhawk street, was crushed to death under the wheels of a 50-ton crane yesterday when he apparently slipped on ice in the yard of the Tarrant Foundry company, 1338 Cortland street. He had been adjusting a cable and had signaled the crane operator to move the crane a few feet.

Courtney Back in Office After Vacation in Florida

WARDEN OUSTED FROM MICHIGAN BRANCH PRISON

Lansing, Mich., March 6 [Special].—Marvin L. Coon, warden of the Marquette branch prison, was removed from his post today by the state corrections commission, which long had been considering charges resulting from his kidnaping last fall by four convicts.

In the place of Coon, whose dismissal becomes effective March 23, the commission named Simon R. Anderson, a city commissioner of Marquette.

The convicts, armed with knives and a dummy pistol, forced Coon, Deputy Warden William Newcome, A. Ross Pascoe, chairman of the parole board, and Gerald Bush, a board member, to accompany them as hostages in a flight in the warden's automobile.

Cashier, Unimpressed, Foils Attempt to Hold Up Tavern

George Jacobsen, 32 years old, who was discharged from the city fire department in 1937, was arrested yesterday after he attempted to hold up the tavern at 400 South State street. Carrying a comb in his pocket, he tried to convince the cashier, Miss Rose Walton, that it was a gun. She wouldn't be convinced and Jacobsen ran out, almost into the arms of two policemen.

BANDIT AND BRIDE HELD TO JURY ON ROBBERY CHARGE

Thomas Murray, 30 years old, 225 West 65th street, and his cigar smoking bride, Mary Baker Murray, 22, who married him just after he got out of the Bridewell, Feb. 21, were held to the grand jury in bonds of $50,000 each yesterday by Judge Jay Schiller in Felony court.

Mary Murray and cigar.

They were arrested a week ago shortly after they attempted to rob James Peddie, park district traffic engineer, in front of his home at 4510 Magnolia avenue. Peddie snatched Murray's gun, but the bandit fled in a stolen car driven by his bride. They are charged with robbery and attempted robbery.

Mrs. Murray, who wouldn't talk to police until they had given her a cigar, said she was married at Valparaiso, Ind., the same day that Murray was released from the Bridewell after serving one year for petty larceny.

PAROLE BOARD FREES 108 FROM STATE PRISONS

One hundred and eight criminals were granted paroles from Illinois prisons yesterday by the state parole board. Officials of the board said 45 of the prisoners were sentenced from Cook county.

Fifty of the criminals paroled were from the state reformatory at Pontiac. Of these, 22 were sentenced from Cook county. Stateville penitentiary at Joliet was ordered to release 24 men, of whom 16 were from Cook county. The old Joliet prison was directed to free six, of which five were from Cook county, and Menard penitentiary was directed to release 27 men, two of whom were from Cook county.

One woman was paroled from the state reformatory at Dwight.

CHICAGO TEAM WINS 3 GOLDEN GLOVES TITLES

SLUGGERS RUN UP A TERRIFIC BILL ON THE SOX

Solters, Wright Lead Ball Losing Derby.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 6.—If the White Sox fail to produce any worthwhile hitting during the coming season, it won't be because they weren't properly prepared for the effort. Today, for the third time in succession, or since the regulars made their first appearance Monday, bat swinging took up just about all of a three hour drill under the leadership of Manager James Dykes. The results were pleasing to the eye, even though $1.25 was flying with every ball which arched into the evergreens beyond the outfield hedge.

Dykes, who has been around so long that he prefers to restrain his enthusiasm for things that happen in the pennant race, seemed to be slightly intrigued by what his batters were doing. He laughed off an insinuation that his interest was due to the costs of the exhibition at so much per baseball, but he did sort of intimate he still was satisfied he hadn't made any bonehead transactions in the winter's trading market.

Show of Power Is Costly.

It must have cost the club at least $12.50 for Julius Solters' piece of the batting practice. Solters is the ex-St. Louis Brown slated for regular employment in left field. Taft Wright, the pudgy gentleman taken from Washington for Gerry Walker, and who is tentatively ticketed for right field, ran up a ten dollar bill by his series of drives beyond the hedge, which at its shortest point is 343 feet from the plate.

Even Tom Turner, the muscular rookie catcher, continued his barrage into the evergreens and, of course, reliable Mike Kreevich didn't allow himself to be entirely eclipsed by the newcomers.

Turner, who was drafted from the St. Louis Cardinals' farm at Houston, Tex., gives promise of engaging in a real scrap with Mike Tresh for the first string catching assignment. Turner can throw, runs about as well as the average catcher, and his record improved each of the four seasons he spent in the Cardinals' chain gang. Tresh did mighty well last year for a freshman but a manager always is susceptible to a fellow who might hit.

Hayes Still Frisky.

Mixed in with the batting practice was the usual infield practice, always the concluding feature of the Sox daily drill. Jack Hayes was in on this again today, working with the prospective regular combination for the second time. Hayes continued to move around fearlessly, thus strengthening the belief, or hope, that he really has shaken off his right knee troubles. If this is true it not only solves Dykes' batting order problem [Hayes being the only proven leadoff man] but also assures an experienced infield combination until something else happens.

Because the weather has been better than in other years when it was pretty good for training purposes, Dykes has decided to declare a holiday Sunday. He doesn't want his boys to get in real trim too soon.

Where wealth like that could do most good
For the lame, the halt, the blind."

I've wondered if such wishes
Aren't often alibis,
Because it doesn't take money
To bring some glad surprise
Into some drab and dreary lives
Or brighten some poor soul's way,
It often takes so little to change
A sky to blue from gray.

So, never mind waiting till you are rich
To lend a helping hand,
In the very block in which you live
You can make your opening stand;

HARTNETT SEEKS FARM HAND TO REPLACE LEIBER

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., March 6.—Lou Novikoff, Los Angeles outfielder who led two leagues in hitting last year, has been knocking 450 foot homers every day in the training camp of the Los Angeles Pacific Coast league club, and every time he socks one Gabby Hartnett, manager of the Cubs, gets vibrations which give him distinct pains in the neck. Gabby covets Lou, and how.

The thick silence coming from holdout Hank Leiber's abode in Phoenix, Ariz., has caused Gabby's pain to become increasingly acute with each display of Novikoff's strength. Hourly he bellows at Front Man Clarence Rowland to do something about acquiring the so-called mad Russian, even suggesting kidnaping if more genteel devices fail. Moreover, some headway is reported.

Wrigley Holds the Answer.

After he had done great things with his bat in Tulsa, then Los Angeles, last season, there was much talk of Lou becoming a Cub right off, seeing as P. K. Wrigley owns both the Cubs and the Angels, and therefore holds the deed to Novikoff.

This talk was quieted down by repeated assertions that the mad Russian was too much of a hero to depart the Los Angeles team, which had found itself almost fresh out of heroes when Novikoff boomed into fan favor.

Angels Want to Keep Him.

The Los Angeles club, tho under virtually the same ownership as the Cubs, operates as an independent unit. The management seems determined to hold Novikoff for at least another season, and there are rumors that Wrigley has assured Los Angeles fans that there will be no snatching. Gabby had just about surrendered to this state of affairs with the purchase of Dominic Dallesandro, full time batting champion of the Pacific Coast league last season. Then came the prolonged holdout of Leiber and those vibrations from Novikoff's bat over in Ontario, Cal.

The situation is not as hopeless as it seems, however, and if Leiber keeps silent much longer don't be surprised to hear of Novikoff being in a Cub uniform by the time the Cubs leave Los Angeles March 28.

Another hard tho routine drill was held today and all hands are expected to be in condition for the opening of the intraclub series Friday.

Twosomes Play Saturday for 4 Ball Championship

Coral Gables, Fla., March 6 (AP).—Billy Burke of Cleveland, O., and Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y., will meet Dick Metz of Oak Park, Ill. and Ky Laffoon of Miami, Okla., Saturday in the 36 hole final match for the international four ball golf championship. The match was scheduled for today, but was postponed because of rain.

Princeton Beats Columbia; Shares 2d in League Race

New York, March 6 [Special].—Princeton defeated Columbia tonight, 34 to 30, and joined Cornell in a second place deadlock in the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball league race.

NEW YORK PICKS TEAM! SLOGAN? 'BEAT CHICAGO'

BY PAT PATTEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 6.—"Who won in my division in Chicago?"

This question, repeated eight times, as New York crowned its 1940 Golden Gloves champions, was the keynote tonight as the survivors of an original field of more than 10,000 battled before 15,582 howling fans in Madison Square Garden for the right to meet Chicago's own in the 13th annual intercity matches in this same arena on March 18.

Each champion hurried to the corner of the ring where reports from Chicago were being received to demand the name and caliber of his opponent to be from the west. In spite of the difference in time which delayed the final returns from THE TRIBUNE's tournament finals, the boys in the heavier weights, who fought last, refused to dress until the information had been provided.

It's Typical of Golden Gloves.

This spirit, typical of all Golden Glovers, has marked every step of the Daily New's Welfare association's tournament. From Coach Spike Webb down to the greenest alternate, the New York team seeks victory—decisive victory this time—to help offset the string of five successive tournaments without triumph over Chicago.

And New York well may be proud and confident. The eight boys who won championships tonight are, without exception, rugged, talented, and possessed of limitless courage.

Philadelphia won five victories in the eight final bouts to capture the team trophy.

112 POUNDS—Demetrio Carabella, New York.
118 POUNDS—Johnny Aeillo, Philadelphia.
126 POUNDS—Frankie Donato, Philadelphia.
135 POUNDS—Ray Robinson, New York.
147 POUNDS—Al Tribuani, Philadelphia.
160 POUNDS—Bob Jacobs, Philadelphia.
175 POUNDS—Andy Sfrisi, Philadelphia.
HEAVYWEIGHT—Ted Wint, Westchester, N. Y.

Demetrio Carabella, Puerto Rican born beauty operator, used a murderous right hook effectively to earn a close decision over Ray Wyzkiewicz, 17 year old high school senior from Buffalo. Ray rallied, but was unable to catch up.

Johnny Aeillo Wins.

Peter Beaton of Westchester, N. Y., 20 year old veteran bantamweight of last year's competition, battled Johnny Aeillo of Philadelphia on even terms until the third round, when Aeillo's superior infighting gained him a slight margin.

The first break in the march of favorites occurred in the featherweight division when Frankie Donato, husky vulcanizer from Philadelphia, held off Lou Valentine, New York colored lad with the bolo punch, for two rounds and then closed in on him in the final round.

Lightweight Ray Robinson, whom Chicago will remember as last year's intercity champion, swarmed all over Jimmy Butler of Atlanta and stopped him in 1 minute 41 seconds of the first round. The knockout was Ray's seventh in the tournament.

21,350 WATCH CANADEO, DADE, YOUNG TRIUMPH

Kinney Stopped by Richie of St. Louis.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Eight boys succeeded last night at a job at which 20,000 others failed. These youngsters fought their way to Chicagoland Golden Gloves championships before a crowd of 21,350 that packed all available space in the Chicago Stadium—the world's largest indoor arena.

Weeks ago, more than 20,000 amateur boxers in 23 states launched a campaign for Golden Gloves. They were cut down by thousands in the sectional eliminations held in 43 out of town centers where newspapers cooperated with Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., in the sponsorship of Golden Gloves competition. Their numbers were reduced by hundreds in last week's Tournament of Champions. Now only these eight are left—and judging by the acclaim of the crowd, each one is worthy to take his place with those great fighters of the past who have earned this honor.

Here are the Golden Gloves champions of 1940:

112 POUNDS—Harold Dade, Chicago.
118 POUNDS—Richard Menchaca, Fort Worth, Tex.
126 POUNDS—Roy Lewis, Muncie, Ind.
135 POUNDS—Tony Ancona, Detroit, Mich.
147 POUNDS—Savior Canadeo, Chicago.
160 POUNDS—Joe Maxin, Cleveland, O.
175 POUNDS—James Richie, St. Louis, Mo.
HEAVYWEIGHT—Cornelius Young, Chicago.

Thru an evening replete with action these fighters stood up and slugged it out with the powerful foes who had survived to the last night of the long campaign. Twenty-four bouts were fought—sixteen semi-finals and eight finals. There was never a letup from the moment Gene Evans of Oklahoma City climbed into the ring with Diego Hidalgo of Burlington, Ia., to open the semi-finals until Cornelius Young of Chicago exchanged the last volley of punches with William Cowan of Rockford.

A Variety Show with Leather.

In the course of the evening the crowd saw clever boxing and hard hitting. There were surprises as the fortunes of battle shifted. There were thrills as spectacular rallies were climaxed with knockdown punches.

Tho Chicago this year competed on a numerical par with all of the other 43 centers, this city's team made one of its greatest showings in the history of the tournament. No other town was able to earn more than one title this season.

This is the second consecutive year Ancona has taken a Golden Gloves championship. He held the featherweight title last season. Young is another former champion, having been king of the middleweights in 1938.

Dade's clever boxing gave him a three round decision in his flyweight final bout with Gene Evans of Oklahoma City. Both boys were strong enough defensively and fast enough at dodging to avoid taking any staggering punches. Dade's straight lefts landed with sufficient frequency to give him the decision.

Menchaca scored repeatedly in the first and second rounds to accumulate enough points to counterbalance the strong last round rally of Jimmy Joyce of Gary in the bantamweight final. Hammering away aggresively, Menchaca shot damaging lefts and rights to the head in the early stages of the bout. Joyce came back powerfully and pounded his adversary heavily near the close.

Lewis Outscores Haire.

Lewis won his featherweight final with Leon Haire of St. Louis by taking the offensive at the outset and keeping it thruout the bout. Circling cautiously, Haire evaded most of Lewis' punches, but whenever they closed the Muncie boy tagged him often enough to get the decision. Haire's most effective weapon was a long left which he flicked to Lewis' face as he bobbed in and out of range.

Ancona gave a convincing exhibi-

CHICAGO SQUAD OF 35 PICKED FOR INTERCITY BOUTS

Behr to Train Boxers for New York Invasion.

After last night's stirring Golden Gloves finals in the Stadium Coach Johnny Behr named a squad of 35 boxers who will go in training for the intercity bouts against the New York Golden Gloves champions March 18 in Madison Square Garden. The list follows:

135 POUNDS—Robert Simmons, Gary, Ind.; Tony Ancona, Detroit, Mich.; Joe Sgro, Indianapolis, Ind.; Ed O'Connell, Chicago.

HEAVYWEIGHTS—William Cowan, Rockford, Ill.; Cornelius Young, Chicago; Mike Siedlik, Detroit, Mich.; Bill Peterson, Chicago.

Harry Hall, former judge of Golden Gloves tournaments in Chicago, was seen renewing old friendships among officials. Hall, who moved his business to Detroit two years ago, was a judge at the heavyweight championship encounter between Joe Louis and Bob Pastor.

Benny Leonard, retired undefeated world lightweight champion, had difficulty moving around while seconding George Hayes of Des Moines, Station WHO welterweight, against Morris Corona of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, the result of a charley horse he suffered while refereeing a professional fight in Milwaukee last Friday. Corona received the decision after a hard battle.

A number of former Golden Gloves champions, now a little older and some a little gray, returned for last night's show. They included Barney Ross, featherweight; Harry Garbell, bantamweight, and Ed Wills, light heavyweight, all 1929 title holders; Nick Scialaba, bantamweight, and Freddy Caserio, middleweight, 1931 champions; Otis Thomas, heavyweight, 1934; Johnny Brown, bantamweight, and Andy Scrivani, featherweight, 1935; Willie Joyce, featherweight, 1937. Caserio also won a title in 1933 and Brown won a second championship in 1936.

James Roosevelt, son of the President, didn't leave his seat once thruout the four hour program. Neither did Arthur Green, Chicago business man, who was with him.

James Clarke of the American National bank, had a front row seat. Not far away were Congressman Adolph Sabath and James Gregory, theatrical magnate. Farther back were Gertrude Niesen, stage, screen, and radio star, and her father. Other enthusiastic Golden Gloves supporters were Potter Palmer III. of the Palmer House, Leonard Hicks of the Morrison hotel, Frank Bering of the Sherman, and I. B. Pearlmann of the Chicagoan hotel. William Harridge Jr. represented his father, president of the American league, who is in Florida.

Kenneth L. [Tug] Wilson, athletic director, and Burt Ingwersen, football line coach at Northwestern, arrived early so as not to miss any of the excitement. So did George Halas of the Bears and Charley Bidwill of the Cardinals, professional football standard bearers. Elmer Layden, Notre Dame sports head, came in before the first of the championship bouts.

Story of Golden Gloves Title Bouts

112 POUNDS

Harold Dade, Chicago, beat Gene Evans, Oklahoma City [3].

Evans opened the offensive by unleashing a series of rights and lefts but missed with most of them. Dade l[illegible]ed in, was short with a long right, and was solidly countered by the Oklahoman. Evans scored with several punches before Dade could recover. Dade landed a left and right to the jaw just before the round ended.

There was considerable floundering in the early part of the second round. Both boys were so anxious that Evans, at one point, lunged in and turned a complete somersault as Dade ducked under him. They traded left jabs frequently and Evans continued to be wild with his right hand. Dade, by clever footwork, made Evans miss and tied him up as he came in close.

Richard Menchaca, Fort Worth, Tex., beat Jimmy Joyce, Gary, Ind. [3].

Joyce appeared with patches over both eyes. Menchaca immediately began firing rights for the head and soon Joyce's left eye was bleeding. Joyce boxed carefully for a while, jabbing and backing away. Joyce suddenly unleashed a right near the close of the round that shook Menchaca up.

Menchaca came rushing out of the corner but neither man was able to hit the other in the first wild exchange of punches. The Gary boy circled around looking for an opening. Menchaca's body attack scored heavily. Then he started throwing rights to the head. Menchaca's right raised a red welt on Joyce's left eye. In a neutral corner, the boys exchanged punches to the body.

Roy Lewis, Muncie, Ind., beat Leon Haire, St. Louis, Mo. [3].

Haire, over six feet tall, stabbed a long left at southpaw Lewis. Lewis rushed in and swung several hard lefts to the body. Some landed but most missed fire as Haire stepped aside. Haire landed a right to the face then kept Lewis off with a straight left. Lewis swung several futile lefts, but then got in close enough to score with a couple to the body.

Tony Ancona, Detroit, stopped Robert Simmons, Gary, Ind. [3].

Action at first was extremely slow, as both boys boxed cautiously. Ancona rushed Simmons into the ropes and swung a left that missed. Simmons caught Ancona rushing in and landed a right that sent Ancona to his haunches.

An exchange of jabs featured the first minute of the second round. Ancona sank a right to the body and another right to the head. A left hook sent Simmons down for a nine count. Another left hook shook Simmons. They traded blows furiously for a while in the center. A right to the jaw sent Simmons down for another nine count just before the round ended.

147 POUNDS

Savior Canadeo, Chicago, beat Morris Corona, Fort Worth, Tex. [3].

Both boxers, fast and clever, traded jabs for a while until Canadeo lunged in and missed with a right to the head. Canadeo then counted with a left hook to the face and they traded body blows. Canadeo jabbed, but took a right to the head just before the bell.

Canadeo scored with a couple jabs but his left hook went around Corona's neck. They traded several body blows. Both were too anxious and missed with rights, but a body bombardment followed. Canadeo jabbed the Fort Worth boy back twice. Canadeo pounded Corona around the body and then brought up a right to the head. Just before the bell Corona landed a right to the face.

Joe Maxin, Cleveland, beat Otto Stowe, Springfield, Ill. [3].

Stowe swung a wild left hook and Maxin went down, but got up immediately. Stowe then rushed in and flailed away with both hands to the head, but did little damage. An uppercut sent Maxin's head back. An exchange of hard blows followed. Maxin's glove became unlaced and time was called until it was fixed. Stowe forced Maxin back into the ropes with body blows. Maxin then countered with a left and right to the head.

They went right back to throwing knockout punches in the second round. Stowe began to miss as Maxin weaved low. The Cleveland boy ducked under another right then, along the ropes, and forced Stowe to hold on from a series of body blows. Maxin followed up his advantage and sent Stowe back into the ropes from another body attack and just before the bell a right to the head made Stowe's knees buckle.

At the start of the third, Stowe rushed out, apparently refreshed and did very well until he caught a right to the head that rocked him. Joe jabbed Stowe into position then crossed a right to the head. A body attack made Stowe double up and hold on. Maxin forced Stowe back into the ropes but his right to the head was too wide. Stowe held on desperately from another attack to the body which continued until the bell ended the round.

James Richie, St. Louis, stopped Ragon Kinney, Fort Smith, Ark. [1].

Kinney appeared with a heavy patch over his left eye. He sparred cautiously, waiting for Richie to lead. Finally they both threw rights to the head. Kinney rushed in with lefts and rights to the head. Richie counted with a short right to the head. Kinney then lunged in with a straight, stiff left to the head. Kinney came in fast, but was pummelled around the body.

Between rounds, after an examination of Kinney by a Golden Gloves physician, the referee raised Richie's hand in sign of victory.

HEAVYWEIGHT

Cornelius Young, Chicago, beat William Cowan, Rockford, Ill. [3].

The big fellows opened up swinging hard rights to the head and Cowan scored with a heavy blow to the jaw. Young, the faster man of the two, danced in with several left hooks to the face. Along the ropes they traded rights that made both give ground for a moment. They were in close hammering away to the body at the bell.

Cowan unleashed a right to the head, but was countered by several left hooks. Young sent several fast jabs to the face. In close Young sent a terrific right to the face, but the big boy from Rockford shook it off. Young staggered Cowan with a right to the head, but the latter came right back swinging to the face until the bell rang.

The third round found them once more throwing punches very fast for heavyweights. Young landed a jab to the face and several punches to the body. Cowan rushed in and threw an overhand right to the face. They fought furiously until Young nearly dropped the Rockford boy with a right to the jaw. Cowan refused to back away and again Cornelius scored with rights to the head.

The Angel (a Wrestler) Is Booked for March 20

The Angel is coming to Chicago. This does not indicate a celestial visitation, but the arrival of Maurice Tillet, the French wrestler who is quaintly called the Angel. This strange fellow, who weighs 276 pounds, is only 5 feet 8½ inches, has been measured by Harvard anthropologists since his arrival in America. Promoter Ed White announced yesterday that the Angel will meet a worthy opponent in the Coliseum on March 20.

Canadeo Has a Close Call.

Canadeo earned his welterweight title with a very close decision over Morris Corona of Fort Worth, Tex. Both boys were aggressive but both were such clever boxers that few openings were offered. Canadeo landed enough straight lefts to hold a short margin of points at the finish.

After being knocked down in the first round Maxin came back to win a decision over Otto Stowe of Springfield in the middleweight final. Right after the opening bell Stowe floored Maxin with a right to the jaw. The Cleveland boy was up immediately but was forced to weather a terrific fusilade of punches. In the second round the battle shifted. It was Maxin who did the heavy slugging. Repeatedly he drove his opponent to the ropes and forced him to clinch. The third round was a repitition of the second.

Cowan Gives Young a Fight.

Richie won his light heavyweight title when Ragon Kinney was unable to come out for the second round due to the reopening of a cut over his left eye, which he had incurred in winning his semi-final match. The one round they fought was devoted largely to maneuvering.

Young was forced to call upon all his skill in winning a decision over William Cowan of Rockford. Cowan, who had an advantage of weight, height, and reach, staggered the Chicago boy with chopping rights to the jaw as the bout began. Young quickly regained his poise, however, and fought a well calculated bout the rest of the way. Gradually he took the advantage and was scoring repeatedly in the last round.

The eight boys who won championships received the most highly cherished prizes in amateur boxing—miniature golden gloves, studded with diamonds. The runners-up were awarded silver gloves studded with emeralds.

One of the features of the evening was the presentation of the Joe Louis and Barney Ross sportsmanship trophies to William Cowan of the Rockford team and Morris Corona of Fort Worth, respectively.

GOLFERS TO GO TO SCHOOL FOR 2 DAYS AT PURDUE

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Golf professionals and coaches, accustomed to the teaching side of their trade, are going back to school and absorb a little l'arnin' on their own on April 10 and 11. The occasion will be a two day golf clinic at Purdue university under the sponsorship of the school's division of physical education for men, in coöperation with the Professional Golfers' Association of America.

Announcement of plans for the clinic was made jointly yesterday by Noble Kizer, Purdue athletic director, and Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley, national P. G. A. president. Professionals, college and high school coaches from Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin, Michigan, and Kentucky have been invited to attend the clinic, which its sponsors feel will be the forerunner of similar forums to be held at schools thruout the country.

Termed Forward Step.

The program of the clinic has been formulated by M. L. Clevett, Purdue recreation director, and Frank Sprogell, Grand Rapids professional who is a vice president of the P. G. A. It will consist not only of a number of lectures to the visiting pros and coaches but also will include golf movies and a spell of group instruction for 300 students in Purdue's huge fieldhouse.

"In sponsoring this clinic," Walsh said, "Purdue has taken one of the most forward steps in the history of athletic education. Golf professionals should not be content to give so many lessons a day, look after their own shops, and then call it a day. If doctors of medicine hold clinics, why shouldn't golf pros do likewise? This Purdue clinic can well bring us to the day where a young fellow interested enough in golf to make it a career will find his opportunities increased by the fact that he has attended a series of lectures such as these."

Medic to Speak.

The clinic will open the afternoon of April 10. Sprogell will preside over this session, which will include tips on teaching by a leading psychologist and an address, "The Doctor Looks at Golf," by Dr. Robert E. Dyer of Chicago's North Shore club.

In the evening President Walsh will preside over the mass demonstration in the fieldhouse. The morning schedule of the April 11 program will witness an outline of high school golf by Frank Stafford of the Indiana state board of health, and of the status of the game in the colleges by Ted Payseur, Northwestern coach, and Prof. Hazel Hazelton, head of Purdue's physical education department for women. A forum of class instruction methods will precede addresses by President E. C. Elliott of Purdue and Herb Graffis. Alex Cunningham of North Shore, Illinois section president and national vice president, will preside over this session.

Three leading tournament players—Gene Sarazen, Horton Smith, and Johnny Revolta—already are definitely scheduled to appear during the outdoor demonstration which will conclude the clinic.

body punchers, slugged it out in the welterweight final. Equally matched in height and reach, they kept the fans on their feet. Tribuani won the decision.

Bob Jacobs, a colored southpaw from Philadelphia, won the middleweight title over Cooper White, a steelworker from Huntington, W. Va., when an eye wound suffered by White in the semi-final was reopened. White's face was badly battered and the bout was called at the end of the second round, giving Jacobs victory by a technical knockout.

Andy Sfrisi, still another member of the Philadelphia delegation, won the light heavyweight crown when he defeated Ed Heinzinger, a willing but clumsy giant from Westchester.

Ted Wint, colored giant from Westchester, N. Y., completed the New York team when he mauled out a decision over Joe Golembeck of Charlotte, N. C., a football star at Elon college, in a slow heavyweight match.

OLD FASHIONED BUT STILL IN STYLE

BUDWEISER has always gone to market in style
Anheuser-Busch's 8-horse-hitch of International Champion Clydesdales, sketched above, recalls the days when Budweiser's magnificent horses were almost as famous as the beer itself

..that's why GMCs have the job in 1940!

Many things have changed since the days of horse-drawn brewery wagons. But Budweiser still is made according to the famous old formula. And Anheuser-Busch delivery standards still are the highest! The GMCs that deliver today's Budweiser in Chicago are the strongest-pulling trucks on the streets, size for size. Their "championship" performance simply can't be matched by any other truck. GMC is truly the truck of value for every kind of hauling.

GAMES TODAY.
Juniors—Semi-Finals.
Tilden vs. Manley at Englewood, 3 p. m.

It's Hirsch of the south section versus Crane Tech of the west for the senior basketball championship of the Chicago Public High School league.

Hirsch laid down a heavy barrage in the opening period and held a commanding lead thruout to whip Phillips of the central zone, 51 to 24, in Gage Park High gymnasium yesterday and qualified for the final city playoff game. Crane won the first semi-final Monday, defeating Amundsen of the north division, 37 to 28.

Crane and Hirsch will meet for the title at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon on the De La Salle court. The winner will represent Chicago in the state tournament in Champaign, March 14-16, joining the survivors of sectional meets which started last night in 15 Illinois cities.

Establishing a 14 to 2 advantage in the first quarter, Hirsch went on to lead at half time, 30 to 12, and at three-quarters, 42 to 19. Thereafter reserves entered the fray and managed to outscore Phillips by a 9 to 5 margin in the closing period.

Roosevelt advanced to the junior semi-finals by defeating Tuley, 34 to 30, at Lane Tech yesterday, thus qualifying to oppose Marshall at a time and place to be decided today. In the other junior semi-final Tilden and Manley, both of the central section, will meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Englewood.

DE PAUL WHIPS BRADLEY, 41-39, IN ROUGH GAME

Peoria, Ill., March 6 [Special].—De Paul university nosed out Bradley Tech, 41 to 39, tonight on Ted Skrodzki's long shot in the last 15 seconds. It was De Paul's 21st victory in 25 starts. One loss was to Bradley, 34 to 33, in Chicago a month ago and the hero, Paul McCall, tied up tonight's game at 39-39 with 45 seconds to go. De Paul led at the half, 20 to 19.

Leading the way for De Paul was Lou Possner, sophomore forward who made five field goals and six free throws for 16 points. Lloyd Bortel of Bradley scored 10 points. Thirty-four fouls were called. The lineups:

March Rain.

With a steady rhythm falls the rain,
Dropping like silver spears, upon the ground,
Splashing, en route, against my windowpane,
Striking new tones with each staccato sound.
On small pools everywhere the raindrops play
Their lyric xylophonic symphonies—
Sometimes the songs are sad and sometimes gay—
Sometimes fury prompts their melodies.
Small pools, like shining mirrors, dot the street,
Ripples move across each placid face,
Stirred by the wind as it blows in retreat
Before the rain who leads a merry chase.

Then comes the calm when rain has ceased to fall,
Earth lifts its head and wakens from its thrall.

Yank Regulars Rally to Tie the Yannigans, 7-7

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 6 [Special].—A ninth inning triple by Joe Gordon, following singles by George Selkirk and Charley Keller, drove in two runs and saved the Yankee regulars from defeat by the Yannigans' in the champions' first intra-club game of the season today. The contest ended in a 7 to 7 tie.

An error by Bill Dickey, playing in right field, also helped the rally. Earlier in the game Keller contributed two triples, one off George Washburn and the other off Lee Grissom.

Johnny Sturm, rookie first baseman from Kansas City, got three successive singles. Buddy Blair, rookie third baseman, collected two for the regulars. Jake Powell's triple and a double and two singles by Arndt Jorgens featured the Yannigans' attack.

CARL HUBBELL EFFECTIVE.

Winter Haven, Fla., March 6 (AP).—The New York Giants were encouraged today as the result of Carl Hubbell's first serious throwing of the training season. Hubbell worked three scoreless innings, allowing only one hit, while pitching against the club's strongest batters in a camp game.

KOY POUNDS OUT FOUR HITS.

Clearwater, Fla., March 6 (AP).—Outfielder Ernie Koy, coaxed into swinging his bat with a smooth swing instead of starting with a jerky motion, hit two home runs and two singles in five innings as Leo Durocher's nine whipped Coach Charley Dressen's team, 11 to 2. Whitlow Wyatt allowed seven runs and nine hits in pitching two innings.

ATHLETICS WIN, 12-3.

Anaheim, Cal., March 6 (AP).—Earle Brucker, first string catcher while Frankie Hayes is a holdout, led the Philadelphia Athletics to a 12 to 3 victory over Portland of the Pacific Coast league in an exhibition game here today, with two doubles during his four innings of work. Eddie Collins Jr. turned in a triple and single and Benny McCoy a single and double.

GREENBERG IN OUTFIELD.

Lakeland, Fla., March 6 (AP).—Hank Greenberg, erstwhile first baseman, made his debut as a Detroit Tiger outfielder today in a six inning intra-squad game.

Getting a single and triple off Freddie Hutchinson, Greenberg looked better at the plate than in the field, where one fly crossed him up. There was a hight wind, however, and Hank wasn't the only outfielder to be fooled. Because of a lame back Charley Gehringer did not play.

ROOKIES PLEASE M'KECHNIE.

Tampa, Fla., March 6 (AP).—Manager Bill McKechnie, always the rookies' friend, today announced he intends to send a crew of fledgling Reds into an exhibition game here Friday with Brooklyn. The rookies lost 9 to 5 to the regulars in a 12 inning game today, but McKechnie was pleased with the losers' performance. In the seventh inning Johnny Vander Meer, who is determinedly dogging the comeback trail, filled the bases with regulars and then proceeded to fan Ival Goodman for the thi-- out.

KILIAN AND VOPEL RACE IN BUFFALO AS COMPETITORS

Buffalo, N. Y., March 6 (AP).—Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel, German cyclists who spent 44 days en route to the United States via Russia, Siberia, and Japan, will race against each other in Buffalo's six day bike race beginning tomorrow night. Kilian has been paired with Henry O'Brien of San José, Cal., while his former teammate, Vopel, rides with Cecil Yates of Chicago. Other teams include:

Cesare Moretti, Italy, and Jules Audy, Montreal; Bobby Thomas, Kenosha, Wis., and Gerard Debaets, Belgium; Charley Yaccino, Chicago, and Danny Esposito, Newark, N. J.; Torchy and Doug Peden, Victoria, B. C.; Jimmy Walthour, New York, and Al Crossley, Boston; Tino Reboli and Angelo De Bacco, both of Newark; Charley Bergna, Paterson, N. Paul Dean Asks to Pitch for Dallas in Texas League

Winter Haven Fla., March 6 (AP).—Paul Dean's threatened retirement from baseball may turn out to be only a withdrawal from the majors. Manager Bill Terry of the New York Giants said today Dean had written him saying he would like to pitch for the Dallas Steers in the Texas league, thus remaining close to his home. Instead of making a decision Terry has asked Dean to come to camp to discuss the matter.

CENTRAL A. A. U. MEET DRAWS 16 ILLINOIS FIVES

The annual Central A. A. U. basketball tournament will start tomorrow night at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue, with 16 championship teams or runners-up in various leagues thruout Illinois competing for the right to represent Illinois in the National A. A. U. cage meet in Denver the last of this month.

The tourney will be continued with sessions Saturday, Sunday, and Tuesday nights, with part of the proceeds going to the Finnish Relief fund. The first round pairings:

Tomorrow—7 p. m., Burton-Dixie vs. Graham Shyrons; 8 p. m., De Paul Frosh vs. 124th Field Artillery; 9 p. m., Aurora Pikes vs. Acme Steel; 10 p. m., St. Sabina vs. Petrones.

Quarter-finals games will be played Sunday evening and championship and semi-final contests Tuesday.

Joe Medwick Quits Cards on Sit-Out Strike

St. Louis, Mo., March 6 (AP).—Joe Medwick, leader of baseball's remaining holdouts, flew home from training camp today, a disgruntled, dissatisfied player, but certain the St. Louis Cardinals would not let his talents remain idle.

In a huff because Branch Rickey, vice president and general manager of the Cardinals, had failed to meet him yesterday to discuss salary terms, the slugging outfielder left St. Petersburg, Fla., where the team is training, and came to St. Louis by airplane.

Medwick said he intended to remain here at his home and carry on a fireside sitout until club officials come to him with a suitable contract. The hot tempered player, who has had many altercations on the field, said he was in good condition and ready to play, but he saw no reason for remaining in St. Petersburg while unsigned. He has never hit under .300 during his major league career.

Asks for $20,000 Salary.

Medwick would not disclose the details of his salary squabble with the club, but it was understood he was asking for $20,000, which would restore the $2,000 cut he took last year when he signed for $18,000 after a lengthy holdout.

The National league's most valuable player in 1937, when he won the batting championship, said he wasn't worried about the possibility he would be out of the game this season.

RICKEY EXPRESSES SURPRISE.

Asheville, N. C., March 6 (AP).—Branch Rickey, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, upon being informed late today that Joe Medwick had returned to St. Louis from Florida, said he was surprised and disappointed.

"I had hoped to see him promptly upon my arrival in camp," Rickey said. "Some time ago Joe called me by telephone from St. Petersburg and in the course of conversation I told him that I would leave St. Louis on Tuesday. I cannot understand how he could have misunderstood."

Rickey will leave here tomorrow for the Cardinal camp.

HARDER, HALE READY.

Fort Myers, Fla., March 6 (AP).—Pitcher Mel Harder and Second Baseman Sammy Hale of the Cleveland Indians who were handicapped last season by sore arms, reported their throwing equipment in good condition todaya.

BOOSTER TEAMS TO START A. B. C. MEET TONIGHT

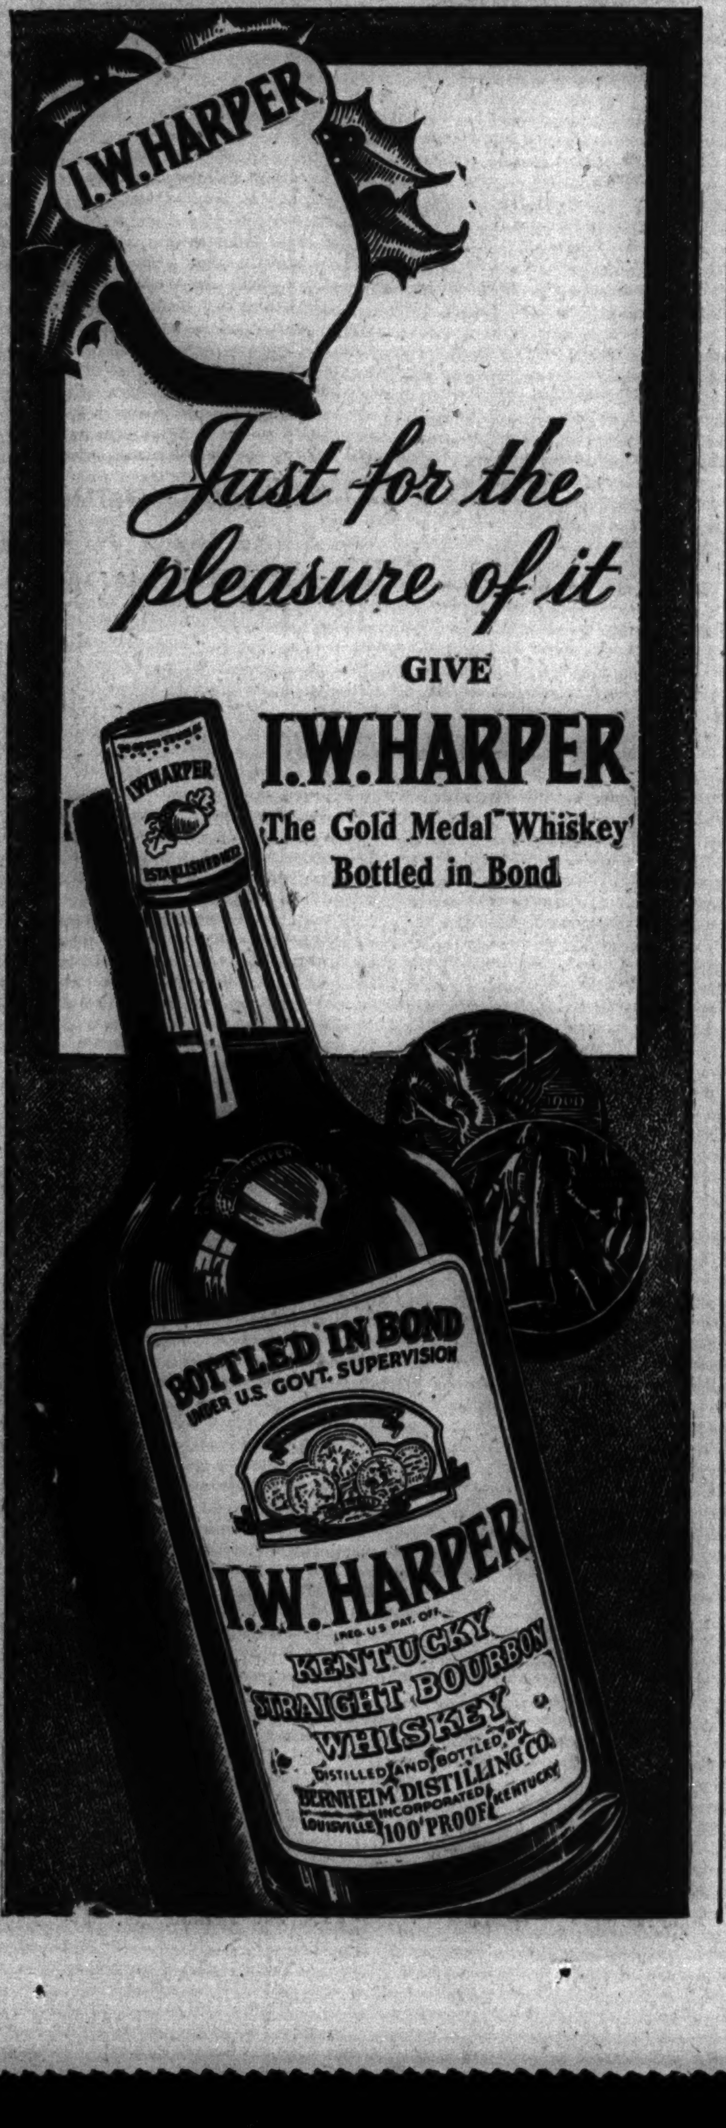
Detroit, Mich., March 6 [Special].—Two hundred Detroit members of the American Legion will open the 62 day American Bowling Congress tournament at the Fair Grounds here tomorrow night, amid the customary pomp and color attendant the annual opening.

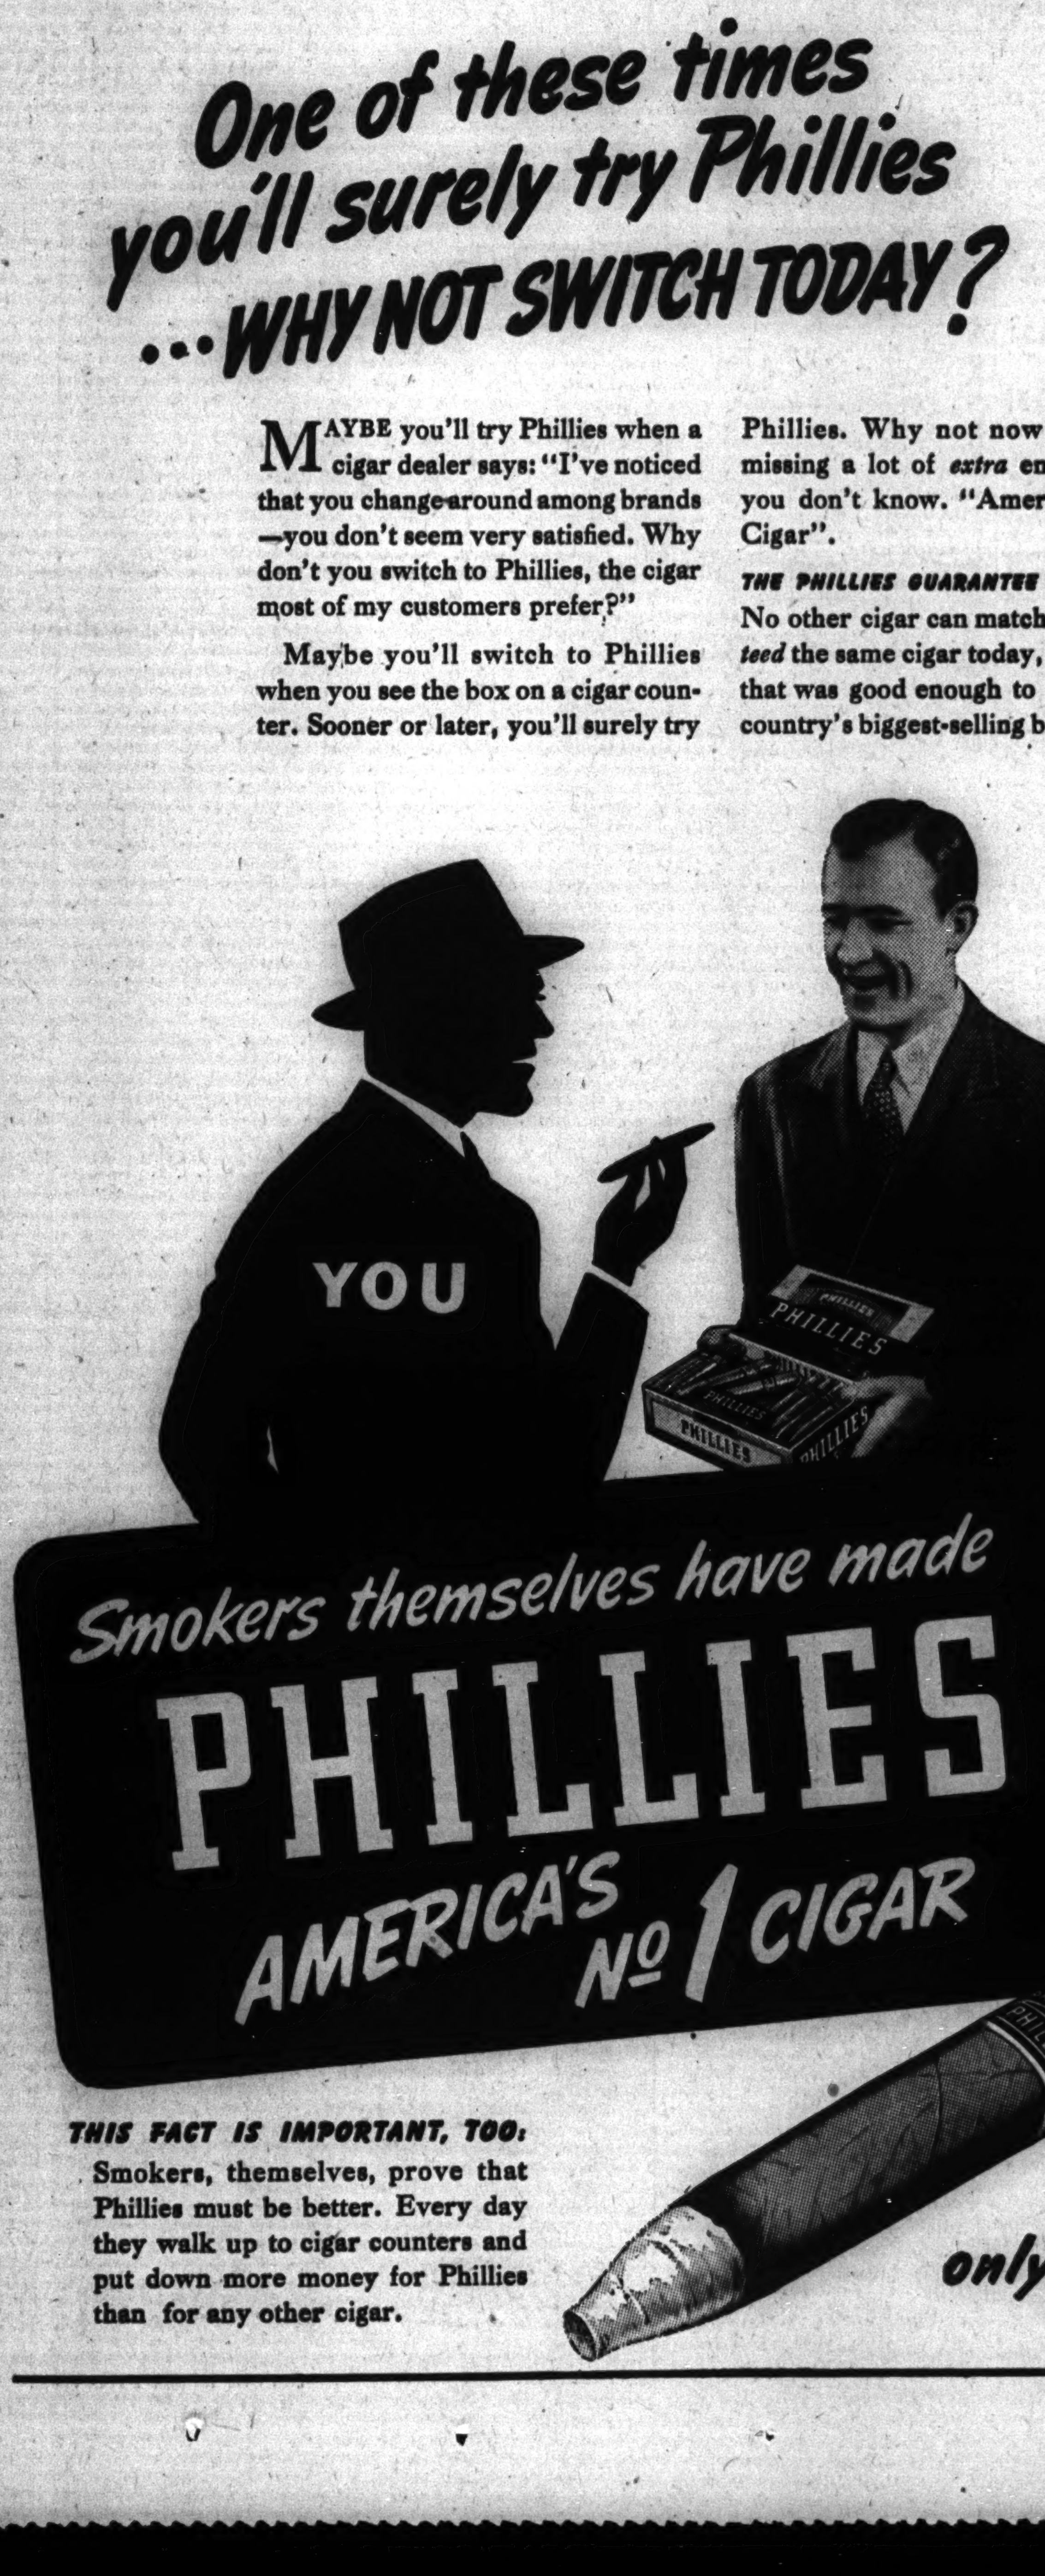
Mayor Edward J. Jeffries of Detroit and Richard W. Reading, former mayor, and both bowlers, will assist A. B. C. officials in launching the tournament, which has broken every existing entry and prize record.

A total of 6,073 teams, 10,398 doubles and 20,874 singles entries, will shoot for the $240,000 prize money. Included among the new features for the tourney is a new system for detecting fouls. While the regular foul line men watch the bowlers, the A. B. C. will introduce a new electric eye which automatically will register any slip over the black line at the head of each alley.

A total of 296 teams is entered from the Chicago area, with 514 from Illinois. The growth of the game in the east is reflected in the fact that New York state has outnumbered Illinois in entries for the first time since the tournament has been held outside the Empire state. The first of the Chicago entries will appear Saturday wher 17 booster squads perform.

Chicago teams have won fifteen championships in the last 39 years, the last in 1938 when the Birk brothers established the all time high score of 3234. The Birk five leads all team entries in the last five tournaments with an average of 3020.





INDIANA TRACK TEAM IS THREAT IN BIG 10 MEET

Michigan Faces a Fight in Title Defense.

Michigan's track squad early was selected to retain the Big Ten track title this year on sheer momentum, but the Wolverines probably will have to pick up every point their squad of 29 men can muster to win the 30th annual indoor meet starting with preliminaries tomorrow night in the University of Chicago fieldhouse.

The greatest array of quarter milers and the most closely matched fields in the 60 yard dash and all three field events in conference history are expected to provide plenty of tightly contested action.

Only 27 Veterans Return.

Of the 235 athletes entered only 27 ever have won points in a Big Ten meet. Sensational newcomers, including Campbell Kane, Indiana miler; Don Olsen, Illinois hurdler, and Will Ackerman, Michigan two miler, are expected to indicate their potential ability to carry on the traditions of the conference.

Kane, Roy Cochran, international 400 meters hurdle champion; Archie Harris, weight thrower; Bob Hoke, half miler, and Ed Hedges, two miler, will lead an Indiana team which may break Michigan's string of six straight titles.

Michigan Well Balanced.

Altho Michigan lost Bill-Watson, Elmer Gedeon, Ross Faulkner, and others, as well as Coach Charles B. Hoyt after winning last year's outdoor meet with a point total almost twice that of second place Wisconsin, the Wolverines probably will make it seven straight on team balance. Michigan's representatives under Coach Ken Doherty this year include Ralph Schwarzkopf, who will attempt to shatter the conference two mile record; Don Canham, high jumper and another potential record breaker, and Warren Breidenbach, Big Ten outdoor 440 yard champion.

Franklin Wins on Decision by Commission

Joe Triner, chairman of the Illinois boxing commission, and his colleagues, Commissioners Sheldon Clark and James R. Fitzpatrick, yesterday ruled out a no contest decision handed down at a bout between Lem Franklin and Andy [Kid] Miller in Marigold Gardens Feb. 20. They voted to change the verdict in favor of Franklin.

Referee Norman McGarity and Judges William O'Connell and Harold Marovitz called the match no contest in the second round when Miller went down without being hit. The new ruling gives Franklin a victory on a decision in two rounds because Miller disqualified himself.

The commission thus cleared Franklin of charges in connection with the unsatisfactory encounter and paved the way for a scheduled 10 round contest between Big Lem and Willie Reddish of Philadelphia in the Coliseum next Thursday. Promoter Irving Schoenwald was told to release Franklin's $125 purse for the Miller bout.

Miller was given a three months' suspension and the promoter was instructed to withhold paying the boxer his $100 prize.

An injunction which would have restrained Johnny Paycheck, heavyweight boxer, from going thru with his championship bout with Joe Louis in Madison Square Garden March 29 was dissolved yesterday by Superior Judge Grover C. Niemeyer.

The injunction was obtained last December by Clarence Rapp, former manager of Paycheck, after the Illinois boxing commission refused to recognize a life contract entered into by Paycheck and Rapp in 1935.

C. Y. O. QUINTETS MEET TONIGHT IN QUARTER-FINALS

Quarter-final games in the playoffs of the C. Y. O. Basketball league will be played tonight in four gymnasiums—St. Bernard, St. Michael, St. Sabina, and St. Sylvester.

Champions in the three divisions—heavyweight, lightweight, and girls'—still are in the running. The defending titleholders are Immaculate Conception [North Park] heavies and girls, and St. Sylvester lights. Tonight's schedule:

ST. BERNARD GYM—Heavies: St. Elizabeth vs. St. Sabina. Lights: St. Martin vs. St. Anselm. Girls: St. Bernard vs. St. Joseph [Rockford].

ST. MICHAEL GYM—Heavies: Immaculate Conception [North Park] vs. St. Mary of Celle [Berwyn]. Girls: St. Vincent vs. St. Bernardine [Forest Park], Immaculate Conception [North Park] vs. Sacred Heart [19].

ST. SABINA GYM—Heavies: St. Anselm vs. St. Columbanus. Lights: St. Barbara vs. Blessed Sacrament. Girls: St. Columbanus vs. St. Anthony [Joliet].

ST. SYLVESTER GYM—Heavies: St. Philomena vs. St. Mel. Lights: St. Andrew vs. St. Sylvester, St. Ignatius vs. St. Mel.

MAKI RUNS SIX MILE WARMUP AFTER 1ST RACE

San Francisco, Cal., March 6 (AP).—Having won a three mile race last night after warming up for it by running a couple of practice miles, Taisto Maki, the Finn, was relaxing today—by running. Maki and the countryman in whose steps he is following, Paavo Nurmi, held a double workout in which he ran a total of 6½ miles in preference to a round of entertainment offered by the local Finnish colony. The two appeared last night in the first of a nation-wide series of races to aid their country's relief fund.

Maki's next appearance will be in Chicago, where he will run in the University of Chicago fieldhouse on March 15.

DICK TRACY—Welcome, Stranger

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—CHERCHEZ LA BLAZE

For a Tough Cue Foe There Is Otto Reiselt

[This is the eighth of a series of sketches on the entrants in the world's three cushion championship billiards tournament, opening next Monday at Bensinger's, 131 South Wabash avenue, and continuing thru April 4.]

A championship billiard tournament with a field as brilliant as the forthcoming one is bound to include a variety of temperaments, but the most interesting of all, from the spectator's standpoint, is that of Otto Reiselt, the slender Philadelphian who has been a top flight player for 20 years.

Otto Reiselt.

Otto is the Jekyll-Hyde of billiards. During a match, his behavior would seem to indicate a disagreeable disposition. He will bark at everything, including the referee. No sooner is play concluded than he sheds this ornery attitude and becomes one of the most charming gents you would care to meet.

Much of Otto's deportment in competition may be traced to the fact that he is recognized as one of the finest competitors in the game, slow to yield a match without a struggle and ready to fight for every point from the first to the clincher. There will be few, if any, overwhelming decisions against the Philadelphian in this tournament. His round robin battles against Johnny Layton, Tiff Denton, and the late Bob Cannefax of a decade ago are still regarded as among the toughest matches ever played.

Reiselt was born in 1890 in Philadelphia, where he now manages a billiard establishment. He got his start in the game at the pocket style, but shifted to three cushions and defeated Bob Cannefax for the 1926 world's championship.

His outstanding performance, one that probably will stand for years to come, was his best game mark of 50 points in 16 innings in 1926. He also holds the record for consecutive victories in interstate competition, winning 17 straight during the 1924-'25 season. Another Reiselt mark is the 150 points in 90 innings, made against the late Augie Kieckhefer.

BADMINTON MEET ATTRACTS STARS FROM MICHIGAN

Chicago Players to Face Strong Competition.

Out of town badminton players will compete with Chicago players for honors in the third annual midwest badminton tournament opening tomorrow in the Naval Reserve armory, foot of Randolph street. Play will continue thru Saturday and Sunday. Henry Reynolds, men's singles champion, and Mrs. Glenn Markt, women's singles winner in last year's tourney, are no longer in Chicago. Betty Agnew, last year 10th ranking player, went into the finals in the recent Chicago district tourney and was then put out by Wilma Wildes Shortz, runner-up in each previous midwest contest.

Prest a Contender.

Don Prest of Oak Park, who was put out early last year, won the men's singles recently in the Greater Chicago contest against Dr. William Gibbs of the Jackson Boulevard club, third ranking player last year. G. George Bent, runner-up in the midwest contest last year, is entered in the tournament this week-end.

Isabel Pollock and Bent, winner in the mixed doubles last year, will defend their title. Other Greater Chicago stars who will be in the tournament are Mrs. Larrabee McAlvin and Mrs. Lyman Mitchell of the Lake Shore club in Evanston, runners-up in the women's doubles, and Jody Bundy and Seymour Peskind of the Lawson Badminton club, runners-up in the mixed doubles in the Greater Chicago tournament.

Michigan Stars Entered.

Michigan players are expected to provide strong competition. Walter Kramer of Detroit, twice national men's singles champion and last year national runner-up, and Connie O'Donovan, state women's singles champion, and Dorothy Beseman, state women's doubles champion, will provide strong competition.

Play for Greater Chicago contestants in the midwest championship will start tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. On Saturday morning at 10 o'clock play will resume for all contestants, and again at 2 and 8 p.m. On Sunday the semi-finals will be played at 10 a.m., and the finals at 3 p.m. Tickets for the tournament are on sale at Spalding's and at the United States Naval Reserve armory. The Fort Dearborn club is host to the tournament.

WARD TO PLAY.

Spokane, Wash., March 6 (AP).—Marvin Ward, national amateur golf champion, will leave by plane tomorrow for St. Augustine, Fla., to play with Horton Smith in the pro-amateur tournament March 14-17.

Hawks Battle Canadiens on Montreal Ice

MONTREAL, March 6.—With only a shred of a chance left to qualify for the impending Stanley cup playoffs, the Canadiens will battle the Chicago Blackhawks here tomorrow night. It will be the eighth and final game of the National Hockey league season between the pair. The Hawks won four of the seven games played to date, 3-2, 8-1, 10-1, and 2-0. The Canadiens won two 8-2 and 2-1, and the other ended in a 1-1 tie.

If the Canadiens miss the playoff boat this season, it will be the first time in many a long year that Montreal, the real birthplace of professional hockey, has been bereft completely of representation in the Stanley cup playoffs. Either the Canadiens or the Maroons, who dropped out of the National Hockey league two seasons ago, always were in, and more frequently both.

A victory for Hawks means that they will mathematically qualify to battle the Toronto Maple Leafs in the flight of the playoff series.

A Hawk victory over the Canadiens also will send them up the ladder to within two games of the Maple Leafs, with whom they are booked to battle two games on successive days, next Saturday in Toronto and the following Sunday in Chicago.

The clashes with Toronto may be the ones which will definitely decide which city, Chicago or Toronto, will see two of the playoff battles. The city represented by the team finishing third in the regular season is the site of the first and third games.

SPORTS SHOW IN SHERMAN HOTEL OPEN TOMORROW

Daily golf tournaments, competition for fencers, checker matches, demonstrations of weight lifting and gymnastics, showing of major league baseball movies, and a camera contest are events listed on the program of the national all-sports show which opens tomorrow in the exhibition hall of the Sherman hotel.

Star amateurs will participate in the golf tournaments to be played daily over a nine hole putting course. Finals of the city-wide fencing competition, together with exhibitions by Hans Fischer, Loyola university fencing master, also are planned. A masked checker player who has lost only five matches out of more than 6,000, will meet all challengers. Weight lifters from the Englewood Y. M. C. A. will perform each night, as will a group of gymnasts known as the Hyde Park balancers.

The baseball movies will feature a series also including educational pictures of badminton, swimming, diving, table tennis, and softball. An exhibit showing the activity of the Amateur Softball association will be prominent among the displays. At the invitation of the Associated Camera clubs of Chicago, camera fans will take pictures at the show and enter them in a prize contest.

SWEEPIDA GIVEN 122 POUNDS FOR $10,000 RACE

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 6.—The Roosevelt administration has been inconsistent in its interpretation of the antitrust laws, a study of indictments against organized medicine and labor unions showed today.

The United States Court of Appeals on Monday held that the practice of medicine is a trade and subject to the antitrust laws of the United States. This upheld the action of the government against the majority of American doctors, charging them with restraint of trade thru discrimination and regulation of membership in medical societies.

Four medical societies and their leaders, 21 prominent physicians, were indicted and apparently must stand trial. One of the defendants, the American Medical association, represents 110,000 of the 145,000 physicians and surgeons in this country.

Coöperative Is Involved.

The defendants were charged with discriminating against a coöperative medical undertaking by alleged threats of expulsion or actual expulsion of member physicians associating with the coöperative enterprise.

The doctors, in defense, have held that it was the right of the societies to regulate membership in their organizations and discipline disobedient members.

The practices for which the physicians have been indicted have also been widely attributed to certain labor unions, particularly in the building trades. But of more than a score of indictments against labor unions recently for antitrust practices, the point of membership discrimination has not been raised in any.

Department View Explained.

This was admitted by a justice department official, who explained the department's attitude. The point of union discrimination has not been raised in any of the antitrust actions so far, and if it were, he said, it probably would be incorporated as a minor rather than major point.

Yet the regulation of union membership and retaliation against employers not employing union labor has been a sore spot, particularly in the building trades, where it is often difficult for a worker to get into the union and where he stands little chance of work without membership.

Confronted with a comparison between the indictments against the doctors and those against unions, the justice official said that unions are in a different category. There is a fine, hairline distinction between what union practices in restraint of trade are legal or illegal.

This all hinges upon the department's interpretation of section 6 of the Clayton act of 1914, which allows labor unions certain exemptions from antitrust laws. It was observed that, in the department's opinion, a labor union cannot be prosecuted for every restraint of trade.

Arnold's Stand on Unions.

The attitude of Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general in charge of antitrust enforcement, is that any union activity in aid of unionization cannot be touched by the justice department. But where the union steps out of the bounds of unionization and restrains trade, the law can step in, this official said.

Arnold has held that the following union practices consist of unreasonable restraints and are violations of the antitrust laws, as embodied in the Sherman and Clayton acts: [1] restraints designed to prevent the use of cheaper material, improved equipment, or more efficient methods; [2] restraints designed to compel hiring of useless and unnecessary labor; [3] restraints designed to enforce systems of graft and extortion; [4] restraints designed to enforce illegally fixed prices; [5] restraints designed to destroy an established and legitimate system of collective bargaining.

While there has been no official indictment against union membership discrimination, there has been a public indictment, as presented in testimony before the monopoly investigating committee.

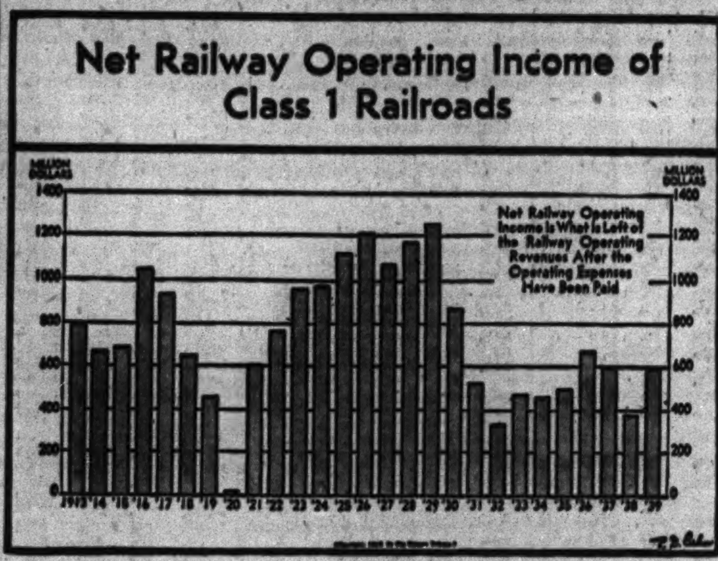
Witness Discusses Chicago.

This testimony, as recorded in the official transcript of the hearings, tells particularly of conditions in the Chicago building trades. The testimony of one witness who went thru the union mill runs as follows:

"It is rather difficult to enter the building trades. The cheapest initiation fee in Chicago that I know of is $100. From that it ranges up to $500 to become a member of the union. The common laborer must pay $5 initiation fees, and the dues range from $2.25 to $6 a month, plus such assessments and fines for infractions of rules as may occur from time to time. The rates of initiation fees are for the various trades.

"The apprentice must pay $100 initiation fee before he is ever taken. Where is a young man going to get $500 or $100 to join the union? Now another rather peculiar thing about this is that even tho the unions are supposed to be national organizations, the transfer of membership from one city to another is often found to be difficult. They have a phrase which they call 'the books are closed,' and they won't take any mechanics from strange towns."

Such practices were blamed for raising costs and restraining trade.



2 Big Air Lines Report Better Year's Results

Eastern Air Lines operated in 1939 at a net profit of $883,824, or $2.06 a share, while Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., reduced its net loss to $188,827, according to annual reports issued yesterday. Both systems showed improvement over 1938 results.

Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker reports profit each month in 1939.

Combined 1938 operations of Eastern Air Lines, Inc., and its predecessor, the Eastern Air Lines division of North American Aviation, Inc., resulted in net profit of $354,249, or 85 cents a share. T. W. A.'s loss in 1938 was $749,355.

"A profit was earned during each month of 1939 for the first time in the history of the company," said Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, president and general manager of Eastern.

Revenues Sharply Higher.

Passenger revenue increased 42.9 per cent over 1938 to $5,523,949. Mail revenue amounted to $1,733,540, representing a 14.5 per cent gain. The system carried 231,215 revenue passengers, or 42.5 per cent more than in 1938.

"Taking into consideration the total miles flown with mail," Rickenbacker said, "including mileage of passenger flights on which mail is carried on a so-called 'weight-credit' basis, Eastern Air Lines received only 16.7 cents per mile. This is believed to be the lowest mail compensation for any operator in the air transport industry."

The company's cash balance was increased approximately $1,200,000, despite cash outlay of $850,000 for five Douglas DC-3 airplanes and one Kellett autogiro, with spare engines, communication equipment and miscellaneous flying equipment.

Frye Expects Improvement.

Jack Frye, president of T. W. A., said he believed 1940 would show improvement in the air line's competitive position in the industry, altho further losses might be anticipated during the first quarter of 1940 because of added costs necessary to meet expected increases in traffic.

Much of the improvement, he said, hinges on an expansion program, now pending before the Civil Aeronautics authority, under which T. W. A. has asked permission to establish "feeder lines" to build up its coast to coast system.

T. W. A. passenger revenues totaled $5,195,789 last year, compared with $3,734,963 in 1938. Air mail revenues were $2,403,725, and air express revenues $222,647.

Three 21 passenger Douglas Skyclubs were purchased on loans paid off during the year. A new fleet of 33 passenger Boeing "stratoliners" is scheduled for delivery this spring, Frye added.

CUDAHY PACKING APPROVES CUT IN CAPITAL STOCK

Stockholders of the Cudahy Packing company at a special meeting yesterday authorized a reduction in the par value of the common stock from $50 to $30 a share, and a reduction of the authorized capital stock from $45,000,000 to $30,420,200. The reduction in par value of the common stock will create a capital surplus of $9,349,780.

Company directors also were authorized to make a charge against capital or paid-up surplus based on a cost valuation appraisal of fixed assets as of Oct. 28, 1939, and the elimination of certain intangible assets.

The company explained that the $4,921,169 of capital and earned surplus as of Oct. 29, 1938, close of the fiscal year, will be more than exhausted by the authorized adjustments. The adjustments are estimated at $7,000,000 in property values, $750,000 for Old Dutch Cleanser advertising investment and $588,942 for unamortized debt discount and expense applicable to refunded issues—a total of $8,338,942.

Plan Merger of Morris, Associates Investment

South Bend, Ind., March 6 (AP).—Plans to merge the Morris Finance company with the Associates Investment company to form a $78,000,000 organization handling all types of consumer financing were announced today. E. M. Morris, president of both companies, said the Morris company does general financing, while the Associates company is one of the larger independent automobile financing companies.

TREASURY TO SWAP FIVE YEAR ¾S FOR NOTES DUE JUNE 15

Washington, D. C., March 6 [Special].—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau tonight offered new five year ¾ per cent notes in exchange for the $738,428,400 of ½ per cent notes maturing June 15.

The new notes, dated March 15 and maturing March 15, 1945, will be issued only to the extent that the outstanding 1⅛ per cent notes are tendered in exchange. No cash offering of the new notes will be made. The treasury announcement also said the new notes will not be subject to call prior to redemption.

Old notes will be taken at par, and accrued interest from Dec. 15, 1939 [about $3.75 per $1,000 face amount], will be paid. Maturing notes not exchanged will be paid in cash at maturity June 15.

WALGREEN SETS RECORD FOR TWO MONTHS' SALES

Spiegel Also Reports All-Time Peaks.

The Walgreen company, large chain drug store enterprise with headquarters in Chicago, yesterday reported record sales for last month and for the first two months of the year. February's volume, the company reported, reached $5,970,914, an increase of 5.7 per cent over the $5,647,079 reported a year earlier. Sales in the two months of 1940 aggregated $11,835,037, against $11,293,782 a year earlier, a gain of 4.8 per cent.

Spiegel, Inc., another large Chicago company, also reported the best February and two months' sales in its history.

Gain Is 25 Per Cent.

Last month's trade, the mail order house announced, totaled $3,623,016, an increase of 25.4 per cent over the $2,888,001 in February, 1939. Volume in the first two months of the year totaled $6,662,433, compared with $5,090,161 a year earlier, a 30.9 per cent increase.

The F. W. Woolworth company yesterday reported that sales by its chain of variety stores in February amounted to $22,116,703, an increase of 6.9 per cent over the corresponding period a year earlier, when the total was $20,685,859.

In the first two months of the year, the company reported, sales were $42,628,705, against $40,338,505 a year ago, an increase of 5.7 per cent. January business increased 4.3 per cent over January, 1939.

Kresge Reports Gain.

S. S. Kresge company, large variety chain, listed its February sales at $10,115,540, against $9,547,104 in February, 1939, an increase of 5.9 per cent. Sales in the two months totaled $19,664,194, representing a gain of 4.5 per cent over the $18,810,098 figure for the 1939 period. January sales were 3.1 per cent over the corresponding month a year ago.

SENATE OF N. Y. IGNORES PLEA TO CUT STOCK TAX

Albany, N. Y., March 6 [Special].—Ignoring pleas by the New York Stock exchange and many business groups for a reduction in the state stock transfer tax, the state senate today passed a bill to continue the present tax for a year. The bill was then sent to the assembly. There was no debate on the measure.

The rates continued are 3 cents per share on stock selling for less than $20 a share, and 4 cents a share for stock selling for $20 or more a share.

The present tax has aroused protests by exchange officials and by civil, business, and real estate leaders in New York City. They maintained it was driving trading away from the New York market to Chicago and to other cities. No comment from the exchange is expected until after the assembly acts on the bill.

A tax reduction bill which has been urged upon the legislature would make the new rate 1 cent for each share sold for less than $10; 2 cents on shares sold between $10 and $50, and 3 cents on shares sold for $50 or more.

3 MAJOR FIRMS DISCLOSE STEEP EARNINGS GAINS

Brunswick-Balke's Income Doubled.

Three major companies—Johns-Manville corporation, Brunswick-Balke-Collender company, and American Sugar Refining company—yesterday reported net profits for 1939 which were at least double those of 1938.

Lewis H. Brown reports prices raised little.

Consolidated net profit of $4,164,179, equal to $4.28 a share, was announced for Johns-Manville, producer of materials for the control of heat, cold, sound, and motion. The 1938 profit was $1,455,302, or $1.09 a share.

Brunswick-Balke-Collender, manufacturer of bowling and billiard equipment, bar and soda fountains, and its subsidiaries listed 1939 net profit of $2,037,435, or $4.23 a share, against $1,003,710, or $1.90 a share, in 1938.

Six Times 1938 Total.

American Sugar Refining announced last year's consolidated net income was $2,771,058, equal to $6.16 a share, on preferred stock, or more than six times the 1938 income of $407,088, or 90 cents a preferred share.

Lewis H. Brown, president of Johns-Manville, told shareholders in his annual report that the company had made no substantial increases in its selling prices despite many elements which "if not offset would have increased production costs. The company," he added, "has made every effort to offset mounting costs by producing and selling goods with increasing efficiency."

The report showed that salaries and wages paid 11,000 employés during 1939 totaled $18,664,103, an increase of $2,055,970, compared to 1938.

New Orders Slackening.

Brown said: "When it became evident that the nature of the war was not of a kind that consumed materials on a scale comparable with the first world war, it was apparent that the price rise had gone too far. As a result new orders declined abruptly and industry today is working on backlogs of orders that are, however, not being renewed to an extent comparable with the period of September-October, 1939.

"These conditions have been reflected in Johns-Manville's operations. As to the domestic situation there continues to be generally increasing costs of operation and uncertainties as to the future."

Net sales of Brunswick-Balke-Collender, which has headquarters in Chicago, increased 27.3 per cent from $10,797,278 in 1938 to $13,745,522 last year, the report revealed. The year's profit includes $51,657 collected by the company in satisfaction of claims in a patent and trade mark infringement case.

Reports Wage Increases.

R. F. Bensinger, president, said that wage increases were put into effect during the year at the Muskegon, Mich., factory for certain job classifications and that a plan was placed in effect Jan. 1, granting vacations with pay to factory employés paid at hourly rates.

Contemplated improvements at the Muskegon factory are expected to show benefits before the close of 1940, Bensinger added. Sales to date have been at a higher level than during the corresponding period in 1939, and unfilled orders also are larger, he said.

Improvement in American Sugar Refining operations, said Joseph F. Abbott, president, was due to a slightly better refining margin, increased income from investments, and more favorable results from Cuban operations.

Criticizes Sugar Control.

"Until proper legislative recognition is given to the importance of the domestic cane sugar refining industry in this country's sugar economy," he said, "stockholders must expect fluctuations in annual earnings. The sharing of such a large part of the continental market with tropical refiners, thru quotas, and the continued expansion of the beet sugar industry, thru subsidies, are conditions operating unfairly against the domestic cane sugar refining industry."

Central Illinois Public Service company reported 1939 net income of $1,911,769, equal to $6.71 a share on preferred stock, compared with $1,661,715, or $5.84 a share, in 1938.

Hershey Chocolate corporation announced 1939 net profit of $6,233,304, or $7.24 a share, against $4,126,254, or $4.17 a share, in 1938. December quarter net profit was $1,460,094, or $1.76 a share, against $569,813 and 46 cents a share in the 1938 period.

Food Stamp Plan Extended to Fort Wayne, Ind., Area

Washington, D. C., March 6 (AP).—Secretary Wallace announced today that the agriculture department's stamp system of distributing surplus farm products among the needy will be extended to Fort Wayne, Ind., and adjacent Wayne township, where it was estimated approximately 20,000 persons were eligible to participate. Operation of the program in the Fort Wayne area will begin in about a month, Wallace said.

U. S. Gypsum's Sales Gaining, Avery Reports

January sales by the United States Gypsum company were 10.9 per cent larger than the volume for January, 1939, and February sales were up 18.7 per cent, Sewell L. Avery, chairman of the board, told stockholders at their annual meeting yesterday. He said the sales department expect this year's building volume to exceed that of last year by 10 per cent. January net profit was $247,151, against $241,547 in the 1939 month.

Avery said sales in 1939 totaled $44,126,000, an increase of 6.1 per cent over the $35,712,000 in 1938. This is the first time the company's sales have been reported.

Price Average Declines.

Tonnage volume in 1939 increased 27 per cent and average prices decreased 3 per cent from 1938, Avery said. Average delivered prices on building materials, he said, are now 14 per cent below those of 1926. Average cost of the company's products was reduced 3 per cent from the 1938 level and wage rates were 2 per cent higher.

The company's mills were operated at the following rates of capacity: plaster, 55 per cent; wall board and plaster board, 80 per cent; roofing, 45 per cent; lime, 68 per cent; insulating board, 72 per cent, and steel products, such as metal lath, 50 per cent.

Total wages paid in 1939 amounted to $11,929,000, compared with $10,193,000 in 1938.

Questioned by Stockholder.

Questioned by a stockholder about the government's anti-trust drive on gypsum companies, Avery referred the query to John E. MacLeish, attorney and a director of the company. MacLeish said the company's records have been subpensed for the forthcoming investigation in Washington. He added that it is expected the trust action will cover so-called price maintenance on building materials during the depression period.

"Whatever rigidity of price structure exists in the building materials field is the result of natural economic forces at work," MacLeish stated. He said the company has scrupulously avoided entering into agreements or understandings with its competitors on price maintenance.

Harold L. Pearson, treasurer of Montgomery Ward & Co., was elected a director of United States Gypsum, succeeding Edward L. Ryerson Jr. The directors later elected M. H. Basquin vice president in charge of operations.

Stockholders approved a change in the company's articles of incorpora-

Bar MacMillan from Trade in Grain Markets

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 6.—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace today signed an order denying trading privileges on all contract markets to the Cargill Grain company of Illinois and John H. MacMillan Jr., president. The order is effective until further notice.

The secretary's action resulted from a complaint issued on Dec. 22, 1938, charging that Cargill, Inc., Cargill of Illinois, MacMillan, E. J. Grimes, Julius Hendel, and Philip C. Sayles, officers of the companies, had violated the commodity exchange act by operating a "corner" and manipulating the price of corn futures on the Chicago Board of Trade in August and September, 1937.

Wallace's order clears Cargill, Inc., and the other officials named. It was explained that the activities of Grimes, Hendel, and Sayles were the result of instructions from MacMillan. Cargill, Inc., of which MacMillan is also president is the parent of Cargill Grain Company of Illinois.

Hearings Begun in September.

Hearings were begun last Sept. 6 before Referee J. W. Bain. They were held in Chicago and Minneapolis where the Cargill companies have their principal offices, and only recently were recessed while the government was still presenting evidence.

The department announcement disclosed that on Feb. 29 attorneys for the respondents in the case had filed a stipulation that the futures transactions mentioned in the complaint were executed by or thru Cargill of Illinois and that MacMillan was responsible for these transactions.

They consented to the secretary's order and waived their right to any further hearings, any requirement of a referee's report, or any formal findings of fact by the secretary of agriculture. The respondents also agreed not to appeal the secretary's order.

Another Action Pending.

Another action involving Cargill is still pending. In this action Cargill, Inc., accuses the Chicago Board of Trade of price manipulation during the same periods of futures transactions involved in Wallace's order. The Board of Trade had previously ordered Cargill to dispose of September, 1937, corn futures at a decreed settlement price. Then, accusing Cargill of a corner on the market and price manipulation, the board expelled the grain concern from membership in the exchange in March, 1938.

The referee in the latter case, S. Abbot Maginnis, recently recommended that the Commodity exchange commission, consisting of the secretary of agriculture, the secretary of commerce, and the attorney general, dismiss Cargill's charges against the Board of Trade. No decision has been handed down in this case.

LA GRANGE PLANT TURNS OUT NEW RAIL SPEEDSTERS

Three huge new Diesel-electric locomotives are being placed in service by the Burlington railroad this month. Each develops 4,000 horsepower, is capable of a speed of 117 miles an hour, and can pull 19 conventional type passenger cars.

A feature is an oscillating-beam light in addition to the regular beam light. The oscillating light warns motorists of the approach of a speeding train. The locomotives will be used to pull main line passenger trains such as the Exposition Flyer and the Fast Mail.

Two of the engines have been delivered and the third will be delivered this month. All were built at the La Grange plant of the Electro-Motive corporation.

NEW YORK GETS HOUSING IDEAS FROM CHICAGO

Adopts Pattern for Clearing Slums.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

New York has come to Chicago for advice on how to attack its slum problem. Its action was disclosed in a bill presented recently in the New York legislature providing for "redevelopment corporations."

T. S. Holden, head of group that drafted bill

The New York bill was patterned to a considerable extent after the bill presented in the Illinois legislature last year proposing public service building corporations—a measure designed specifically to help encourage private capital to reclaim depreciated areas in Chicago.

Altho the Illinois bill failed to pass the house after having been approved by the senate, its sponsors are now working on similar legislation which may be presented to the legislature at its next session.

In their fundamentals, the Illinois and New York bills are essentially the same, altho the New York measure has been tailored to fit New York laws.

Call for Private Financing.

Each provides for the creation of private enterprises, operating under governmental control, which would use private funds for the construction of private housing in outmoded districts, slum, or blighted areas. Each would give the right, with governmental approval to condemn property needed for housing sites.

Sponsors of the bills declare that the authority to condemn property needed for housing sites is the vital part of their measures because without the power of eminent domain it would be difficult or impossible to assemble building sites.

The New York measure is called

Over $275,000,000 a Year in Money Orders

MORE Money Orders (both in number and aggregate amount of money) are paid by the Chicago Post Office than any other Post Office in the world. Over 36,000,000 individual orders, totalling over $275,000,000 are paid each year.

In addition, the Chicago Post Office handles over two billion (2,000,000,000) pieces of mail each year and sells over forty-one million dollars a year worth of stamps, stamped envelopes and other postage.

Chicago's commercial importance as well as the advantageous position of this city as a distributing point could not be better illustrated than through these postal statistics.

Chicago, the Wonder City—The commercial progress of Chicago is one of the marvels of the century. In common with other financial institutions, the growth of the Harris Trust and Savings Bank is largely dependent on the growth of Chicago. And the growth of Chicago rests on the faith and vision of its citizens. In a series of advertisements, of which this is the Ninth, we are trying to set forth a few of the achievements of this great city. Chicago will continue to contribute to the benefit of its citizens in proportion to their faith in its future.

New York Stocks.

New York, March 6 (AP).—Leading stocks climbed a full point today on fairly active orders, withstood a selling foray and moved forward again to end the day near their best positions.

Steels and motors, carrying thru with yesterday's lifting mood, touched off the buying trend, and aircrafts, coppers, and miscellaneous manufacturing industries joined in the movement. Rails held back for a time, but finally fell in line with the rest.

One of the developments of the day was the establishment of new highs for the year by a number of issues, including Glenn Martin, Bendix, American Telephone, Canadian Pacific, and Eastern Air Lines. The latter forged ahead on publication of its annual report showing 1939 earnings equivalent to $2.06 a share, compared with 85 cents a share in 1938.

Other leaders in the upturn included United States Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas, United Aircraft, Pan American Airways, Curtiss-Wright, Eastman, Allied Chemical, du Pont, American Smelting, Phelps Dodge, Anaconda, Consolidated Edison, Chesapeake and Ohio, Great Northern preferred, and Loft.

Analysts, studying the market rally, suggested it was based on the fact that the last seven weeks of pessimism had failed to depress prices more than mere fractions, indicating a broad base for recovery movements.

New York Bonds.

New York, March 6 (AP).—Some stirrings of buying interest in today's bond market accounted for the largest volume in several weeks and a sizable number of moderate gains in nearly all sections of the list.

Low yield issues were especially firm.

Except for some softness in a few near-term treasuries, the United States government list was in an advancing mood and closed with many gains ranging from 1-32s to 22-32s of a point.

Several foreign issues moved in step with domestics.

Chicago Stocks.

Sundstrand Machine Tool shares advanced ⅝ point on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday to set a new 1940 high at 21⅝. Bendix, after setting a 1940 high at 34, closed at 33⅝ for a gain of ⅝. Volume leaders included Compressed Industrial Gases, up 1; Armour & Co., up ⅜; North American Car, up ¼, and Pressed Steel Car, up ¼. Transactions totaled 29,000 shares.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

The market for hogs weakened slightly after a steady opening yesterday, despite strength in wholesale pork prices and moderate supplies of hogs at most of the leading packing centers.

A large share of the supply of better grades of hogs over 190 pounds in weight changed hands at mostly steady rates, but lighter kinds ruled weak to 10 cents lower, and spots in all other classes, too, showed 5 to 10 cents loss on final rounds of trading.

Commodities

Rubber futures bounded forward as much as 0.16 cent a pound yesterday on a demand credited by traders to the war outlook and optimism over possibilities of increased domestic consumption.

Contracts for distant delivery led the advance, both in American and British markets, implying an improvement in longer range trade prospects, as well as concern over the tightness of the supply for nearby delivery.

Domestic traders said that consumption of rubber in the United States is likely to continue at an average of 50,000 tons a month or more. They cited as a major cause of this belief the fact that automobile production for the first quarter of 1940 is estimated at nearly 20 per cent above 1939 levels.

The copper market was dull, and prices remained unchanged. Domestic copper sales were reported at 3,442,000 pounds Tuesday, compared with 2,624,000 Monday.

Quotations on domestic sugar and cocoa advanced, while wool tops declined. Uneven price trends were posted for Straits tin, cottonseed oil, world sugar, silk and hides. Trade in coffee futures bogged down after several active weeks. Quotations were steady.

The National Fertilizer association reported that its wholesale commodity price index declined last week to the lowest point since the first week of last October. The index in the week ended March 2 was 77.1 compared with 77.4 in the preceding week and 72.8 a year ago, based on the 1926-'28 average as 100.

GAIN REPORTED IN CONDITION OF WINTER WHEAT

434 Million Bushel Crop Is Expert's Forecast.

The condition of winter wheat in the western and southwestern portions of the main producing area has improved moderately during the last three months, but is still below normal, Chicago crop experts reported yesterday.

Nat C. Murray forecasts smallest crop since 1934.

The effect of the record breaking fall drouth is still discernible, the experts said, in the poor condition of the crop in the states west of the Mississippi river. Much doubt is entertained, they said, as to the final outcome, because of the large percentage of the acreage which failed to germinate last fall.

A winter wheat crop of 434,000,000 bushels is the estimate of Nat C. Murray, crop expert with Jackson & Curtis.

Poorest Outlook Since 1934.

This is the poorest crop indicated since 1934, and compares with 563,000,000 bushels harvested in 1939. The department of agriculture Dec. 1 returns suggested a possible yield of 399,000,000 bushels this summer.

In the soft wheat states, east of the Mississippi river, the present prospect is about the same as on Dec. 1, it was reported.

Murray was the only expert to make an estimate on the condition and prospective wheat crop in the leading states. His report on condition of winter wheat in per cent of normal on March 1 and the possible production, the latter in millions of bushels, compared as follows:

	Condition Mar. 1, 1940.	Condition Dec. 1, 1939.	Crop Estimated, 1940.	Crop Final, 1939.
Kansas	53	35	97	112
Nebraska	44	37	21	35
Oklahoma	55	34	35	60
Texas	60	47	30	28
Illinois	79	77	26	38
Indiana	72	78	19	27
Ohio	77	81	29	37
Missouri	70	68	17	29

Surface soil moisture conditions are about normal for this season, it was said, but the subsoil moisture reserve still is deficient over a wide area.

WHEAT LOSES MOST OF GAIN

Wheat futures prices closed steady to ⅛ cent higher in Chicago yesterday after showing a strong undertone in the early trading. May advanced 1 cent a bushel at one time to the highest price since Feb. 24. This early buying was induced by continued dry weather in the southwest and the failure of the crop estimates to show as much improvement as was expected.

Late in the session profit taking developed which disclosed a lack of aggressive support and prices receded 1½ cent from the early top. The closing gain of ⅛ cent was on May wheat.

Corn prices closed unchanged to ⅛ cent higher. Export sales of 280,000 bushels to Denmark had little apparent effect on the market. May oats sold at 42 cents, highest since July, 1937. Oats futures closed ⅜ to ⅝ cents higher. Soy beans reacted after an early advance and finished ⅛ to ⅝ cents lower.

JANUARY AIRCRAFT EXPORTS FIVE TIMES YEAR AGO VOLUME

Washington, D. C., March 6 [Special].—United States aeronautic exports in January were valued at $25,480,817, about 10 per cent less than the record total for December but 421 per cent more than the total for January, 1939, the department of commerce announced today.

Aircraft exported in January totaled 233 units, valued at $17,574,469. Of these, 205 were complete land planes valued at $15,877,784. Twenty-seven land planes, minus engines, valued at $1,628,060, and one amphibian, valued at $68,625, also were exported during the month.

Principal purchasers were France, which bought 66 planes, valued at $9,047,407; the United Kingdom, 41 planes, valued at $2,800,900; Australia, 28 planes, valued at $2,599,660; Canada, 14 planes, valued at $1,359,035; Finland, 17 planes, valued at $941,868; Turkey, 34 planes, valued at $903,817, and Sweden, 15 planes, valued at $611,400.

tion whereby the number of directors would be changed to not less than three, the actual number to be established by the by-laws.

Stockholders also approved a profit sharing plan for key employés. Under the plan no payments will be made until after the company has earned $7 a share on the preferred and $3 a share on the common stock, or a total of $4,132,000. Then above that amount 5 per cent of the first $300,000, 4 per cent of the next $300,000, and 3 per cent of amounts in excess of that will be turned over to the fund for distribution to employés.

Participation Is Limited.

For 1939 there is available $165,900 which will be distributed among 205 participating employés. The plan also provides that no employé shall receive as participation more than 50 per cent of his regular salary.

Commenting on the war business, Avery said that the company's exports were negligible and that all export business could be lost without being noticed greatly.

BUSINESS GROUPS WILL HEAR NAVY, ARMY OFFICERS

The way in which Illinois and other midwestern manufacturers and business men can best serve the government in time of war will be discussed tonight by high ranking army and navy officers at an industrial preparedness meeting sponsored by the Illinois Manufacturers association.

Louis Compton, assistant secretary of the navy, will be one of eight who will discuss various phases of preparedness and national defense. Gen. Robert E. Wood, chairman of the board of Sears, Roebuck & Co., will act as chairman of the discussion. The meeting will be held at the Congress hotel.

Some of the questions to be considered include the mobilization of industry from a production standpoint, the progress of the war department on the national defense program, practical details in producing ordnance materials and industrial relations policies.

Day by Day on the Farm

Baby Chicks Arrive.

March 6, 1940.

THREE hundred baby chicks and 50 turkey poults were brought from a West Chicago hatchery to the Du Page county farm on Monday as the first step in preparing for plenty of broiling and frying chickens this spring and fresh eggs and fat turkeys early next fall. The young birds are making a good start in a battery brooder in a small brooder house that recently was remodeled to make it warm and dry during cool spring weather. More will be bought or hatched on the farm later.

The chicks are white Plymouth Rocks. Unsorted chicks were bought so the cockerels can be used for broilers and fryers and the pullets kept to add to the laying flock next fall.

Five Batteries in Brooder.

The brooder consists of five batteries, placed one above another and each big enough to hold 100 small chicks. Each battery has a separate electric heating unit. They will be kept at 85 to 95 degrees Fahrenheit for the first week; then the temperature will be reduced gradually.

The brooder house is 12 feet square and has an 8 foot ceiling. It was remodeled from an old house at relatively small expense.

The temperature inside the brooder house is kept between 65 and 70 degrees with a small electric stove. A coal stove has been set up for use if the weather turns very cold.

All the chicks will be left in the brooder until it is easy to distinguish the pullets from the cockerels. Then the floor of the brooder house will be covered with clover chaff and the pullets turned loose inside the house. By that time the chicks will be big enough for the cockerels to require all the space in the battery brooder.

A commercial starter mash is being fed to the chicks in self-feeders. After the pullets and cockerels are separated the pullets will be fed a growing mash and the cockerels kept on the feed they are getting now. Baby chicks are given no feed for at least 72 hours after they are hatched. It takes that long for the portion of the egg yolk inside the chick's body to be absorbed and digested.

The young turkeys are fed a special turkey starter mash and rolled oats. Hard cooked eggs sometimes are chopped up and fed with the rolled oats. Chick starter mash often is fed successfully to turkey poults.

Turkeys Kept at Top.

The turkeys are in the top battery of the brooder. It is kept at approximately the same temperature as the lower ones, altho young turkeys sometimes are kept in brooders as warm as 100 degrees for the first week.

The turkey hens at the farm have not yet started to lay. The first turkey eggs in the spring usually are laid in the sheep barn and sent to a hatchery for incubation. Later in the season the turkey hens are allowed to make their nests out in the fields and woods and hatch and raise their poults to suit themselves.

OUTER BELT RAIL ISSUE AND EDISON STOCK OFFERED

4 Eastern Utilities Plan to Refund Bonds.

Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railway 30 year first mortgage series A bonds in the amount of $17,700,000 are being offered publicly today by a syndicate headed by Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc. Offering was made yesterday of 200,000 shares of Commonwealth Edison company common stock.

The Elgin, Joliet and Eastern offering constitutes the bulk of a $20,000,000 issue, $2,300,000 of which is being sold by the company itself. The bonds, bearing 3¼ per cent interest and dated March 1, are priced at 101½. They will become due March 1, 1970, but are redeemable at the option of the company at any time on 45 days' notice.

Road to Retire Bonds.

Proceeds from the sale will be applied toward retiring bonds which bear a higher interest rate.

All of the capital stock of the road, known also as the Chicago Outer Belt line, is owned by United States Steel corporation.

Dillon, Read & Co., New York, headed a syndicate which offered the Commonwealth Edison stock at $32.37½ a share, the price at the close of yesterday's market. The stock was acquired by the syndicate thru the conversion of Commonwealth Edison debentures which were originally held by the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company.

It was reported that the stock was sold to the syndicate at $32 a share, leaving the group a profit margin of only 37½ cents a share. The debentures, which are exchangeable on a basis of four shares of stock for each $100 par of debenture, closed yesterday at 128.

Utilities Plan Financing.

Four eastern utilities have refunding plans in various stages of completion, involving a total of about $120,000,000. They are the Niagara Hudson unit that will result from a merger plan now pending with the New York public service commission, and three units of the Associated Gas and Electric system—the New York State Electric and Gas corporation, New Jersey Central Power and Light company, and New Jersey Power and Light company.

The Wisconsin Electric Power company, Milwaukee, filed with the SEC a registration statement covering 282,098 shares of 4½ per cent preferred stock, $100 par, and 1,551,539 shares of common stock, $20 par. The company said that on April 4 it will offer in exchange for each share of 6 per cent preferred, issue of 1921, one share of 4 per cent preferred and one-half share of common, plus a 37½ cent dividend. The common will be issued only in connection with the exchange offer.

The Mead corporation, Chillicothe, O., registered $6,000,000 of 15 year first mortgage bonds, proceeds from the sale of which, together with the private sale of $2,500,000 of 3 per cent serial notes to the First National Bank of Chicago, will be applied to the redemption of outstanding securities. Interest rates on the bonds will be disclosed later.

LARGE INCREASE IN YOUNGSTOWN'S SALES REPORTED

New York, March 6 [Special].—The pamphlet report of Youngstown Sheet and Tube company for 1939, issued today, shows net sales of $117,027,997, compared with $84,664,566 in 1938, with operations at 64.4 per cent of capacity, against 32 per cent in 1938.

"Prices realized on several important products were considerably lower than the reduced prices which became effective in June, 1938," Frank Purnell, president, said in the report.

Except for tubular products the company's fourth quarter 1939 operations were practically at capacity, Purnell said. New business since Jan. 1, 1940, has been at a rate of 40 per cent of capacity.

The company last year spent $19,686,264 for plant improvement and betterments, principally at the Indiana Harbor plant.

Investment Banking Group Plans Naming New Officer

The Investment Bankers Association of America disclosed yesterday that it is considering the appointment of a paid executive to supervise the issuance of information considered of public interest. The association denied New York reports that it planned to give a $100,000 a year position to John W. Hanes, who resigned recently as undersecretary of the treasury. The matter of a new paid executive is in the hands of a special committee, it was announced.

Delay Hearing on Petition for Week-End Trucking Ban

Springfield, Ill., March 6 [Special].—Hearing before the Illinois commerce commission of the petition of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen to bar heavy trucks from Illinois highways on week-ends and holidays today was postponed until March 19. The postponement was announced pending decision from the public works department as to whether it will take jurisdiction under the new state trucking laws.

Re-election of Heileman Brewing Directors Sought

Reëlection of all directors of G. Heilemann Brewing company, La Crosse, Wis., was proposed yesterday in a proxy solicitation sent stockholders. The statement gave the salary of Albert J. Bates, president, as $14,000 for 1939. The aggregate paid directors and officers as a group was $30,675. Bates held 500 shares of the company's stock on Feb. 15.

Cumulative semi-annual sinking fund of $100,000 to be applied to the purchase or redemption of First Mortgage 3¼% Bonds, Series A, and calculated to retire at least $9,000,000 principal amount thereof by maturity.

Redeemable at the option of the Company, as a whole or in part, at any time upon 45 days' notice at the following prices: to and including March 1, 1945, at 106%; thereafter, to and including March 1, 1950, at 105%; thereafter, to and including March 1, 1954, at 104%; thereafter, to and including March 1, 1958, at 103%; thereafter, to and including March 1, 1962, at 102%; thereafter, to and including March 1, 1966, at 101%; and thereafter at 100%; in each case together with accrued interest.

The issue and sale of these Bonds is subject to authorization by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In the opinion of counsel these Bonds under existing statutes will be upon issuance legal investments for Savings Banks in the States of New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Hampshire.

Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railway Company has summarized as follows its letter dated March 5, 1940, describing this issue. The entire letter with Exhibits should be read prior to any purchase of these Bonds.

THE COMPANY The Company, all of the capital stock of which is owned by United States Steel Corporation, is known as the "Chicago Outer Belt Line" and owns 152 miles of main line road circling the City of Chicago, from Waukegan, Ill., to Gary, Ind., and South Chicago, Ill., and Porter, Ind. It provides rail service for industries in the Chicago area. Between its termini it connects with every line of railroad entering Chicago thereby providing facilities for road to road transfer.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE The net proceeds to be received by the Company from the sale of the Bonds ($19,900,000 exclusive of accrued interest), together with funds from the Company's treasury to pay accrued interest, will be used to retire all the presently outstanding mortgage bonds of the Company and to satisfy the mortgages securing them, as follows: (a) for the payment at or before maturity of $10,300,000 principal amount of Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railway Company 5% First Mortgage Bonds, due May 1, 1941, and (b) for the redemption of $9,000,000 principal amount of 4½% First Mortgage Bonds issued by Chicago, Lake Shore and Eastern Railway Company, on or before June 1, 1940, at 110% of the principal amount thereof.

EARNINGS The following summary has been prepared by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co. from the Statement of Income of the Company and predecessors for the years 1930 to 1939, inclusive, (Exhibit B attached to the Offering Circular), and is subject to the notes forming an integral part of that statement:

Calendar Year	Total Operating Revenues	Net Railway Operating Revenues	Income Available for Fixed Charges	Fixed Charges	Net Income

SECURITY Upon release of the Company's two existing mortgages, to be obtained on delivery of these Bonds, the Indenture securing these Bonds will, in the opinion of the Company's counsel, be a first lien (subject to liens for taxes and assessments not yet due or being contested in good faith) upon (1) all physical property now owned by the Company (except 434 acres of non-carrier real property described in the Indenture), and (2) all equipment now owned by the Company and the Company's interest in equipment now leased to it under equipment trust arrangements. The mortgage lien, as well as the provisions (with certain exceptions stated in the Offering Circular) of the Indenture, may be modified by vote of holders of 66⅔% of outstanding Bonds affected.

Subject to certain terms and conditions, the Company has agreed to sell to Morgan Stanley & Co. Incorporated and the latter has agreed to purchase from the Company $17,700,000 principal amount of Bonds at 99⅛% plus accrued interest to the date of delivery. 33 investment banking houses have agreed severally with Morgan Stanley & Co. Incorporated to sub-underwrite $14,700,000 principal amount of Bonds.

The foregoing is merely a brief outline of certain information contained in the Offering Circular dated March 7, 1940, and is subject to the more detailed statements therein. The entire Offering Circular should be read prior to any purchase of these Bonds. Copies of such Offering Circular may be obtained from only such of the undersigned as are registered dealers in securities in this State.

Price 101½% and Accrued Interest

These Bonds are offered subject to prior sale, when, as and if issued and accepted by Morgan Stanley & Co. Incorporated and subject to the approval of Messrs. Davis Polk Wardwell Gardiner & Reed of (a) all legal proceedings in connection with their issue and sale and (b) the order or orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission authorizing their issue and sale; and subject further to the condition that such order or orders shall have taken effect on or prior to April 15, 1940. It is expected that delivery of Bonds in temporary or definitive form will be made at 23 Wall Street, New York, N. Y., against payment therefor in New York funds.

In order to facilitate the distribution of the Bonds by attempting to stabilize the price thereof, Morgan Stanley & Co. Incorporated reserves the right, for the accounts of itself and the Sub-underwriters, to purchase and sell Bonds, in the open market or otherwise, for either long or short account. This statement is not an assurance that the price of the Bonds will be stabilized, or that the stabilizing, if commenced, may not be discontinued at any time.

NEW YORK GETS HOUSING IDEAS FROM CHICAGO

Bill Adopts Pattern for Clearing Slum Areas.

the "Urban Redevelopment Corporations Law." It was prepared by the Merchants' Association of New York with the coöperation of various civic agencies, including the New York Building Congress. The chairman of the committee that developed the bill is Thomas S. Holden, president of the New York Building Congress, chief statistician for the F. W. Dodge corporation and an authority on building.

Chicago Aids New York.

Paul D. Angell, secretary of the Chicago Building Congress, said yesterday that the Chicago organization coöperated with the New York sponsors in the framing of their bill.

The New York measure sets forth that cities in the state contain substandard and insanitary areas which have resulted from "inadequate planning, excessive land coverage, lack of proper light, air and open space, defective design and arrangement of buildings, lack of proper sanitary facilities, and the existence of buildings which by reason of age, obsolescence, inadequate or outmoded design, or physical deterioration have become economic or social liabilities, or both."

It declares that such conditions impair the economic value of large areas, "infecting them with economic blight." Such areas "are characterized by depreciated values, impaired investments, and reduced capacity to pay taxes," the bill adds.

Add to Costs Elsewhere.

The New York measure further declares that the depreciated areas result in added costs to communities for the creation of new public facilities elsewhere. It lists among the many advantages to a city which would result from reclamation of depreciated districts the restoration of properties to a proper tax position and the safeguarding of private investments.

The New York bill provides that properties of redevelopment corporations for a period limited to 10 years be taxed on a basis of the maximum assessed valuation prior to their being taken over by the corporations. Dividends to be paid by the corporations would be limited. At the end of stated periods profits above 5 per cent would be divided with municipalities.

Planning commissions would pass on all proposed developments. Condemnation proceedings would be initiated by a petition to the municipality. The petition would be granted or rejected and, if granted, amounts to be paid by the redevelopment corporation to the municipality for land acquired thru condemnation are to be set forth.

MEN'S WEAR SALES UP.

Sales of men's wear chain stores during January showed an increase of about 10 per cent over January, 1939, according to reports from a sample group, the commerce department has announced.

GRAHAM-PAIGE.

I hear Graham-Paige is going to start production on automobiles again. Does it make tractors for Sears-Roebuck? Please give me your latest information about this company.—H. K.

Answer: The Graham-Paige Motors corporation has scheduled final production of its 1940 models to start this month. Work had been delayed until the company recently negotiated a loan of 2 million dollars and a revolving fund of $500,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and $300,000 thru the private sale of convertible notes.

Graham-Paige is one of the smaller manufacturers of automobiles. It has not operated at a profit in 9 of the last 10 years. In an effort to develop an additional source of revenue, the company started to manufacture in 1938 a line of light four cylinder tractors for use on small farms. The tractors are sold by Sears, Roebuck & Co.

Besides the RFC loan, the company has outstanding $839,500 in first mortgage 6 per cent bonds due 1943; 4,444 shares of 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock of $100 par value, and 2,969,425 shares of $1 par common stock.

No dividend has been paid on the common stock since 1926, and none on the preferred since 1932. Accumulated unpaid dividends on the preferred will total $56 a share on April 1.

	Sales.	Net loss.
1935	$14,622,000	$1,701,000
1936	15,635,000	470,000
1937	13,060,000	2,253,000
1938	4,782,000	1,920,000
1939	....	1,241,000

TEACHER'S PENSION.

I am receiving a teacher's pension. Is the income from the pension taxable?—H. M. B.

Answer: The commissioner of internal revenue has ruled that pensions of teachers, firemen, and policemen are taxable entirely under the revenue code because they are permitted to deduct from their salaries each year any sum paid into pension funds.

BANK LOSS.

In the case of a savings account in a bank closed in 1931 on which has been repaid 40 per cent [the final dividend having been paid and the receivership terminated] can the remaining unpaid 60 per cent be deducted as a loss in my 1939 income tax return?—G. L.

Answer: The entire loss may be deducted if the receivership was terminated in 1939.

2 MORE UTILITIES RECEIVE NOTICES ON INTEGRATION

Washington, D. C., March 6 (AP).—The Securities and Exchange commission today served notice on two more utility systems that they must meet the integration requirements of the public utility holding company act.

The systems notified were those of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation, headed by Wendell L. Willkie, with $1,213,000,000 in assets, and Standard Power and Light corporation, with $1,088,000,000 in assets.

Notice to these two left only two others of the nine originally listed for action under the "death sentence" clause of the act to be called before the commission for integration proceedings.

Commonwealth and Standard Power were given until April 16 to reply to the commission's allegation that they appeared to comprise more than one integrated utility system. Hearings were set tentatively for May 6.

Wilkie said Commonwealth and Southern would coöperate with the commission and already had made integration proposals.

MONEY, GOLD, AND SILVER

British currency rallied in terms of the dollar yesterday to check a recent severe decline. Altho sterling was again under pressure in early dealings in New York, it recovered near the close, recording a net gain of 1 cent at $3.91⅛ in the free market. On Tuesday sterling had dipped to $3.89, lowest level of the year.

The Canadian dollar touched a new low at 85.56 cents against the American dollar but strengthened to close unchanged at 85.62½ cents. French currency rallied 0.0075 cent to 2.22 cents.

COTTON

American cotton markets showed an easy undertone yesterday despite reports of a fair demand for textiles. Selling attributed to Bombay and liquidation by holders of March contracts had a depressing effect. Active futures closed .04 to .09 cent a pound lower. The aggregate trade was light.

Spot cotton closed .07 to .09 cent lower, with New York, 11.03 cents; New Orleans, 10.78 cents; Houston, 10.65, and Galveston at 10.60 cents a pound. Prices follow:

NEAR NORTH SIDE
Why spend time commuting when you can be having a grand and invigorating walk to and from your office? Down here you are near the lake and near so many things you wish to see and hear, and still have a full night's sleep. Top-o'-that, we think our studios and apartments are rather unusual; some with 2 story ceilings, others with huge living rooms; one like a little 2 story house—and if you like fireplaces and such things you'll be just our sort, too. A marvelous 4 room studio apt. with a living room 37 feet long with both north and south light, also a skylight, and the fireplace plumb in the center. A few furnished and some marvelous layouts for combination home and business.

Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch (arrow) making his first official utterance in his new see after arriving in Chicago's Union station yesterday afternoon. The vast central waiting room of station was packed by 12,000 welcomers. Included were clergy, members of religious orders and men, women, and children. In his first words the archbishop called upon American youth to save this nation from the horrors that have befallen foreign lands.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Archbishop Stritch was smiling as he walked before the thousands of cheering laymen in Union station. Following this reception he rode thru downtown streets to the Holy Name cathedral, where he will be formally enthroned today.
